

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TO THE PUBLIC.

TIME produces wonderful changes! The original edition of this work was prepared and presented to the public many years ago, and was received with great favor, attaining a larger sale, it is believed, than any work published within its time. From its intrinsic merit it became, as it were, a necessity, as an indispensable Household and Office Companion.

Lapse of time and eventful circumstances have wrought such material changes in our general government and in the statutes of the various States, in connection with all the business and social relations of life, that to meet the exigencies of the times, a new book is demanded to take the place of the old. Yet in this new production, not only all the features which have made the work so immensely popular have been preserved; but many important additions have been introduced. This new production has been perfected regardless of labor or outlay. So thorough and critical has been the revision and completion, that the most implicit reliance can be placed upon the work as authority on all the subjects of which it treats.

The utility of such a work no one will now question. The sale of hundreds of thousands of copies of the former editions, and the constant demand for it, have settled that point. The professional man, the farmer, the mechanic, the manufacturer, the soldier, the sailor, each requires a convenient, comprehensive and reliable work which will enable him to draw up any instrument in writing that may be required, in a legal form; which will furnish such legal information as is usually called for in the various avocations of life; a book that everybody can understand, and that will enable every man or woman to be HIS OR HER OWN LAWYER. To make such a work, and to make it well, was no small task; but by patient, continued, and intelligent labor, it has been achieved.

BANKRUPTS AND CREDITORS

will find in this work, in addition to information indispensable to every business man, the General Bankrupt Law, with explanations, and full instructions for taking the benefit of the act.

THE CITY RETAILER,

whose customers are at home, cannot safely give them credit without being familiar with the legal details concerning false pretences of buyers. He will also find the following topics indispensable in his business: Copartnership Agreements and Dissolutions, Assignments of Goods to Creditors and others, Policies of Insurance, Powers and Instructions for all the successive Legal steps in cases of Bankruptcy Promissory Notes, Due Bills, Receipts, Money Orders, Postal Regulations, Goods requiring a Stamp, etc., etc.

THE COUNTRY MERCHANT

By the aid of this book, any invalid soldier or widow, or children or other heirs of a deceased soldier, who can read and write, can make out their pension, back pay, or bounty papers, without being under the necessity of expending a dollar of their pittance on claim agents, who usually take the largest share for themselves. EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, GUARDIANS AND MINORS, are also fully provided for, the laws appertaining to their rights and duties being fully and accurately stated.

THE POLITICIAN AND STATESMAN

will find here the whole action of the Government in relation to Reconstruction and the legislation concerning the Freedmen, the Constitution of the United States with all its amendments, the seals of each State, with many other matters of equal importance.

In short, there is no class of the community, male or female, who have, or expect to have, any property, or who have any rights or privileges which require protection, who will not be greatly benefited and advantaged by the possession of this book. It will save them money, save them trouble, save them time, save them litigation and lawyers' fees, and give them information that nobody can afford to be without.

NEGOTIATIONS, FOR EVERY STATE IN THE UNION.

A G R E E M E N T S .

ALL Agreements are null and void at the end of one year from their dates, unless the contract, or some memorandum thereof, stating the consideration, be in writing and signed by the parties by whom the agreement is made.

All leases expire at the end of one year, unless there is a written agreement, stating the consideration, for a longer period.

All agreements expire at the end of one year unless they explicitly state that they are for a longer period.

Signatures signed with a lead pencil, or by making a mark, if the parties making them cannot write, if done in the presence of one or more witnesses, are good in law. But when a pen can be had, it should be used in preference, to obviate the possibility of legal quibbling.

Agreements which fail to show that they were made for a consideration—that is, without a fair or reasonable sum of money, or property to the value of money—are void in law.

Every agreement should distinctly specify the time within which or at the end of which, its conditions shall be complied with.

Every instrument is better in law with a seal than without one.

General Form of Agreement.

THIS AGREEMENT, made this first day of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty, between JOHN DEAN, of the city of Hartford in the county of Hartford, and state of Connecticut, of the first part, and JAMES GOOD of the village of Windsor, in said county and state, of the second part—

WITNESSETH, That the said JOHN DEAN, in consideration of the covenants on the part of the party of the second part, hereinafter contained, doth covenant and agree to and with the said JAMES GOOD, that [here insert the agreement on the part of John Dean.]

And the said JAMES GOOD, in consideration of the covenants on the part of the party of the first part, doth covenant and agree to and with the said JOHN DEAN, that [here insert the agreement on the part of James Good.]

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and seals, the day and year first above written.

Sealed and delivered,
JOHN STOUT,
ISAAC FOWLER.

JOHN DEAN. [L.S.]
JAMES GOOD. [L.S.]

[When required this clause may be inserted :]

And it is further agreed, between the parties hereto, that the party that shall fail to perform this agreement on his part, will pay to the other the full sum of fifty dollars, as liquidated, fixed, and settled damages.

FORMS OF CONVEYANCES.

A DEED is an instrument in writing between parties legally able to contract, and duly signed, sealed and delivered. Deeds may be written on parchment or paper. Every instrument with a seal attached to it is a deed; but the word deed is generally applied in court only to conveyances of land.

In the State of New-York one witness to the execution of a deed is sufficient. Should there be no witness, it is necessary to have the deed acknowledged by a Commissioner of Deeds. In Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Illinois and Indiana, two witnesses are required. In South Carolina, Delaware and Tennessee, two witnesses are only required when the deed is to be proven by witnesses. In the other States no witnesses are necessary.

To render a person legally able to convey property to another by deed the following are necessary, viz:—1st, he or she must be a citizen; 2dly, of a sane mind; 3dly, he or she must be right-fully possessed of the property; 4thly, of age.

A deed takes effect from its delivery to the party to whom it is made or to his authorized agent. A promise to deliver a deed, if accompanied by any act or writing to that import, constitutes a delivery. Or it may be formally delivered, but yet be retained by the maker until certain conditions are performed; and it takes full effect upon the performance of such conditions.

A seal of wax or wafer should always be attached to each signature to a deed. In some of the Southern and Eastern States a circle or scroll with the pen is allowed in the place of a seal; but it is not always safe, and has sometimes led to litigation that might have been avoided if a wafer or sealing wax had been used.

It is not safe to depart from the established forms of deeds. In law a deed consists of the following—1st, the names of the parties making it and to whom it is made; 2dly, the consideration (that is the amount of money) for which the land was sold; 3dly, the description of the property conveyed; 4thly, the quantity of interest in the property conveyed; and 5thly, the conditions, reservations, and covenants (if any) on which it is conveyed.

A married man cannot convey away any part of his real estate without the consent of his wife; and if it shall be subsequently proven that her consent was wrung or extorted from her through threats, or violence of any kind soever, her interest in the same can be recovered. Hence, it is necessary for her to acknowledge before a Commissioner of Deeds, who shall put the same in writing on the deed, and with his own name as a witness, that she signed the same of her own free will and without fear or coercion of any kind.

Deeds should be recorded without delay in the County Clerk's office of the county in which the property is situate. Neglect of this important step has often led to expensive law suits that might by proper attention to it in the beginning have been avoided.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

MARRIAGE, throughout the United States, is simply a civil contract, and may be entered into by any two persons, with the exceptions mentioned below :

WHAT CONSTITUTES A MARRIAGE.—The basis of a marriage is the mutual consent of the parties, followed by cohabitation. It is, therefore, complete on the declaration of the parties, in the presence of one or more witnesses, that they take each other to be man and wife, or words to that effect, and consequent cohabitation.

WHO CANNOT FORM A LEGAL MARRIAGE.—Idiots, lunatics, persons of unsound mind, persons related by consanguinity or affinity within the degrees prohibited by law, infants under the age of consent (which, in Ohio, is 18 for males and 14 for females; in Massachusetts, 17 for males and 14 for females; and in all the rest, 14 for males and 12 for females), and persons already married and not legally divorced, are incompetent to form a valid marriage.

WHO MAY LEGALLY MARRY.—Any two persons not prevented by any of the reasons above stated.

CEREMONY.—No particular ceremony is requisite, nor is it required that the marriage should be performed by any particular person. It is, however, most usually performed by a clergyman or magistrate, and in some of the States it must be performed by them. In Connecticut it is necessary to record a notice of the intent to marry with the Town Clerk or Register of the town where the parties reside, for, at least, three weeks; in Maine the same notice must be recorded five days; and, at the expiration of that time, if no objections are made, the Town Clerk or Register gives a certificate to that effect, and a clergyman or magistrate can then marry them. In Massachusetts, the parties must previously obtain from the same officer a certificate of their respective names, occupations, ages, births and places of residence—on receipt of which any clergyman or magistrate can marry them.

VALIDITY OF A MARRIAGE.—The validity of a marriage is determined by the lex loci contractus, or the law of the place where it is contracted. If valid there, it is valid everywhere—the only exceptions being marriages forbidden by the public law of a country from motives of policy, such as polygamy, incest, etc.

Divorce.

A divorce is the dissolution of the bond of matrimony, or the separation of husband and wife, by the judgment of a Court having jurisdiction thereof, or by an act of the Legislature. In Alabama, a decree of divorce must be sanctioned by two-thirds of the Legislature; and in Maryland all divorces are granted by the Legislature, on the report of a judge of Court. In all the others they are made by authorized Courts.

GROUND OF DIVORCE IN THE DIFFERENT STATES.—Divorces are of two kinds—a vinculo matrimonii (being a dissolution of marriage tie,) and a mensa et thoro (from bed and board).

A divorce is granted in the following States, on the following grounds :

Custody of Children.

The custody of the children of a marriage, during the pending of a proceeding for divorce, and subsequently, will be granted by the tribunal before which the proceeding is pending, to the party, in its judgment, most fitted to bring them up.

WHEN A DIVORCE WILL BE DENIED.—The application for a divorce for adultery will be denied in the following cases :

1. Where the offence was committed with the privity or connivance of the complainant.
2. Where the offence has been forgiven by the complainant, either by voluntary cohabitation after knowledge of the fact or by express condonation or forgiveness.
3. Where the complainant has been guilty of a similar offence.
4. Where suit is not instituted within the time prescribed by the statute of limitations.

Alimony.

Alimony is an allowance, either during the pendency of a suit for divorce, permanent or temporary, granted to the wife, on petition or motion, from the estate of the husband. The granting of alimony rests entirely in the discretion of the proper tribunal, and when a wife desires to commence a suit for divorce against her husband, the latter can be compelled to furnish her with sufficient means to prosecute such complaint. On the event of the custody of children being awarded her, the Court can order an allowance for their support from the means of the husband.

Dower.

Dower is the right possessed by every married woman, with the exceptions mentioned below, to the use, at his death, of one-third of all the real estate of her husband during her life. In California and Indiana the right to dower has been abolished, but in all the other States it is still in force, and in Connecticut her dower right is to the use of one-third of all which he dies seized. Where she is entitled to dower, she must join in every conveyance, mortgage, &c., of real estate by her husband, as otherwise her right of dower does not pass, and her right of dower cannot be assigned or conveyed otherwise than by herself personally or by agent or attorney by instrument under her hand and seal. A wife under twenty-one years of age is incapable of binding herself by any instrument, debarring herself from her right to dower, and has the option, on arriving at majority, of ratifying or annulling the instrument.

The wife's dower right operates against the estate only after all liens and incumbrances against the same have been satisfied and discharged.

In the event of a wife's being divorced for adultery she forfeits all right to dower as well as any part, share or interest in his personal property.

The right to dower does not embrace crops growing at husband's decease on such real estate, they going to the heirs.

Rights of Widows.

At the death of the husband without children the widow takes, as a general rule, in addition to her dower right, one half of the personal property absolutely. In Missouri the widow takes absolutely all the beds, bedding, wearing apparel, household furniture, provisions, spinning wheels, cards, and other implements of industry necessary for the family; also kitchen furniture to the value of twenty-five dollars and any other personal property desired, not exceeding two hundred dollars in value, and takes all property brought by her to her husband at marriage, and one half of all property real and personal after paying debts. In Pennsylvania she takes, besides her dower, all personal property. In Tennessee she takes all real estate in fee simple after paying the debts. In New Jersey she takes all personal property owned by her at marriage or acquired by her subsequently. In Ohio she takes all articles of personal furniture owned by her at marriage, or acquired subsequently, and they cannot be sold to pay the debts of the estate. In California she takes the whole of the common property of both husband and wife, real and personal. In Indiana, where the estate of the deceased is not more than three hundred dollars, she takes it all, free from creditors, in fee, unless she marry again, in which case she has only a life estate, the remainder descending to the husband's issue; if the estate is not more than ten thousand dollars she takes one-third; if more than ten and less than twenty thousand, one quarter; if more than twenty, one-fifth.

At the death of her husband, leaving children, the general rule is that the widow takes, in addition to her dower right, one-third of the personal property absolutely. In Alabama, however, if there is but one child she takes one half; if more than one and under five, a child's share; and if five or more, one-fifth. In Missouri she takes a child's share of the personal property absolutely, or, if preferred, one-third of it, after payment of debts. In Indiana she takes one half, if there is but one child, and one-third if two or more. In California she takes one-half of the common property of both husband and wife, real and personal. In Louisiana she is also entitled, in the absence of a will, to the rents, issues and profits of the children's portions till they attain their majority, or she marries again.

In Missouri the widow is entitled to dower in all property leased for twenty years or more.

In the event of the husband's leaving a will containing devises or bequests to the wife, in lieu of dower, she has her option at his death, whether to claim her dower or to take such devises or bequests in its stead.

In Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Jersey,

New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Tennessee and Wisconsin express provision is made that alienage shall not bar the right of the widow to dower in land to which the alien might have died entitled.

THE original common law of the country prohibited woman, after marriage, legally participating in any mercantile contracts or business wholly on her own account. The husband, by virtue of the marriage obligations, became possessed of the wife's property during her life, which was as absolutely under his control as if she had made a transfer of it to him. This life-possession or right in her property is called, in law, his tenancy by the courtesy.

For the more just and equitable adjustment of this most important subject, laws have been passed in nearly all the States in the Union, giving to a married woman the exclusive use and enjoyment of all property owned by her at marriage, and all which she acquired subsequently.

The following is a summary of the statutory laws, or the rights of married women, brought down to the latest period :

ALABAMA.—Married women cannot act as dealers in the purchase and sale of goods. Her real and personal property in this State, acquired before marriage, and all property to which she may be afterwards entitled by gift, grant, inheritance, or devise, shall not be liable for any debts, obligations and engagements of her husband, and may be devised or bequeathed by her as if she were a feme sole. A conveyance of the wife's separate estate may be made by the husband and wife jointly, signed in the presence of two witnesses, or acknowledged before any officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds. She cannot mortgage her statutory separate estate.

ARKANSAS.—A married woman cannot make a contract that can be enforced in law. Family necessities, supplied on the credit of her separate estate, can be made a charge upon such estate in chancery. By filing a schedule in the office of the Circuit Court of the County where they reside, she can secure her own estate to her own use, apart from the control and liabilities of her husband. Her property is not liable for debts of husband contracted before marriage—unless she intrusts it to the management or control of her husband otherwise than as her agent.

CALIFORNIA.—All the property of the wife, owned by her before marriage, or that acquired afterwards by gift, devise, or bequest, or descent with the rents, issues, and profits thereof, is her separate property. The wife may, without the consent of her husband, convey her separate property. All property owned by the husband before marriage, and that acquired by him afterwards in the ways mentioned above, is his separate property. All other property acquired after marriage by either or both is community property. The wife may make contracts concerning her separate property, but she cannot contract to pay money. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of her husband. Her earnings, and those of her minor children living with her, while she lives separate from her husband, are her separate property. The husband has the management and control of the community property, with the like absolute power of disposition (other than testamentary) as he has of his separate estate. Neither dower nor tenancy by the courtesy are allowed. A conveyance by a married woman has no validity unless acknowledged by her after first being made acquainted by the officer with the contents of the instrument on an examination without the hearing of her husband, and unless she thereupon acknowledges that she does not wish to retract the same. The separate property of the husband or wife is not liable for the debts of the other contracted before marriage, but the separate property of the wife is liable for her debts contracted before marriage. She can sue alone when the action concerns her separate property, and when living separate from her husband she may sue or be sued alone. She can make a will of her separate property without the consent of her husband.

COLORADO.—Any married woman may bargain, sell, or convey her personal property, and enter into any contract in reference to the same as if she were sole, and may convey her real estate by uniting with her husband in the deed. She may sue and be sued in all matters having relation to her property, person, or reputation, in the same manner as if she were sole. She may make a will, but she cannot bequeath away from her husband more than one-half of her property without his consent in writing. If any married man deprives his wife of over one-half his property by will, she may, after his death, accept the conditions of such will or one-half of his whole estate. The husband is liable for the debts of the wife contracted before marriage, to the extent of the real and personal property he may receive with or through her, or derive from the sale or rent of her lands. The separate property of a married woman is not liable for the debts of her husband; this includes also presents or gifts from her husband, such as jewelry, table-ware, watches, money, &c.

CONNECTICUT.—A married woman may make a will, may join her husband in conveying real estate, may insure the life of any person, may transact business in her own name, and may make bills and notes, joint or several. The separate property of a married woman is not liable for the debts of her husband, and the husband's interest in her separate real estate cannot be taken during her life or the life of a child by their marriage. An express agreement to charge her separate estate may be enforced and her estate alone is subject to execution for her torts or separate contracts.

DELAWARE.—Females who marry after April 9, 1878, may hold real and personal property, which shall not be subject to her husband's debts or control. She may maintain action in her own name for personal labor; deposit money in her own name; defend and prosecute suits for the protection of her property; make contracts with respect to her own property, as if unmarried.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—Any married woman may contract and sue and be sued in her own name, in all matters relating to her sole and separate property, in the same manner as if she were unmarried; but neither her husband nor his property shall be bound by any such contract nor be liable for any recovery against her in any suit. Execution of judgment shall be enforced against her separate estate.

FLORIDA.—Married women can make written contract to charge their own estate only. For the protection of the wife's property from the marital rights of the husband, and the claims of his creditors, all the property which shall belong to the wife at the time of marriage, or which she may acquire by gift, &c., shall be inventoried and recorded in the Circuit Court Clerk's office of the County in which such property is situated, within six months after marriage, or after the property shall be acquired by her. They have no separate legal existence in matters of business.

GEORGIA.—All property of the wife in possession at the time of marriage or afterwards acquired by her is her separate property, and not liable for the payment of any debts, defaults, or contracts of the husband. The wife may act as attorney and agent for the husband.

ILLINOIS.—By a recent decision of the Supreme Court of Illinois, a married woman is not liable in an action at law on contracts, and can only be recovered against her in chancery, although she may sue and recover at common law. She cannot enter into copartnership business without the assent of her husband. Neither is liable for the debts of the other, either before or after marriage.

INDIANA.—A married woman cannot make a valid executory contract, and is not personally liable for any debt she may contract during coverture. Her real estate is not liable for the debts of her husband. She may devise by will her real and personal property, but cannot bind her separate estate by signing a promissory note as surety for her husband. The only way she or her property ordinarily can be made liable is by mortgage.

IOWA.—The real and personal property of a married woman acquired by descent, purchase, or gift, is perfect in her own right. The husband or wife is liable for the debts or liabilities of the other incurred before marriage. They are not liable for the separate debts of the other, nor are the wages, earnings, or property of either, nor is the rent or income of such property liable for the separate debts of the other. Contracts may be made by a wife and liabilities incurred, and the same enforced by or against her, to the same extent and in the same manner as it she were unmarried.

KANSAS.—A married woman, while the marriage relation subsists, may bargain, sell, and convey her real and personal property, and enter into any contract with reference to the same in the same manner, to the same extent, and with like effect as a married man may in relation to his real and personal property; she may alone carry on any trade or business, and perform any labor or services on her sole and separate account, and the earnings of any married woman, from her trade, business, or labor, or services, shall be her sole and separate property, and may be used and invested by her in her own name.

KENTUCKY.—Contracts of married women are null, except where exceptions are made by statute. By statute the Chancery Court and the equity side of the various Circuit Courts are authorized, upon application made by both husband and wife, and due application to all creditors, to grant such married women the authority to sue and be sued and in all matters of business to act as an unmarried woman. The wife is entitled to a dower of one-third of the real estate upon the death of her husband, during her life-time.

LOUISIANA.—All married women, over twenty-one years of age, may, by and with the authorization of their husbands, borrow money or contract debts for their separate benefit and advantage, and to secure the same grant mortgages or other securities affecting their separate estate, paraphernal, or dotal: Provided, it is done under due forms of law. These forms consist of her submitting, separate and apart from her husband, to an examination by the judge of her district or parish touching the object for which the money is borrowed or debt contracted. If the judge is satisfied the money to be borrowed or debt contracted is solely for her separate advantage or for the benefit of her separate and dotal property, he shall furnish her a due certificate, which shall be sufficient authority to a notary for drawing up an act of mortgage or other act necessary. A married woman cannot sue without the authorization of her husband, though she be a public merchant trading separate from him, unless she has obtained a separation from bed and board by virtue of a judgment duly executed, or has been regularly divorced. The wife, even separate in estate, cannot alienate, grant, or acquire, either by gratuitous or incumbered title, unless her husband concurs in the act or yields his consent in writing, or by authorization of the judge.

MAINE.—Married women may own, buy, and sell property of all kinds in their own right and name, may transact business, and sue and be sued as if single. A married woman's property is not liable for the debts of her husband, nor is he liable for her debts contracted before marriage. No action will lie between man and wife except for divorce.

MARYLAND.—Contracts of married women are generally invalid at law, unless she has taken out license in her own name as a trader. A married woman is allowed to trade as a  feme sole. She may bind her separate property; the remedy is in equity. The remedy against her in the law courts, where she acts as a trader, is by attachment, or the creditor may pursue his remedy in equity at his option.

MASSACHUSETTS.—A married woman may bargain, sell, and convey her separate real and personal property, enter into any contracts with reference to the same, carry on any trade or business, and perform any labor or services on her sole and separate account, and sue and be sued in all matters having reference to her separate property, business, trade, services, labor, and earnings, in the same manner as if she were sole. But no conveyance by her of shares in a corporation, or of any real property, except a lease for a term not exceeding one year, and a release of dower executed subsequently to a conveyance of the estate of her husband, shall be valid without the consent of her husband in writing, or his joining with her in the conveyance, or the consent of one of the judges of the Supreme Judicial Court, Superior Court, or Probate Court, granted on her petition in any county, on account of the sickness, insanity, or absence from the State of her husband, or other good cause; and the husband, if within the State, shall have such notice of the petition as the judge may order. The contracts made by a married woman in respect to her separate property, trade, business, labor, or services, shall not be binding on her husband, nor render him or his property liable therefor; but she and her separate property shall be liable for such contracts in the same manner as if she were sole. But any married woman doing or proposing to do business on her separate account shall file in the clerk's office of the city or town where she does or proposes to do such business a certificate setting forth her husband's name, the nature of her business and place where it is to be done, and a new certificate whenever she changes her business or place of business. If she does not file such certificate she cannot claim any of the property employed in such business against her husband's creditors, who can, if they choose, attach it or take it on execution against him. If she neglects to file such certificate, her husband may, and if no such certificate be filed by either, the husband is liable on all contracts lawfully made in the prosecution of such business in the same manner as if they were made by himself.

MICHIGAN.—Married women may make contracts in respect to their own property, and may have, hold, and enjoy the same, and have the same rights and remedies, as though they were unmarried. She may carry on business in her own name. The husband is not liable for the contracts of the wife in relation to her sole property. Her signature or indorsement of a note given to secure the debt of her husband or other person is void. She may, however, bind her real or personal property, to secure such indebtedness, by mortgage. A mortgage upon a home stead is void unless signed by the wife.

MINNESOTA.—All the property, real and personal, of a married woman, owned at the time of her marriage, or afterwards acquired, is her own, and free from the control of her husband. She is responsible for her contracts, and may sue and be sued in her own name without joining her husband. Contracts between husband and wife, or powers of attorney one to the other, relating to real estate are void. She cannot sell her real estate, or make any conveyance of land other than a mortgage, without her husband joins in the conveyance.

MISSISSIPPI.—A married woman cannot be sued at law on her contracts. The Supreme Court has frequently decided that a married woman's note is void. She cannot, under the present law, incur her separate property for her husband's debts even by joint deed of trust or mortgage, beyond the amount of her income.

MISSOURI.—If a married woman carries on trade without the intervention of trustees, and her husband lives with her and receives the profits, or they are applied to the maintenance of the family, the law presumes she was his agent in this trade, and had his authority to make the necessary purchases. He is, therefore, liable. But when the property is legally vested in a trustee, to enable the wife to carry on trade for her sole and separate use, it may be presumed that the husband is absolved from all responsibility for her debts contracted in it, the wife being the agent, not of her husband, but of the trustee. The Supreme Court of Missouri has recently decided, that where a married woman goes into business, without her husband's consent, he is not responsible for her debts. The husband's property is liable for debts of wife contracted before marriage.

MONTANA.—Married women can conduct business separate and apart from their husbands, with their separate property. Their separate property is exempt from all debts and liabilities of their husbands, unless for necessary expenses of her family and children.

NEBRASKA.—The property, real and personal, which any woman in this State may own at the time of her marriage, and any real or personal property which shall come to her by descent, devise, bequest, or gift of any person except her husband (excepting marriage settlements), shall remain her sole and separate property, notwithstanding her marriage, and not be subject to the disposal of her husband or liable for his debts. She may bargain and sell and enter into contracts with reference to any of her separate property. In the same manner, to the same extent, and with like effect as a married man may in relation to his real and personal property. She may sue and be sued the same as if unmarried, and carry on any trade, or business, or perform labor on her sole and separate account, and her earnings are not subject to the husband's debts or control.

NEVADA.—Under the statutes of 1867, married women can become sole traders, and conduct business separate and apart from their husbands. She is allowed all the privileges, and is liable to all legal process, now or hereafter provided by law against debtors and creditors, and may sue and be sued alone without being joined with her husband.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Married women hold all property owned by them before marriage, or acquired afterwards in any way except through property of the husband, to their sole and separate use, as if unmarried. All their contracts in relation to such property are valid and binding; their other contracts void. Upon the death of wife, the husband is entitled to the same share of her estate as she would be of his estate in case of his death. They are liable for debts contracted while single, and their property may be attached to pay them. They are also liable for their torts before marriage in relation to their separate property. The husband is not liable for the wife's anti-nuptial debts.

NEW JERSEY.—Contracts of married women are void, except as provided by statutes of 1857 and 1862. By the act of 1857, explained in the act of 1862, married women can bind themselves by covenants in deeds for their own property. By act of 1862 suits may be instituted against married women for claims or demands, "in all cases where a married woman transacts any business or purchases any property." This act has been construed as operating only against women trading generally: not operating in single, isolated cases, but regularly carrying on business.

NEW YORK.—A married woman is bound by all her contracts made in her separate business or relating to her separate estate, and she may sue and be sued in all matters having relation to her sole and separate property, business or trade, in the same manner as if she were unmarried. Where she becomes indorser for another, a simple declaration in the indorsement of intent to charge her separate estate is sufficient. The law protects all the property she owned at the time of her marriage, and its rents, issues, and profits, and all her earnings and acquisitions as her sole and separate property, and it is not subject to the interference or control of her husband, or liable for his debts. Her contracts in respect to her property are not binding upon her husband, nor is his property in any way liable therefor. A husband is liable for the debts of his wife contracted before marriage, to the extent only of the separate property acquired of her. When she is a party to an action, her husband must be joined with her, except when either the action concerns her separate property, or the action is between herself and her husband. She has the right of dower. Females at eighteen can devise real property.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Married women cannot make a valid executory contract, and are not personally liable for any debt contracted during coverture. Her real estate is not liable to the debts of her husband. She is entitled to dower in all of her husband's real estate after his death, and to a year's support out of his personal property after his death.

OHIO.—A married woman can only sell real estate in her own name under seal, and by her husband's joining in the conveyance. Her note jointly with her husband is prima facie that she changes her property for the debt in equity. When engaged in any mercantile or other business, she may sue and be sued alone, and for separate property is liable for any judgment rendered against her in such suit. The husband cannot mortgage household goods except the wife joins.

OREGON.—The constitution of the State provides that the property and pecuniary rights of every married woman, at the time of marriage, or afterwards acquired by gift, devise, or inheritance, shall not be subject to the debts or contracts of the husband; and laws shall be passed providing for the registration of the wife's separate property. Laws have been passed providing for the registration of personal property. The courts hold that registration of real property is not necessary. No other provisions are made relative to a married woman's separrate property. She can only convey her real estate or right of dower by joining with her husband in a conveyance, and acknowledging it apart from her husband; but otherwise, may contract in relation to her separate property.

PENNSYLVANIA.—A married woman can make no binding contract as a trader unless she has authority from the Court of Common Pleas to act as a "feme sole trader" which is granted in certain cases. Her separate property is liable for necessities. When property is claimed by a married woman as against the creditors of her husband, she must show clearly either that she owned it at the time of her marriage, or acquired it afterwards by gift, bequest, or purchase.

RHODE ISLAND.—Where the wife buys goods on her own account, the husband must be sued for the debt. They can dispose of their real estate or personal property by will, but the husband's right of courtesy and administration without account is saved. The real and personal estate, which have been the property of any married woman before marriage, or which may become her property after marriage, or which may be acquired by her own industry, are so far secured to her sole and separate use, that the same, and the rents, profits, and income thereof, are not liable to be attached or taken for the debts of the husband, either before or after his death; and upon the death of the husband in the lifetime of the wife, it remains her sole and separate property. When a married woman does business in her own name for her own benefit, no suit can be brought against her or her husband. If she has acted as his agent, the husband can be sued.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—The real and personal property of a married woman, whether held by her at the time of her marriage, or accrued to her thereafter, either by gift, grant, inheritance, devise, purchase, or otherwise, is not subject to levy and sale for her husband's debts; and a married woman can bequeath, devise, or convey her separate property in the same manner and to the same extent as if she were unmarried. She can also purchase any species of property in her own name and take conveyance therefor, and contract and be contracted with, in the same manner as if she were unmarried.

TENNESSEE.—A married woman can make no valid contract herself by virtue of her own contracting power. She may, of course, act as her husband's agent, and bind him. If she has a separate estate she may, by specially charging this, render it liable to be subjected to the satisfaction of the charge in equity; and if property be settled on her with powers over it conferred by the deed of settlement, she may carry out these powers, however large they may be, but here the validity of her action flows from the deed.

TEXAS.—Separate property of married women is not holden for debts of husband, except for necessities of family under certain circumstances; all property owned or claimed by her before marriage, and that afterwards acquired by her by gift, devise, or descent, rests absolutely in her, but under the control of her husband. She cannot convey her property without consent of her husband, nor can he convey her real estate without her joining in the conveyance.

UTAH.—Married women have no power to make a business contract.

VERMONT.—When a married woman is doing business in her own name, and obtains credit on her own account, her husband may be sued for a recovery of the debt. A married woman is not bound by her covenant in a deed. The only valid contract she can make is for erecting, repairing, or altering buildings upon her real estate which can be enforced by perfecting a lien upon the property in the nature of a mortgage. The general tone of the law in this State respecting married women is that they have no legal existence.

VIRGINIA.—There is very little statute law on this subject, the general principle holding good (in the main) that a married woman cannot make a contract; but uniting with her husband, she can convey her title in real estate. The general common law doctrines, common to most of the States, are recognized as law here. The acts of a wife sometimes become binding on the husband, on the principle that she is his agent for the particular transaction, or where the husband has ratified similar acts or contracts.

WEST VIRGINIA.—A married woman can only make contracts in business when living separate and apart from her husband. She may hold in her own right any property that can be held by a man, who, by marrying her, becomes liable for his wife's debts contracted after marriage.

WISCONSIN.—A married woman may engage in trade with her husband's consent, and pledge her separate property for debts thus incurred. Is entitled to hold property which she receives from sources other than her husband. Is liable upon all contracts made upon the faith of her property or for its benefit, whether such liability arises by written or parol contract. She may sell and dispose of her property the same as if a single woman. The husband is not liable for payment of the wife's anti-nuptial debts. She may be sued for such debts, and all judgments against her may be enforced by execution. Her individual earnings shall not be subject to the husband's control, nor liable for his debts.

WILLS.

ANY person of sound mind and proper age (except married women) are legally entitled to dispose of their property by will. The party must be of full age to devise real estate. In many States, however, minors may bequeath personal property. The limitation generally for such purpose is for males, eighteen years, and for females, sixteen years.

To make a perfect and unobjectionable will, is somewhat difficult, but of the highest importance. Eminent lawyers, not familiar with this branch of the law, have made mistakes, and thereby caused long and expensive litigations. A sound judgment should be exercised in the use of language to make the will free from ambiguity and uncertainty of meaning. The intention of the testator (the person making the will) should be fully and plainly stated, and should say, in the beginning of the instrument, "This is my last will," &c. If the testator intends to give the property for a certain number of years, or for life, or for ever, he should say so; he ought also to describe the property with reasonable certainty, as, for instance, "My house and lot known as No. — Bond street, city and county of New York," or "My six houses and lots known as Nos. 81, 83, 85, 87, 89, and 91 Pear street," or "My farm of one hundred and sixty acres in Claverack, Columbia County, State of New York," or "My gold watch," or "My horse," &c., &c.

All wills must be made in writing, with the testator's full name attached, unless the person making the same be prevented by the extremity of his last sickness, when his name must be signed in his presence, and by his express direction.

In Alabama, California, Colorado, Dakota, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Montana, a will must be attested by two subscribing witnesses.

In Arkansas, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Mexico, South Carolina, and Vermont, by three subscribing witnesses.

In Pennsylvania no subscribing witnesses are required, provided the signature to the will can be proved by the oaths of two respectable witnesses.

A will may be revoked at any time by the testator, and another made, either by himself or in his presence, and by his direction. If the testator has made other wills, it is proper to say, "Hereby revoking all former wills," &c.

Witnesses should be selected with care, for if any question should arise in reference to the testator's sanity, or any other difficulty, their evidence would be the first taken.

No person who is a legatee should be called upon to witness a will, or an executor, or any person interested in the will.

Witnesses should always write their respective places of residence after their name. Every person who shall sign the testator's name to a will by his direction, must write his own name as a witness to the will in the presence of two other witnesses.

Nuncupative (unwritten) wills are always unsafe; and, although they are legal under any circumstances, they rarely fail to leave room for troublesome and expensive litigation.

Marriage and the birth of a child after the execution of a will imply a revocation of such will, of real and personal property, provided such wife and child were unprovided for; but in case the wife and child are provided for, by settlement or otherwise, the will is good.

The will of a single woman is annulled in law by her marriage. But a woman may make a deed of settlement of her estate before marriage which shall empower her to retain her right to make a will after marriage.

A sale of, or an agreement to sell, property devised in a will, is a legal revocation of such will.

Children born after the execution of a will, and not provided for by settlement, are entitled, at the death of the testator, to such share of the property as they would have had if no will had been made.

Any provision made in a will for the wife of the testator will not exclude her legal claim to dower also, unless such provision be expressly stated to be in lieu of dower.

A devise to a subscribing witness is void; but such devise does not affect the validity of the will itself.

The term heirs, or other words of inheritance, may be used in a will, but they are not called for by law.

Property may not be devised to a corporation, unless such corporation is authorized by its charter to receive bequests by will.

Bequests of property to aliens not authorized by law to hold property are void.

Incumbrances upon a testator's real or personal estate does not affect the validity of his will ; but the devises and legacies therein are subject to such incumbrance.

All debts and other incumbrances must be settled previous to the distribution of the gifts to the devisees (the parties to whom the bequests are made).

The authenticity of a will must be proved before the Surrogate of the county in which it is made ; should the decision of the Surrogate be unsatisfactory to the parties interested, an appeal may be made by all or either of them to the circuit judge of the Circuit Court ; should the decision of the latter be equally unsatisfactory, an appeal may be made to the Court of Chancery ; in case this should also be unsatisfactory, a further appeal may be made to the Supreme Court, whose decision is final ; a record of which decision must then be made by the Surrogate. The cost and expenses of such appeal must be paid by the party or parties appealing, in case of his or their failure to impeach the validity of the will ; but if he or they succeed in impeaching the will, the costs must be paid by the contesting party, either personally or out of the effects of the deceased.

No person can be an executor of a will who, at the time the will is proved, is either an alien, under twenty-one years of age, a drunkard, a convict, or deficient in understanding.

An executor of a will may renounce such appointment by an instrument signed before two witnesses, which instrument must be recorded by the Surrogate before whom the will was proved. Should all the executors refuse to serve, then power shall be granted to the residuary legatees, or some one of them, to act in their place ; if the legatees will not serve, then to the widow and next of kin, if there be any ; if none, then to any creditor of the testator ; if none, then to the public administrator.

In case a man should die intestate (without leaving a will) power to administer his property shall be granted in the following order: 1st, to the widow; should there be none, then, 2d, to the sons; should there be none, then, 3d, to the father; 4th, to the brothers; 5th, to the sisters; 6th, to the grandchildren; 7th, to any other of the next of kin. If any of the persons so entitled are minors, then to their guardians; if the relatives or guardians will not accept, then to the creditors of the deceased, the creditor first applying, if otherwise competent, to have the preference.

In case a married woman should die intestate, her husband is entitled to administer her property in preference to all other persons, provided he be of sound mind. He is liable for her debts only to the extent of the assets received by him.

In New York and some other States, if a married woman who holds real estate in her own name, dies without making a will, her real estate, if she leaves children, goes to them, but the husband has a life interest in the use of it; but if she leaves no children, then the real estate goes to her heirs at law, of whom the husband is not one.

A Codicil

Is an addition or supplement to a will, not revoking the existing will, but varying it in some way, or making changes in it. The original will must stand and will be recognized as the first disposition of the testator's wishes; but there may be several codicils, and all valid. The changes in a will by the codicil must be distinctly and clearly stated, and must be executed with the same formality, that is, in the presence of the same number of witnesses.

General Form, disposing of both Real and Personal Estate.

IN the name of God, Amen. I, A. B., of, &c., being in good bodily health, and of sound and disposing mind and memory, calling to mind the frailty and uncertainty of human life, and being desirous of settling my worldly affairs, and directing how the estates with which it has pleased God to bless me, shall be disposed of after my decease, while I have strength and capacity so to do, do make and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking, and making null and void, all other last wills and testaments by me heretofore made. And, first, I commend my immortal being to Him who gave it, and my body to the earth, to be buried with little expense or ostentation, by my executors hereinafter named.

And as to my worldly estate, and all the property, real, personal, or mixed, of which I shall die seized and possessed, or to which I shall be entitled at the time of my decease, I devise, bequeath, and dispose thereof in the manner following, to wit:

MORTGAGES.

A MORTGAGER is one who makes a mortgage; a MORTGAGEE is one to whom a mortgage is made.

A mortgage is the pledging of an estate for the security of a debt, and becomes void when the debt is paid. Any person owning an interest in, or the whole of an estate, is at liberty to mortgage his or her claim upon or interest in it, provided he or she is not under age. A married woman cannot make a mortgage without the consent of her husband. It frequently happens that embarrassed persons give as many as five mortgages, to as many different persons, on their estates. A first mortgage, however, takes precedence of all subsequent mortgages or conveyances, provided it is recorded. All mortgages must be recorded in the clerk's office of the county in which the property lies.

All mortgages on personal property, to be valid, must be recorded in the town clerk's office in which the property lies at the time of the execution of the instrument; they must also be recorded in the town clerk's office of every town to which the property may be removed. When the property is in a city where the county clerk's office is kept, then the mortgage must be recorded in that office. Such mortgages will cease to be valid after the expiration of one year from the recording thereof, unless a true copy of such mortgage, together with a statement of the real interest of the mortgagee in the property, shall, within thirty days of the expiration of the year, be again filed in the office of the town or county clerk in which the mortgage shall then reside.

When the mortgage is paid, a certificate to that effect from the mortgagee or his legal representatives, duly acknowledged by a commissioner of deeds, must be presented to the clerk of the town or county office in which the mortgage is recorded, who will file it, and the mortgage is at an end.

A mortgage, to secure the purchase-money, made at the time of the purchase, takes precedence of any previous judgment against the mortgager.

A mortgage sometimes conveys to the mortgagee the power to sell, in such cases, the mortgagee may sell the property without the aid of any court. Such sale, however, will not do away with a judgment or mortgage obtained prior to the sale. All such sales must be made at public auction.

NATURALIZATION.

ted States he shall declare his intention to that effect (see Declaration of Intention); 2d, Provided he shall have resided one year within the State where the court is held to which he makes his application; 3d, Provided he shall have sustained a good moral character up to the time of his admission; 4th, Provided he shall have satisfied the Court, and declare on oath (see Oath of Alien) that during the three years prior to his application, it was his real intention to become a citizen, and to uphold the laws and Constitution of the United States. The children of duly naturalized persons, if minors at the time and residing in the United States, shall be deemed citizens, without taking out papers to that effect.

Any foreigner who has resided in the United States prior to 1812, and has since continued to reside therein, may dispense with the declaration of intention; as may also any applicant who has resided within the boundaries of the United States three years previous to his majority. Two years after declaring his intention, the applicant, if he shall have complied with the conditions described in the first paragraph of this article, is entitled to his certificate of citizenship. The application may be made to any Circuit or District Court of the United States.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

A CONTRACT from a landlord, empowering a tenant to take possession, for a stated period, of certain property, at a stipulated rental, is called a lease or demise. It may be for a month, a quarter, one year, a term of years, for life, or at the will of either of the parties. Leases for less than a year require no written agreement; if for a longer period, they must be in writing; if for life, they must be written, signed, sealed, and witnessed, like any other important instrument.

No particular form is needed; any instrument that conveys the property in a plain, common-sense manner, to the tenant, at a stipulated rent, payable monthly, quarterly, or semi-annually, as the parties may agree, is all that is required.

Where no agreement can be shown in writing for more than a year, the tenant only holds the property from year to year at the discretion of the landlord.

When a person enters into possession of a property without an agreement in regard to time, it is generally held that he is a tenant from year to year.

A tenant is responsible for taxes only when it is so stated in the lease. Verbal promises are of no effect. A lease must speak for itself.

A lease must be delivered to the parties for whom it is intended. If it should fall into the hands of a party accidentally, without the other intending it, it would be invalid. A lease, if for a valuable property, should be acknowledged before a Commissioner of Deeds, which does away with the difficulty frequently attending witnesses, who very often cannot be found when wanted: whereas an authenticated document can be read in evidence without further proof.

A lease of three years or more should be recorded in the county where the property lies, to protect purchasers of real estate, against secret or fraudulent conveyances.

Unless there is a provision in the lease forbidding it, the tenant has a right to underlet as much of the property as he pleases, so long as his lease runs. A mere tenant at will, however, cannot underlet.

A married woman cannot make a lease even of her own property; for her husband has sole control over her estate during his life, and he alone can demise it. Such leases are binding on her, however, only during the life of her husband.

A minor cannot make a lease for which he can be held on reaching his majority; it will bind the lessee, however, until the minor sees fit to release him. But if he receives the rent after his twenty-first year, he thereby ratifies the lease, and becomes bound for its provisions. A guardian can give no lease that shall extend beyond the majority of his ward. A minor can become a lessee, but he is privileged to give it up when so disposed; he can hold the landlord, however, if he so desires. A married woman cannot lease property; yet, if she occupies a house, her husband will be liable to the landlord for the rent.

Where there are no writings the tenancy commences from the day the tenant takes possession. Where there are writings, and the time for the commencement of the tenancy is not stated, it will be considered as having begun at the time the writings were delivered.

A lease for a term of years, without mentioning the number, is good only for two years.

When a landlord consents to receive a substitute, the first tenant is released.

A new lease invalidates a former one.

A lease by a mortgager is good only so long as the mortgagee refrains from foreclosing the mortgage.

When a landlord executes a lease on verbal misrepresentation, the tenant can recover a deduction from the rent for the fraud.

A lease for a farm will be invalid at the end of twelve years, if any rent or service of any kind is reserved.

A tenancy at will may be terminated in the eastern states by giving the tenant three months' notice in writing; in the middle and southern states by six months; in the western states by one month. A tenant is also free to notify the landlord of his intention to quit the premises; if he fail to relinquish possession at the time mentioned in his notice he will be liable for double rent.

Where occupancy is for a short period—a week, for instance, a month, or a quarter—the length of the notice to quit must be regulated by the letting; as a week's notice for a week's letting and a month's notice for a month's letting.

A landlord can no longer distress for rent in New-York, the law authorizing it having been abolished.

When the right of re-entry is reserved, such re-entry may be made at any time after default in the payment of the rent, by previously giving the tenant, or his legal representatives, fifteen days' notice to that effect.

A tenant or under tenant may be removed by an order from any Judge of the county courts or by any Justice of the Peace of the town or city in which the premises are situated.

Rent may be collected by action, after the summary removal of the tenant

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

EVERY insolvent may be legally released from his debts, upon executing an assignment of all his property to his creditors. The method of proceeding is as follows:—1st. He must present a petition (see Petition of Insolvent Debtor), signed by himself and by so many of his creditors residing in the United States as have debts in good faith owing to them by such debtor, and amounting to two thirds of all his debts owing to creditors, to the Judge or Judges of the County Court in which he may reside; the petition to be accompanied by the affidavits of the debtor and petitioning creditors (see Forms); also, by a schedule, containing a full and correct account of all the debtor's creditors, the sums owing to each, and what for, the place where the debts accrued, the residence of each creditor, and the assets, real and personal, of the debtor, and the incumbrances thereon, and of all the books, vouchers, and securities relating thereto. 2d. The officer must notify the creditors, personally or by letter, of the petitioner's appeal, and call upon them to show cause, if any, why he should not be released from his debts. Notice to this effect must be published in the State paper, and in the principal county paper, once in each week for six successive weeks, if all the creditors reside in the county; and once a-week for ten weeks, if any them of reside one hundred miles from the county. 3. At the time of the hearing the officer hears the proofs and statements of the parties to the petition; if there is no opposition, he enters an order requiring the debtor to make an assignment. 4th. When the officer has received proof of such assignment, he grants the discharge, and the debtor is free. Creditors, however, if so disposed, may demand to have the case tried, like any other cause, before a jury.

A discharge from his debts, in this manner, extinguishes all claims against him at the time of the assignment, including all bills and notes made before that date, although not yet due; also, from all judgments and debts of every kind soever.

Such petitions must be presented in the country to the County Judge; in cities, to the Recorder, or to a Justice of the Supreme or Superior Courts. The officer to whom it is presented must reside in the same county with the debtor; in case no officer in the county is authorized to act in such matters, the petition may be presented to an officer in any other county; the hearing, however, must, in all cases, take place in the county where the debtor resides.

When fraud can be shown against the debtor, in collusion with certain creditors, wrongful interference with property once in the hands of the assignee, fraudulent preferences, or false statements, it will prevent him from obtaining the discharge.

Experience has shown that the easiest and cheapest method of obtaining a discharge, is by making a composition, for so many cents per dollar, with the creditors in person.

When a debtor is imprisoned for crime for any term less than his natural life, any creditor may petition for trustees to take charge of his estate. When he is released from prison, either by the expiration of his sentence or by pardon, the trustees must surrender to him all his money and property in their hands after retaining their expenses and lawful commissions.

Assignees or trustees of insolvent or imprisoned debtors may be appointed to fill vacancies by the officer who appointed the originals, or by his or their successors in office. All such appointments must be certified and filed in the office of the Clerk of the county

NOTES AND BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

THE party who makes or signs a note is called the drawer; the party who endorses it, the endorser; the party to whom it is made payable, the payee; the party holding it at the time of its maturity, the holder.

The words "value received," though usually inserted, are not legally indispensable, as value is implied in every note, bill, acceptance, and endorsement.

In the States of Pennsylvania and New-Jersey, the words, "without defalcation or discount," must be inserted after the words, "for value received." In Missouri, the words, "negotiable and payable, without defalcation or discount," must be added to the words, "for value received."

Notes bear interest only when it is so stated; but, after maturity, all notes bear legal interest. When a note is payable on demand, interest can alone be charged after the demand has been made. When it is improbable that a note payable on demand will be paid when due, it should be made payable one day after date, with interest.

The holder of a note made payable to order, may sue in his own name.

A note made payable to John Smith, or bearer, need not be endorsed. Its delivery is a sufficient guarantee of title. If the holder's title to it is questioned by the drawer, he has only to show in court that he obtained it for a fair consideration. If negotiated, or made use of, after maturity, it is subject to any set-off the drawer may have against the payee.

A promissory note given by a minor, even for necessities, is void.

If a note is made payable to a firm, the signatures of the firm is a sufficient endorsement. But if it be made payable to two or more persons not co-partners, it is not negotiable without the endorsement of each.

No note is payable till the third day after the day expressed for its payment. These three days are called "days of grace," and if payment is not made, no suit can be begun till they have expired. Notes payable "on demand" are not entitled to grace. An endorsed note, payable on demand, must be presented within a reasonable time—say within three months.

A person becoming surety on a note, is liable as an endorser

An endorser may waive demand and notice of a note before its maturity, without any consideration for such notice.

When a note falls due on Sunday, or on any leading holiday when general business is suspended—Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, Christmas, or New Year's, for instance—demand for its payment must be made on Saturday, or the day preceding the holiday. The demand must be made at the place of business of the maker within business hours, or at the specified place of payment should he have no place of business then at his dwelling-house. When the maker has absconded, no notice is necessary.

The endorser of an accommodation note is a surety for the maker, and is liable for the costs of collection brought against such maker or endorser.

If the payee of a note wishes to pay it away to another without being responsible for its payment, he may endorse it with the following words: "Pay to John Smith, without recourse upon me;" or, "Pay to John Smith, at his risk;" or, "Pay to John Smith, without recourse."

If a party takes a note after it is due, he takes it at his own risk, as it is then subject to every defence against its payment that the drawer or endorsers had against it before it was negotiated.

Any promise to pay, without specifying the time of payment, is equal in law to a promise to pay on demand.

A note promising to pay, "so soon as circumstances will permit," is not a promissory note.

A paper is of no value where the acceptor draws it up and then writes across it his acceptance, leaving a blank for the drawer to sign his name. Such a paper is neither a bill, note, order, or security for the payment of money.

In many States, the making of a promissory note on Sunday renders it worthless.

The altering of a note, in any manner, by the holder, makes it void.

A note written thus: "I, Henry Mansfield, promise to pay John Jenkins, or order, one hundred dollars, value received," is good without further signing. Such notes, however, being different from the customary forms, would be deemed imperfect, by men generally, and would be found difficult to negotiate.

A note like the following is not a promissory note:

"Two years from date, for value received, I promise to pay A. B., or bearer, one hundred dollars with use. Said A. B. agrees that if I pay him fifty dollars on or before the first day of January 1860, it shall cancel this note."

Demand of payment for a note must be made of the maker the day when it is due; if not paid, notice must immediately be given to the endorsers; otherwise they will be released of their liability. If the note be made payable at a bank or other place, demand must be made at the place where it is made payable. If payment is refused, notice to that effect must be served without delay upon the maker and each of the endorsers. This notice may be given by any person competent to serve it, but Notaries Public are usually employed for that purpose. When payment of a note is refused, it is called dishonored. No particular form of words is necessary in a notice; all that is requisite is to apprise the party or parties of the fact that the note has been dishonored. The usual form of a notice of protest will be found below.

Notice by mail to an endorser, residing at a distance from the bank or place where the note is payable, is sufficient to hold him for its payment, in case the notice be sent on the last day of grace—that is, the day on which the note was dishonored.

The same laws that apply to notes, apply also to bills of exchange.

Protest of a Bill of Exchange.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, STATE OF NEW-YORK, ss.

On the — day of —, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and —, at the request of Mr. A. B., of —, I, J. T., a Notary Public, duly admitted and sworn, dwelling in the city of New York, did present the original bill of exchange, a copy of which is hereunto annexed, at the shop of W. D., the acceptor thereof, in the city of New York, to a man there attending, and demanded payment of the same, which was refused, the said man replying, that Mr. D. was not in, and he could not pay it. Whereupon, I, the said Notary, at the request aforesaid, did protest, and by these presents do publicly and solemnly protest as well against the acceptor of the said bill of exchange, as against all others whom it doth or may concern, for exchange, re-exchange, and all costs, damages, and interest, already incurred, and to be hereafter incurred, for want of non-payment of the said bill of exchange.

Thus done and protested in the city of New York aforesaid, in the presence of John Doe and Richard Roe, witnesses.

J. T., Notary Public.

To Mr. A. B.

J. T., Notary Public.

RECEIPTS AND RELEASES.

A RECEIPT in full, though admitted to be strong evidence, is by no means legally conclusive. If the party signing it can show an error or mistake, it will be admitted in his favor.

Receipts for money will be held open to examination, and the party holding the receipt must abide by the results of such examination; the great aim of law being to administer strict justice.

A release must be given over a seal. A release from all demands extinguishes all possible causes and rights of action, and leaves no room for subsequent quibbling.

A release of one of many equally wrong-doers, generally releases all. This, of course, does not apply to such of the parties as covenant to remain liable. A release of one of several joint obligors, releases all.

An agreement not to sue two joint debtors is a release to both, but an agreement not to sue one, will not serve as a release to either

Inasmuch as a receipt in full, in the ordinary form, still leaves room to a tricky or unprincipled creditor to harrass and annoy a debtor, it would be well, in all such cases, for the latter to obtain a sealed release, like that under the head of Release of all Demands or that under the caption of Special Release.

As witness, &c., [as in Release of all Demands.]

ARBITRATIONS AND AWARDS.

THE act by which two or more parties refer a matter in dispute to the decision of third parties, is called submission; the parties to whom the matter is referred, arbitrators; and their decision an award.

A verbal decision is valid; but an award, made upon such submission, can be enforced only by a suit, while a submission in writing authorizes the entry of a judgment in accordance with the tenor of the award.

Submissions, written and verbal, may be revoked by either of the disputants, at any time prior to the rendering of the award. But the party revoking is liable to the opposing party for all costs and damages incurred in preparing for the arbitration.

The award, to be good, must not embrace any matter not comprebanded in the submission. The award must comprehend every item or thing submitted. It must not be of a thing unreasonable nor against law, nor morally or physically impossible to the party and it must also be certain—that is, capable of being reduced to certainty—advantageous, mutual, and final.

Arbitrators are authorized by custom, but not by law, to charge the same fees allowed to referees appointed by a court of record, viz.: three dollars per day each, for each day necessarily spent in bringing the case to a settlement; the money to be paid when they bring in their award or report. The parties are at liberty, however, to agree at the outset, in writing, upon a specified compensation.

Common Bond of Arbitration.

Know all men by these presents, that I, A. B., of the town of —, in the county of —, gentleman, am held and firmly bound to C. D., of the city of —, merchant, in the sum of $500, of good and lawful money of the United States, to be paid to the said C. D., or to his certain attorney, executors, and administrators, or assigns, for which payment, to be well and faithfully made, I bind myself, my heirs, executors, and administrators, firmly, by these presents Sealed with my seal; dated the —.

The condition of this obligation is such, that if the above bounden A. B., his heirs, executors, and administrators, on his or their parts and behalves, shall, and do, in all things, well and truly stand to, obey, abide by, perform, fulfil, and keep the award, order, arbitrament, and final determination of M. N., O. P., and Q. R., of, &c., arbitrators, indifferently elected and named, as well on the part and behalf of the above bounden A. B. as of the above named C. D., to arbitrate, award, order, judge, and determine, of, and concerning all, and all manner of action and actions, cause, and causes of actions, suits, bills, bonds, specialties, judgments, executions, quarrels, controversies, trespasses, damages and demands whatsoever, at any time heretofore had, made, moved, brought, commenced, sued, prosecuted, done suffered, committed, or depending by and between the said parties, so as the said award be made in writing, under the hands of the said M. N., O. P., and Q. R., or any two of them, and ready to be delivered to the said parties in difference, or such of them as shall desire the same, on or before the — day of —, then this obligation to be void, or else to remain in full force.

[If it is intended to have a judgment entered on an award, and to give power to a court of record to modify or vacate the award according to the statute, the following clause must be added at the end of the condition, as follows :]

And it is hereby agreed, that a judgment of the Supreme Court of Judicature of the People of the State of —, shall be rendered upon the award to be made pursuant to the above submission.

Arbitrator's Oath.

TO BE ADMINISTERED BY A JUDGE OF A COURT OF RECORD OR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

You do severally swear, faithfully and fairly to hear and examine the matters in controversy between A. B., of the one part, and C. D., of the other part, and to make a just award according to the best of your understanding.

Subpœna to appear before Arbitrators.

THE People of the State of —, to S. T., U. V., and W. Y. You, and each of you, are commanded personally to appear and attend at the house of —, in the town of —, and in the county of —, on the — day of —, in the year —, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, before M. N., O. P. and D. R., arbitrators chosen to determine a controversy between A. B. and C. D., then and there to testify as a witness in relation thereto, before said arbitrators, on the part of the said A. B. Hereof fail not at your peril. Given under my hand, this — day of —, in the year —.

R. S., Justice of the Peace

Award of Arbitration.

To all to whom these presents shall come, A. A., of —, C. C., of —, and D. D., of —, send greeting :

WHEREAS, divers suits, disputes, controversies, and differences, have happened and arisen, and are now depending, between E. E., of —, and F. F., of —, for pacifying, composing, and ending whereof, the said E. E. and F. F. have bound themselves each to the other, in the penal sum of $500, by several bonds or obligations, bearing date — last past, before the date hereof, with condition thereunder written, to stand to, obey, abide, perform, and keep the award, order, arbitrament, final end and determination of the said A. A., C. C., and D. D., arbitrators indifferently named, elected, and chosen, as well on the part and behalf of the said E. E., as of the said F. F., to arbitrate, award, adjudge, and determine, of and concerning all, and all manner of action and actions, cause and causes of actions, suits, bills, bonds, judgments, executions, quarrels, controversies, trespasses, damages, and demands, whatsoever, at any time or times theretofore had, made, commenced, sued, prosecuted, or depending, by or between the said parties, or either of them, so as the said award should be made in writing, under the hands and seals of the said arbitrators, or any two of them, ready to be delivered unto the said parties, or such of them as should require the same, on or before the — day of this instant, —, as by the said obligations and conditions thereof it doth and may appear: Now know ye, that the said A. A., C. C., and D. D., taking upon them the charge and burden of the said award, and having deliberately heard the allegations and proofs of both the said parties, do, by these presents, arbitrate, award, order, decree, and adjudge, of and concerning the premises, in manner and form following; that is to say:

First, they do award, order, decree, and adjudge, that the said F. F., or his heirs, shall and do, on or before the — day of — next ensuing the date hereof, make and execute a good and sufficient conveyance of his interest, as lessee for years, of a certain farm in the possession of the said F. F., situate —, pursuant and according to the true intent and meaning of certain articles of agreement, bearing date on or about the — day of —, and made between the said F. F., of the one part, and the said E. E., of the other part, or as near the same as the present circumstances will admit.

And also, the said arbitrators do further award, decree, and adjudge, that the said F. F., his executors or administrators, shall and do, on or before the — day of — next ensuing the date hereof, pay, or cause to be paid, unto the said E. E., his executors or administrators, at, or in the now dwelling-house of the said E. E., in — aforesaid, the sum of fifty dollars, in full payment, discharge, and satisfaction, of and for all moneys, debts, duties, due or owing unto the said E. E., by the said F. F., upon any account whatsoever, at any time before their entering into the said bonds of arbitration, as aforesaid.

And also, the said arbitrators do hereby further award, order decree, and adjudge, that all actions and suits commenced brought, or depending between the said E. E. and F. F., for any matter, cause, or thing whatsoever, arising or happening at the time of, or before their entering into the said bonds of arbitration, shall, from henceforth, cease and determine, and be no further prosecuted or proceeded in by them, or either of them, or by their, or either of their means, consent, or procurement.

ASSIGNMENTS.

An assignment is valid only when made in good faith. Any party interested in testing its validity, can do so in an action; if it can be shown before a jury that the assignment was made to evade debts due to creditors, they will set it aside; if such fraud cannot be proved, then it will stand.

An assignment by a debtor for the benefit of his creditors must be unconditional surrender of all his effects. If he secretly hold back any property, such withholding is fraudulent, and punishable by statute.

An insolvent debtor has the right to prefer one creditor to the exclusion of all others, in case it be done in good faith. This right remains with him even after suit has been commenced against him by another creditor.

An assignment by an insolvent debtor in trust to pay certain creditors, who are to transfer the residue to the debtor, is void as to the remaining creditors; and evidence that there would be no surplus, will not render it valid.

An assignment authorizing the assignee to change, at discretion, the order of preference of creditors is void.

All assignments for the benefit of creditors must be accompanied by immediate delivery of the property.

Trustees and assignees are entitled to the same compensation that is allowed to executors, administrators, and guardians.

BILLS OF SALE.

A PROMISE to give goods or chattels, without a consideration of delivery, is of no effect. A bill of sale from A. to B., for the purpose of avoiding responsibility to C., is fraudulent and void.

If A. is in debt to creditors, and continues to hold property that he, by a bill of sale, has conveyed to B., fraud will be presumed, unless it can be made to appear by B., before a jury, that the sale was made without collusion, secret or implied, and in good faith. The jury have the power to determine the fairness or unfairness of the sale. A valuable consideration, or a legitimate debt, must be shown in evidence of good faith, or the sale will be ignored.

A bill of sale should be accompanied by a seal after the name of the assignor, sealed instruments always having more weight in law than those without.

BONDS.

A bond is the acknowledgment of a debt, duty, or obligation and it is immaterial what mode of expression is used, provided the language be sufficient to establish an acknowledgment of a debt

All persons legally capable of making a contract, may bind themselves in a bond.

Payment may be pleaded in an action on a bond for the payment of money, though not made strictly according to the condition; and if the amount due thereon be paid after the commencement of suit, and before judgment, the action will be discontinued.

The sum equitably due, by virtue of the condition of a bond, may be set off in any action where a set-off is allowed.

A bond required by law to be given, will be deemed sufficient, if it conform substantially to the form thereof prescribed by the statute, and do not vary in any matter, to the prejudice of the rights of the party to whom, or for whose benefit, such bond shall be given.

The amount of the judgment rendered on a bond conditioned for the payment of money, is the penal sum, which is usually double the amount of the condition, in order to cover interest and costs.

A joint and several bond and warrant of attorney, signed by three persons, will not authorize a separate judgment against one but only a joint judgment against all.

An action on a sealed instrument must be brought within twenty years after a right of action accrues.

A bottomry bond is an obligation founded on the joint security of a ship and its owners, and given for money borrowed, which is to be repaid on the successful termination of a voyage. At home, the bond is executed by the owners, or the master, as their agent. In a foreign country, the master has full authority to bind the owners, and pledge the ship and cargo, by a bottomry bond, in cases of necessity. Any amount of interest may be exacted, so long as the sea risk continues, irrespective of the usury laws; but when that terminates, the obligation will only draw legal interest. Respondentia is a contract similar to bottomry, except that the loan is made upon the chance of the safe arrival of the cargo. Like bottomry, it is used in cases of emergency

PATENTS.

THE American Patent Laws are of the most literal character, being especially designed to encourage the invention and public introduction of new and useful improvements of every kind. Under the fostering influence of these laws, the industrial resources of the nation have become most wonderfully developed; and there is scarcely a trade, art or profession, which is not, to a greater or less extent, directly dependent for its increased success upon the practical assistance of some patented process or article. The money value of patents has also greatly risen, so that, at the present time, the ownership of a patent for a first-rate improvement is considered almost equivalent to the possession of an actual fortune. It is not, however, every improvement, nor every patent, which is valuable or legal; and much care ought therefore to be exercised, both by those who take out patents and those who purchase "rights" under them. They should see that all the formal ties of the law are properly complied with, and be careful that no imposition is practiced upon them.

Patents are granted for all new machines, for improvements upon old machines, for improvements upon devices already patented, for all new processes or improvements upon old processes, for new and better methods or ways of doing or accomplishing given ends, for improved articles of manufacture, for new forms of useful articles, for all kinds of compositions or useful mixtures—in short, for every novel and useful invention, which results in economy or the saving of labor, or the benefit of the public in any manner. On applying for a patent, the applicant pays to the government $15. An examination is then made under the direction of the Commissioner of Patents, and if the invention is found to be new and useful the applicant is informed that a patent will be allowed, and he is required to pay an additional fee of $20, upon receipt of which, Letters Patent are formally issued. But if the examination shows that the invention is not new, or that it is wanting in utility, or that it has been patented in some other country, or has been described in some printed publication, then a patent is refused and the application is rejected.

THE COMPLETE APPLICATION.

A complete application for a patent is made up of the following parts:—1. Petition; 2. Specification; 3. Oath of the inventor; 4. One drawing of the invention; 5. Model or specimens; 6. Payment of the first fee of fifteen dollars. The absence of any of these parts renders the application incomplete; and the Patent Office will neither issue a patent nor even examine the case until the defect is remedied. If the invention is of such a nature that it cannot be illustrated by a model, specimen, or drawing, then those parts may be omitted.

THE SPECIFICATION.

This document consists of a carefully-written description of the invention, fully and minutely describing the object, construction, operation and method of carrying the invention into practical use. The proportions or principles which the applicant claims as his own invention must be particularly specified. The value and extent of a patent often depends upon the skill and excellence with which the specification is prepared.

THE DRAWINGS.

One drawing is required, which must correspond with the model, and be executed in a clear and artistic manner, on thick paper. The drawings are considered as forming a part of the specification; they should represent various parts and views of the invention, such as plan views, perspectives, side elevations, sections, etc.

THE MODEL.

The law requires that the inventor shall, in all cases, furnish a model, which must not exceed twelve inches in any of its dimensions. It should be neatly made, of hard wood or metal, or both, varnished or painted. The name of the inventor and his place of residence should be attached to it, or painted upon it conspicuously. Where the invention consists of an improvement on some known machine, full working model of the whole will not be necessary. It should be sufficiently perfect, however, to show, with clearness, the nature and operation of the invention.

When the invention consists of a new article of manufacture, or a new composition, samples of the separate ingredients sufficient for the purpose of experiment, and also of the manufactured article itself, must be furnished.

REJECTIONS AND APPEALS.

When the Examiner decides that the invention is not patentable, the applicant is so informed, by letter, and this constitutes the first rejection. The applicant then has the right to ask for a reconsideration, and appear before the Patent-Office, either in person or by attorney, and, by the presentation of arguments and evidence, endeavor to satisfy the Examiner that he (the applicant) is still entitled to a patent. If a second rejection results, an appeal may be taken to the Board of Examiners-in-Chief, on payment of $10, who review the case, listen to new arguments, and then either decide to grant or reject the application.

If the inventor is not satisfied with the decision of the Examiners-in-Chief, an appeal may be taken from their decision to the Commissioner of Patents in person; but a fee of $20 must be paid. The Commissioner hears any arguments, reviews the case, and decides upon its merits.

On payment of $25, an appeal may be taken from the decision of the Commissioner to the United States Court in the District of Columbia.

It will thus be seen that the opportunities for an inventor to obtain justice, in his efforts to obtain a patent, are abundant. The majority of patents are, however, promptly granted on the primary application, without resort to the expenses and delays of an appeal.

DESIGNS, TRADE-MARKS, LABELS, ETC.

Under the new law, Design-patents may be taken out for any new form of any article, also for tools, patterns, castings, machine-frames, stove-plates, borders fringes; also new designs for printing, weaving, or stamping upon silks, calicoes, carpets, oil-cloth prints, paper-hangings, and other articles, likewise works of art, including busts, statues, bas-reliefs or compositions in alto or basso relieve, new dies, impressions, ornaments to be placed or used upon any article of manufacture, architectural work, &c. The term for which Design-patents are granted varies according to the fee paid by the applicant, as follows:

Patent for 8½ years.....	$10.
“ 14 “ .....	30.

No Design-models are required. But eleven drawings or photographs must be furnished, together with the usual specification, petition and affidavit, which, to render the patent of value, should be prepared with the utmost care.

Trade-marks may be registered for the term of thirty years, by filing petition oath, description of the class of goods or merchandise and of the trade-mark itself, with eleven fac-similes of the same, one mounted on stiff paper. Government fee $25.

Labels not being trade-marks, may also be registered at the Patent-Office, and certificates issued therefor. Five copies are required to be filed. Register fee $6. No trade-mark or label can be copyrighted any more, as the registration has been entirely transferred to the U. S. Patent-Office.

THE SALE AND ASSIGNMENT OF PATENTS.

An inventor may sell and assign his invention or any part thereof, either before or after a patent is granted; but the signature and oath of the actual inventor, in connection with the specification, are necessary before the Patent Office can consider an application. All other business and proceedings may, however, be transacted by his assignee.

There are three classes of assignments that must be put upon record at the Patent Office, within three months from their date, in order to insure their validity against subsequent purchasers. These are, first, an assignment of the entire patent; second, an undivided portion of a patent; third, the sale of an exclusive right under a patent for a particular territory.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY.

An inventor, or the full assignee of an inventor, may, by power of attorney, authorize another person to act as his agent or solicitor in transacting business and prosecuting cases before the Patent Office.

CAVEATS.

A "caveat" is a confidential communication made to the Patent Office, disclosing the nature and objects of a new and useful but incomplete improvement. The object of a caveat is to prevent the grant of a patent to another party, for the same invention, and thus to afford time to the original inventor to complete his improvement, conduct further experiments, &c. Caveats are filed in the Secret Archives of the Patent Office. The documents consist of a petition, specification, drawing, and oath of invention.

The government fee, payable on filing the patent, is ten dollars.

Under the security afforded by a caveat, inventors should bear in mind that they cannot prevent other parties from using their inventions. The mere filing of a caveat does not allow the caveator to sell exclusive rights, as in the case of the issue of Letters Patent. It entitles him only to the right to receive notice of an interfering application, but does not settle the question of novelty in his behalf. A caveat may be renewed from year to year upon the payment of the usual official fee.

Caveat papers cannot be withdrawn from the office nor undergo alteration after they have been once filed; but additional papers relative to the invention may be appended on payment of a fee of ten dollars (their date being noted), provided they are merely amendatory of the original caveat.

The right to file a caveat extends only to citizens, or to aliens who have resided in the United States one year, and have made oath of their intention to become citizens.

INTERFERENCES.

If an inventor happens to apply for a patent when another application for a similar device is pending at the Patent Office, the two cases are declared by the Commissioner to "interfere," and each party is notified to present evidence as to the date when he first invented the thing. He who proves priority of invention receives the patent, and the other applicant is rejected.

Even after a patent has been granted, another inventor may come forward and apply for a patent for the same device; and if he can prove priority of invention, the Commissioner will issue a patent to him.

INFRINGEMENTS.

The manufacture, sale or use of a patented article, without consent of the owner of the patent, is an infringement, and subjects the infringer, by injunction from the Court, to an arrest or prohibition from the employment of his machinery, shop, works, factory, and men, in the production of the article. In addition to the injunction, the infringer is liable to be mulcted in treble the amount of damages awarded by the jury. The maker, the workmen, the seller, and the purchaser (if a user) are all liable, either collectively or individually. Before any injunction can be obtained, there must have been one or more trials in Court, by which the validity of the patent has been unquestionably proven.

RE-ISSUE OF A PATENT.

The law provides that whenever a patent heretofore granted is found to be inoperative or invalid by reason of a defective or imperfect description or claim, the error may be corrected by surrendering the original patent, and filing new or amended papers, which are subject to examination the same as in the case of the original application. Under a re-issue the law does not allow an inventor to embrace different subject-matter than that shown in the original application. All the features to be claimed must be shown either in the original papers or model.

A re-issue does not extend the term of the original patent. If the amended claims cannot be allowed, the original patent will be returned by the Commissioner upon the order of the applicant or his attorney.

When the original patent contains several subject-matters, the patent may be re-issued in several divisions; a petition oath and specification have to be made on each division.

Government fee for each re-issue, thirty dollars, and also a small fee for certified abstract of title.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Inventions for which patents are solicited are duly classified in the Patent Office, for examination, and are taken up in their order, in classes—and not, as some suppose, in regular rotation—on “the first come first served” principle. Cases can not be thus examined, as such a system would lead to confusion. Whenever the class comes up to which the invention belongs, it will receive examination, even though the case may not have been on file more than one day, and it must wait till the class does come up, though it may be one, three, or six months. The average length of time required at present, in order to secure a patent, is from four to six weeks.

Should an inventor die before he has secured a patent for his invention, the right of applying for and obtaining such patent devolves on the administrator or executor of such person, in trust for the heirs-at-law of the deceased, if he died intestate; but if otherwise, then in trust for his devisees, in as full and ample manner, and under the same conditions, limitations, and restrictions as the same was held, obtained, or enjoyed by the inventor in his or her lifetime; and when application for a patent is made by such legal representatives, the oath or affirmation which the inventor, had he lived, would have been called upon to make to the originality of his invention, will be so varied as to be applicable to them.

Stamping or attaching the name of any patentee on any article without his authority, or attaching the words “patent” or “letters patent,” or the stamp, mark, or device of any patentee, on an unpatented article, is forbidden, and subjects the party or parties so guilty to a fine of one hundred dollars for such offence.

Patentees or their assignees are required to affix the date of the patent on each article vended or offered for sale—thus affording to the public notice of the duration of the patent. When the article is of such a character that the date cannot be printed or affixed thereto, it must be printed on a label and affixed to the case or package containing it.

An inventor may take out a patent in a foreign country without forfeiting his right to a patent in the United States, provided his invention has not been in public use, with his knowledge and consent, in the United States, previous to his application.

The mere introducer of an invention from a foreign country is not entitled to a patent; the inventor only can apply for patents.

Money sent to the Patent Office by "mail" is at the risk of the sender; and all money sent from the office by that medium is also at the risk of the person who desires to have it forwarded to him in that way.

Joint inventors are entitled to a joint patent; but neither can obtain one separately.

Inventors who send descriptions of their inventions to the Patent Office, for the purpose of learning whether they are new, only give themselves useless trouble, as no answers will be returned. Examinations of descriptions of new inventions are only made when applications are presented for Letters Patent.

Form of Petition for a Patent.

To the Commissioner of Patents:

THE petition of A. B., of —, in the county of —, and State of —, respectfully represents: That your petitioner has invented a new and improved mode of preventing steam-boilers from bursting, which he verily believes has not been known or used prior to the invention thereof by your petitioner. He therefore prays that Letters Patent of the United States may be granted to him therefor, vesting in him, and his legal representatives, the exclusive right to the same, upon the terms and conditions expressed in the Act of Congress in that case made and provided; he having paid fifteen dollars into the Treasury of the United States, and complied with the other provisions of the said Act.

Form of Petition for a Caveat.

To the Commissioner of Patents:

THE petition of A. B., of —, in the county of —, and State of —, respectfully represents: That your petitioner has invented a new and improved mode of preventing steam-boilers from bursting; and that he is now engaged in making experiments for the purpose of perfecting the same, preparatory to his applying for Letters Patent therefor. He therefore prays that the subjoined description of his invention may be filed as a Caveat in the Confidential Archives of the Patent Office, agreeable to the provisions of the Act of Congress in that case made and provided; he having paid ten dollars into the Treasury of the United States, and otherwise complied with the requirements of the said Act

Specification.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known, that I, A. B., of —, in the county of —, and

State of —, have invented a new and improved mode of preventing steam-boilers from bursting; and I do hereby declare, that the following is a full and exact description of the same:

The nature of my invention consists in providing the upper part of a steam-boiler with an aperture, in addition to that for the safety-valve, which aperture is to be closed by a plug, or disk, of alloy, which will fuse at any given degree of heat, and permit the steam to escape, should the safety-valve fail to perform its functions. To enable others skilled in the art to make and use my invention, I will proceed to describe its construction and operation: I construct my steam-boiler in any of the known forms, and apply thereto gauge-cocks, a safety-valve, and the other appendages of such boilers; but in order to obviate the danger arising from the adhesion of the safety-valve, and from other causes, I make a second opening in the top of the boiler, similar to that made for the safety-valve, as shown at A, in the accompanying drawing; and in this opening I insert a plug, or disk, of fusible alloy, securing it in its place by a metal ring and screws, or otherwise. This fusible alloy, I in general compose of a mixture of lead, tin, and bismuth, in such proportions as will insure its melting at a given temperature, which must be that to which it is intended to limit the steam, and will, of course, vary with the pressure the boiler is intended to sustain. I surround the opening containing the fusible alloy, by a tube, B, intended to conduct off any steam which may be discharged therefrom. When the temperature of the steam in such a boiler rises to its assigned limit, the fusible alloy will melt, and allow the steam to escape freely, thereby securing it from all danger of explosion. What I claim as my invention, and desire to secure by Letters Patent, is the application to steam-boilers of a fusible alloy, which will melt at a given temperature, and allow the steam to escape, as herein described, using any metallic compound which will produce the intended effect.

that the following is a full, clear, and exact description of the construction and operation of the same, reference being had to the annexed drawings, making a part of this specification, in which figure 1 is a perspective view; figure 2, a longitudinal elevation; figure 3, a transverse section, etc. [Describe all the sections of the drawings, and refer to the parts by letters. Then give a detailed description of the construction and operation of the machine, and conclude with the claim, which should express the nature and character of the invention, and identify the part or parts claimed, separately, or in combination.]

Foreign Patents.

AMERICAN inventors should bear in mind that, as a general rule, any invention which is valuable to the patentee in this country, is worth equally as much in England and some other foreign countries. Four patents—American, English, French, and Belgian—will secure an inventor exclusive monopoly to his discovery among one hundred millions of the most intelligent people in the world. The facilities of business and steam communication are such that patents can be obtained abroad by our citizens almost as easily as at home.

It is generally much better to apply for foreign patents simultaneously with the application here; or, if this cannot be conveniently done, as little time as possible should be lost after the patent is issued, as the laws in some foreign countries allow patents to any one who first makes the application, and in this way many inventors are deprived of valid patents for their own inventions. Many valuable inventions are yearly introduced into Europe from the United States, by parties ever on the alert to pick up whatever they can lay their hands upon that may seem useful.

Models are not required in any European Country, but the utmost care and experience are necessary in the preparation of the specifications and drawings.

When parties intend to take out foreign patents, engravings should not be published until the foreign applications have been made.

Canadian Patents.

SPECIAL attention should be given to securing a Canadian patent, which is now granted by a recent patent law of the Dominion to foreigners as well as its citizens, on very liberal conditions, similar to those of the United States.

Models, duplicate petitions, oaths, drawings, and specifications are required; duration optional with extension, five, ten, or fifteen years. A valid patent in Canada can only be obtained when it is applied for within one year after the date of the first patent granted in another country.

The government fees are: For five years, $20; ten years, $40; fifteen years, $60.

[Persons desiring other information, concerning the procuring of Letters Patent, than is contained in the laws and practice given above, can obtain all such advice, free of charge, by addressing Messrs. MUNN & Co., Editors of the Scientific American, No. 37 Park Row, New York City.

Messrs. MUNN & Co. have been engaged as solicitors of patents for more than a quarter of a century, and their facilities are most complete for doing all kinds of patent business. More than one-third of all the patent business of the United States is transacted by this firm, and almost all of the patents annually obtained by American citizens in foreign countries are procured through Messrs. MUNN & Co., who have reliable agencies in London, Paris, and all the principal European capitals. Any letters of inquiry in regard to the law or practice of the Patent Office they will cheerfully answer, without charge; they also examine models and drawings of new inventions, and render advice as to the prospects of obtaining patents, etc., free of expense.]

HIGHWAYS.

It is the duty of Commissioners of Highways to give directions for the repairing of all roads and bridges in their respective towns to regulate the roads already laid out, and to alter such of them as they may deem inconvenient; to divide each of their towns into road districts, and to assign each road district to such of the inhabitants liable to work on highways as they may think proper; having due regard to proximity of residence as near as may be;

to require the overseers of highways to warn all persons assessed to work on highways to come and work thereon; to discontinue all old roads that may appear to them on the oaths of twelve freeholders to have become unnecessary; to lay out on actual survey, such new roads as they may deem essential to the public weal; and to cause mile-boards or stones to be erected on such post and other public roads as they may think expedient.

It is the duty of overseers of highways to repair and keep in order all highways in their respective districts; to warn all persons assessed to work on the same; to cause all noxious weeds on each side of the highway to be cut down and destroyed, once every six months; to cause all loose stones on the beaten track of the highway to be removed; to keep up and renew the mile-stones and guide-posts; and, when occasion demands, to make a second assessment, in addition to that made by the commissioners, on the residents in the town for the maintenance in order of the roads.

Every person owning or occupying land in the town in which he or she resides; every male inhabitant over twenty-one years, and all moneyed or stock corporations, are subject to assessment for highway labor. Commissioners are authorized to credit all persons living on private roads, and working the same, so much on their assessments as they may deem necessary, or to annex the same to some highway district.

Any person liable to highway labor may commute for the same in whole or in part, at the rate of one dollar per day, to be paid within twenty-four hours after receiving the notice to appear and work.

Persons assessed to highway labor are entitled to twenty-four hours' notice. No resident can be compelled to work on any highway except in the district where he resides, unless upon his application the commissioners consent that he may apply his work in some district where he has land.

Every person refusing or neglecting to appear and work when notified by the highway overseer is subject to a fine of one dollar for each day, and twelve and a half cents for every hour any person or his substitute may be delinquent. Every individual or substitute remaining idle, or not working faithfully or hindering others from work, is subject to a fine of one dollar for each offence.

Overseers are empowered to require from assessed persons having the same, a cart, wagon, or plough, with a pair of horses or oxen, and a person to manage them ; if he furnish them, according to order, he will be entitled to a credit of three days for each day's service therewith. If he fail to furnish them, he is liable to a fine of three dollars per day for each day that he may be assessed. If, however, the delinquent can give the overseer a satisfactory excuse for his non-compliance with the order, the latter has power to remit the fine.

Ministers of the gospel, paupers, and lunatics, are exempt from highway labor. The whole number of days' work to be assessed by the Commissioners must be equal to at least three times the number of taxable inhabitants in the town ; and every male inhabitant over twenty-one years must be assessed at least one day ; the remainder of the work must be apportioned upon the real and personal estate of every inhabitant, as the same may appear in the last assessment roll of the town, and upon each tract or parcel of land owned by non-residents.

Commissioners cannot lay out a road through any orchard of four years' growth, or more ; nor through a garden cultivated four years or more ; nor through any buildings, or fixtures for the purpose of trade or manufactures, nor any yards or other enclosures necessary for their use ; nor through any enclosed or cultivated lands, without the consent of the owner or owners thereof, or on the oaths of twelve freeholders to the public necessity of the same.

No private road can be laid out over the lands of any person, without his consent or the decision of a jury

When a Commissioner of Highways has determined to lay out a new highway, or to alter or discontinue an old road, he must file such determination in writing at the office of the Town Clerk.

Any person aggrieved by any determination of the Commissioner of Highways, either in laying out, altering, or discontinuing any road, or in refusing to lay out, alter, or discontinue any road, may, at any time within sixty days after the Commissioner's determination shall have been filed, appeal to the Judge of the county, who shall appoint three disinterested freeholders, residents of the county, but not of the town, to hear and determine the appeal.

When a public highway has been transferred to a plank-road company, and the interest of the public road is paid for, the company succeeds to all the rights of the Town Commissioners relative to making repairs.

CATTLE LAWS.

A dog, in the habit of attacking passers-by, is in law a nuisance which any one is free to remove, by killing or otherwise. In case of suit, the party killing him need not prove that he was obliged to kill him in self-defence.

Any one killing a harmless or inoffensive dog, is liable in damages to the owner; but in an action to recover damages for killing a dog, the opinions of witnesses as to its value are not admissible in evidence. The jury are the judges of the animal's value. Any dog in the habit of attacking, worrying or killing sheep, or other useful animals, may be killed by order of a magistrate.

The owner of a dog is liable for all damage the animal may do to another's cattle or other property.

The owner of a stray horse or horses, or other animal or animals, is liable in damages for all injuries it or they may do to others' property. Should the owner, for the sake of avoiding the payment of the damage, disclaim ownership, the animal or animals may be sold by order of a magistrate, and the damages paid, on application, by the supervisors.

Whenever a stray animal comes upon the premises of any party, the latter should give immediate notice of the same, in writing, to the Town Clerk. If this notice is not given within ten days of the arrival of the stray, the party can recover no compensation for the keeping of the animal. It is the duty of the Town Clerk to keep a record, open for public inspection, of all such notices. The Clerk's fee for entering the notice must be paid by the party presenting it. The latter has the right to detain the animal or animals till all reasonable charges for keeping the same, together with the Clerk's fees, are paid. The Fence Viewers of the town are to decide upon the fairness of the charges. If, at the expiration of five months, no owner appear, or if he or they appear, and refuse or neglect to pay the charges, the party on whose premises the animal or animals have come, may sell the same to the highest bidder at public auction. Out of the proceeds of the sale, he may retain sufficient to pay his bill of charges; the remainder must be paid to the owner of the strays, if he demands the same; if not demanded within twelve months of the time of sale, he loses all claim to the money, in which event the same must be paid to the Supervisor of the town within thirty days after the expiration of the year.

Assessors and Commissioners of Highways are, by virtue of their offices, Fence Viewers of the town in which they have been elected.

FENCE-VIEWERS.

WHEN two parties have lands adjoining, each must make and keep up his half of the division fence. If he neglect or refuse to do this, and the other receive injury thereby, the party so neglecting or refusing is liable to the other in damages to the amount of the injury, and for the fees and other charges incidental to

In law, both males and females are infants, or minors, till they arrive at the age of twenty-one years. In the States of Vermont and Ohio, females are legally of age at eighteen.

No minor can bind him or herself by contract for anything except necessaries—such as food, clothing, or education. If he or she contracts for other than necessaries, on attaining his or her majority, the contract is void or voidable at his or her option.

Minors can do no act to the injury of their property. In case one should do so, he or she may repudiate or rescind it on arriving of age.

A minor whose parents may have released his claim for his or her labor, or the wages arising therefrom, is not thereby enabled to enter into contracts which he or she may not at any time annul; nor has a parent or guardian power to compel him or her to make any contract which he or she is not disposed to enter into.

Every contract made by a minor which is to his or her injury is void; but a contract which is clearly to his or her benefit is good; and any contract that is uncertain, whether injurious or beneficial, is voidable or not, as he or she may choose.

A contract for necessaries is binding on a minor when he or she becomes of age, and may be recovered in a suit of law; but in order to recover the sum due for them, it must be shown that the articles were really necessary for him or her under the circumstances and condition in which he or she was placed when they were furnished. The real circumstances of the minor must be considered, and not his apparent condition.

Necessaries for a minor's wife and children, or for either, are necessaries for him.

If a minor obtain goods on the pretence that he or she is of age, and then refuse payment on the ground that he or she is, or was not then of age, the creditor cannot recover the value of the goods, but he can have the minor so guilty punished for fraud.

A parent is not bound by the contract of his son, even for necessaries, unless an actual authority can be shown, or the circumstances be sufficient to imply such authority. What circumstances are sufficient to imply an authority must always be a question to determine in each particular case. The safest rule in all such instances, however, is to always demand a written order or authority.

A father is liable for necessaries furnished to his minor children, but they must be strictly necessaries—such as the father is in duty bound to supply, but has failed to provide. In all such cases the sums due therefor may be recovered.

If a minor be coaxed, cajoled, or forced into an unwilling marriage or other contract, he or she may repudiate the same on becoming of age.

When a minor executes a contract, and pays money, or delivers property on the same, he cannot afterward disaffirm such contract and recover the money or property, unless he restores to the other party the consideration received from him for such money or property.

DOWER.

EVERY married woman is entitled by law to a one third interest in all real property that may be left by her husband. This property is only for her use and benefit during life. She can neither sell nor give it away; at her death it descends to the children, if any; if not, then to her husband's nearest relations. This third interest is termed her dower.

An interest on the part of a testator that his bequest to his wife shall be in lieu of her dower, must be so expressed, or must appear as satisfactorily as if it were expressed, or she will be still entitled to her dower.

A widow who, as administratrix of the estate of her late husband, conveys such property, in whole or in part, to another, and gives a deed of warranty for the same, cannot afterward claim her dower, or any part thereof, from such property; the deed being good to the holder she is effectually barred from all interest in it hereafter.

A widow's third-interest is in the lands, and not on the crops nor any part thereof that may be growing on the lands at the time of her husband's decease. The crops so growing at that time descend to the heir, and if the widow makes use of what she mistakingly considers her one third share, she is liable to the heir for their full value.

A widow's claim for dower of real estate is not subject to a set off for damages, nor for moneys due by her, nor for the receipt by her of rents and profits of the whole of the lands in which she claims dower. Her claim to the land is as good as would be the right of the heir in such a case.

A married woman, in signing away property, with and at the request of her husband, may, if she so pleases, refuse to sign away her right to dower in such property.

If a married woman be constrained from fear of, or by threats of violence on the part of, her husband, to sign off her right to dower in any property, she may, on a complaint before a judge of any court in the county where such property is situate, cause the deed so signed by her to be rendered void and of no effect.

No court will interpose to carry into effect an important gift by a husband to his wife, except upon clear evidence that the husband understood the effect of his act.

When a man agrees, before marriage, to relinquish all right and title to his wife's property during her lifetime, and in case he should survive her, the wife may will the property to whom she pleases.

Deposits of money, in bank, by a husband, in the name of his wife, survives to the wife.

Distribution of Personal Estates.

The statute of distributions in case of intestacy is as follows :

Where the deceased shall have died intestate, the surplus of his personal estate remaining after payment of debts ; and where the deceased left a will, the surplus remaining after the payment of debts and legacies if not bequeathed, shall be distributed to the widow, children, or next of kin of the deceased, in the manner following :

1. One third part thereof to the widow, and all the residue by equal portions among the children and such persons as legally represent such children, if any of them shall have died before the deceased.

2. If there be no children, nor any legal representative of them, then one moiety (that is one half) of the whole surplus shall be allotted to the widow, and the other moiety shall be distributed to the next of kin of the deceased entitled under the provisions of this section.

3. If the deceased leaves a widow, and no descendant, parent, brother or sister, nephew, or niece, the widow shall be entitled to the whole surplus ; but if there be a brother or sister, nephew or niece, and no descendant or parent, the widow shall be entitled to a moiety of the surplus, as above provided, and to the whole of the residue where it does not exceed two thousand dollars ; if the residue exceed that sum, she shall receive, in addition to her moiety, two thousand dollars, and the remainder shall be distributed to the brothers and sisters, and their representatives.

4. If there be no widow, then the whole surplus shall be distributed equally to and among the children and such as legally represent them.

5. In case there be no widow and no children, and no representatives of a child, then the whole surplus shall be distributed to the next of kin, in equal degree to the deceased, and the legal representatives.

6. If the deceased shall leave no children, and no representatives of them, and no father, and shall leave a widow and a moher, the moiety not distributed to the widow shall be distributed in equal shares to his mother and brothers and sisters, or the representatives of such brothers and sisters; and if there be no widow, the whole surplus shall be distributed in like manner to the mother and to the brothers and sisters, or the representatives of such brothers and sisters.

7. If the deceased leave a father, and no child or descendant, the father shall take a moiety, if there be a widow, and the whole if there be no widow.

8. If the deceased leave a mother, and no child, descendant, father, brother, sister, or representatives of a brother or sister, the mother, if there be a widow, shall take a moiety, and the whole if there be no widow. And if the deceased shall have been illegitimate, and have left a mother, and no child or descendant or widow, such mother shall take the whole, and shall be entitled to letters of administration in exclusion of all other persons, in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter. And if the mother of such deceased be dead, the relatives of the deceased on the part of the mother shall take in the same manner as if the deceased had been legitimate, and be entitled to letters of administration in the same order.

9. Where the descendants or next of kin of the deceased, entitled to share in his estate, shall be all in equal degree to the deceased, their shares shall be equal.

10. When such descendants or next of kin shall be of unequal degrees of kindred, the surplus shall be apportioned among those entitled thereto, according to their respective stocks; so that those who take in their own right, shall receive equal shares, and those who take by representation shall receive the shares to which the parent whom they represent, if living, would have been entitled.

11. No representation shall be admitted among collaterals after brothers' and sisters' children.

12. Relatives of the half blood shall take equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree; and representatives of such relatives shall take in the same manner as the representatives of the whole blood.

13. Descendants and next of kin of the deceased, begotten before his death, but born thereafter, shall take in the same manner as if they had been born in the lifetime of the deceased, and had survived him.

The preceding provisions respecting the distribution of estates do not apply to the personal estates of married women, but their husbands may demand, recover, and enjoy the same as they are entitled by the rules of the common law.

When administration is granted to any person not the widow of or next of kin to a deceased person, and no one shall appear to claim the personal estate of the deceased within two years after such letters were granted, the surplus of such estate, which would be distributed as aforesaid, shall be paid into the Treasury of the State, for the benefit of those who may thereafter appear to be entitled to the same.

In addition to the provisions in favor of the widow and minor children from the personal estate of her husband, it is provided, that she may tarry in the chief house of her husband forty days after his death whether her dower be sooner assigned or not, without being liable to any rent for the same, and in the meantime she shall have her reasonable sustenance out of the estate of her husband. This sustenance is to be provided out of the personal property of the husband, and through the executor or administrator, if one be appointed prior to the expiration of the forty days, and is to be given, according to the circumstances and station in life of the family, to the widow and necessarily to the children dependent on her, for it is impossible to separate the widow from her infant children.

In providing this sustenance, the executor or administrator must exercise judgment and discretion in the same manner as in paying funeral expenses. Thus if the estate be abundant to pay all debts without doubt, items of mourning clothing for the widow and family may be included in the charges for sustenance; while if the estate be involved, and the question should arise as against creditors, bare necessities only could be allowed.

PARTNERSHIP

PARTNERSHIP is a voluntary contract of two or more persons to unite their money, effects, labor and skill, or some or all of them, as may be agreed upon, for the purpose of carrying on a specified business, with the understanding that both shall share the profit and loss arising from the same in certain proportions.

There may be a partnership in a single transaction as well as in a continuing business; between persons out of trade as well as in; inasmuch as in either case there may be a combination of property or labor in order to a common undertaking and a common profit.

If one advances money, and another furnishes personal services in carrying on a business, and is to share in the profits, it amounts to a partnership. So, if one participates in the profits and loss of a purchase or sale, he is partner in the same.

There are five kinds of partners, viz.: 1, Ostensible; 2, Nominal; 3, Dormant; 4, Special; and 5, General.

Ostensible partners are they whose names appear to the public as partners.

Nominal partners are they who have no interest in the business, but allow their names to be used by the firm.

Dormant (or silent) partners are they who have an interest in the business, but whose names are not known to the public.

Special partners are they who are interested in the business only to the amount of capital they have invested in it. [Special partnerships are governed altogether by statute, and can only be entered into by strictly conforming to the statute regulations of the State where the partnership is formed—each State, as a general thing, having its own regulations for this delicate kind of partnership. No prudent man should form such a partnership without consulting a sound lawyer.]

General partners consist generally of one or more partners who manage the business, while the capital, in whole or in part, but principally in part, is supplied by a special partner or partners. General partners are liable for all the debts and contracts of the firm. A nominal partner is liable for all the debts and contracts of the firm. A special partner is generally liable only for the amount of the capital he invests in the partnership.

Any one who permits his name to be used in a firm, or who shares in the profit of the business, is liable to creditors as a partner.

Each individual in a partnership is liable to the whole amount of the debts of the firm, whether he be active, nominal or dormant.

The acts of one partner bind all the others, when such acts are done in the usual course of business of the firm. This stands good, although they may have agreed among themselves that he shall have no such authority.

When parties have a mutual interest in the profit and loss of any business carried on by them, and when they hold themselves out to the public as joint traders, they may be held responsible as partners by third persons, whatever may be the real nature of their connection.

Articles of Copartnership.

Articles of copartnership, made this 12th day of September, 1868, by and between E. D. and H. A., both of the city of Albany.

The said parties hereby agree to form and do form a copartnership, for the purpose of carrying on the general produce and commission business on the following terms and articles of agreement, to the faithful performance of which they mutually engage and bind themselves. The style and name of the copartnership shall be D. and A., and shall commence on the 20th day of September, 1863.

Each of said parties agree to contribute to the funds of the partnership the sum of $1,000 in cash, which shall be paid in on or before the 20th of September, 1863; and each of said parties shall devote and give all his time and attention to the business, and to the care and superintendence of the same.

All profits which may accrue to the said partnership shall be divided, and all losses happening to the said firm, whether from bad debts, depreciation of goods, or any other cause or accident, and all expenses of the business, shall be borne by the said parties equally.

All the purchases, sales, transactions and accounts of the said firm shall be kept in regular books, which shall be always open to the inspection of both parties, and their legal representatives, respectively. An account of stock shall be taken, and an account between the parties shall be settled as often as once a year, and as much oftener as either partner may desire and in writing request.

Neither of the said parties shall subscribe any bond, sign or indorse any note of hand, accept, sign or indorse any draft or bill of exchange, or assume any other liability, verbal or written, either in his own name or in the name of the firm, for the accommodation of any other person or persons whatsoever, without the consent in writing of the other party; nor shall either party lend any of the funds of the copartnership without such consent of the other party.

Neither party shall be engaged in any other business, nor shall either party withdraw from the joint stock any more than $100 per quarter or $400 per year.

On the dissolution of this copartnership, if the said parties or their legal representatives cannot agree in the division of the stock then on hand, the whole copartnership effects, except the debts due the firm, shall be sold at public auction, at which both parties shall be at liberty to bid and purchase like other individuals, and the proceeds to be divided after paying the debts of the firm.

For the purpose of securing the performance of the foregoing agreements, it is agreed that either party, in case of any violation of them or either of them by the other, shall have the right to dissolve this copartnership forthwith on his becoming informed of such violation.

In witness whereof the said parties have hereto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

LIABILITIES OF COMMON CARRIERS.

A COMMON carrier is defined in law as a person who carries goods or packages, by land or water, as a business; owners of stage wagons, stage coaches, rail cars, cartmen, teamsters, porters, owners and masters of vessels, canal boatmen, barge owners, &c., are common carriers.

Common carriers are liable for the entire value of all goods intrusted to them, if not delivered to the parties to whom they are directed. They are not liable for the loss of goods when such loss is caused by lightnings, storms, hurricanes, earthquakes, decay, spontaneous combustion, leakage of casks or carelessness of shippers, nor in case they are captured or destroyed by pirates. But in all other cases the carrier is responsible for the full value of all goods he undertakes to transport.

The owner or master of any vessel that is publicly open to transport anybody's goods to any designated foreign or domestic port is liable as a common carrier; but a vessel that transports goods for one or more particular parties does not come under the carrier laws, nor yet an owner who lets the tonnage to particular shippers. If the owners charter a vessel to certain persons for a voyage, at a stipulated freight, they are liable as common carriers, unless the terms of the charter party relieve them.

Common carriers are responsible for the acts of all persons in their employ; the act of the agent or servant being regarded as the act of the principal and master.

Steamboats that tow vessels, and private persons conveying goods for another on a special occasion, are not liable as common carriers.

Owners of passenger conveyance, such as stages, carriages, &c., are liable as common carriers for all luggage or baggage intrusted to their care, but not for goods, unless under a special agreement.

Injuries to goods by strangers must be made up by the carrier. He is responsible for all damage to goods in his care by accidental fires, thefts, and robberies.

A common carrier is bound by law to deliver all goods in the same good order as when intrusted to him. He must receive all such goods as are offered for the place at which he carries from any person willing or offering to pay the usual or a reasonable freight-charge. He may refuse to take them if his vessel or other means of transport is full, or if the goods are dangerous to be carried, or till he is ready to receive them, or if they are goods it is not his custom to carry, or for a good reason.

A carrier is not liable for loss by the freezing up of a river or canal, unless it can be shown that he neglected to use due diligence; nor for the leakage of a vessel in a storm, nor for losses from collision of his ship with another, except in cases of negligence.

A carrier is liable for goods from the moment they are delivered into his hands.

A carrier is not liable for goods unless they are actually placed in his hands. When goods have reached the destined place, they must be delivered to the proper person or his agent. If the latter accepts the delivery, the carrier is no longer responsible.

A carrier is liable for losses from deposits or storages of goods on the route; but if goods are left in his possession an unreasonable time, he is only bound to give them ordinary care.

No contract, nor public or personal notice, will exempt the carrier of goods from losses caused by his own neglect or fraud or that of his agents; but any notice of the carrier to the shipper that he will not take goods of great value, or that he will not pay more than a specified sum, unless specially informed of such value, is good. All ambiguous notices will be construed against the carrier. Notices at each end of a route will not bind parties who ship at intermediate places, unless such notice is specially made thereon to them. A personal notice to the principal is binding on all his agents who may forward goods by the same line. If the owner of goods mislead the carrier as to their value, or make false statements calculated to lessen his vigilance, it is a fraud upon him.

Where there is no notice, or special contract, it is enough for the owner to show the carrier's undertaking the carriage of his goods, and a non-delivery. The carrier must show why he did not deliver; but when there is a notice, the owner must show a want of ordinary prudence in the carrier. A valid seizure of goods because of an illegal act of the owner, will excuse a non-delivery, but the seizure must be valid, or the carrier will be liable. The carrier is authorized to put any claimant to the proof as to his title to take the goods; should he neglect to do this, he is liable. In case of stolen goods, the carrier must deliver them to the owner on demand.

A carrier has a right to demand payment when he receives the goods; if his demand is not complied with, he may refuse to take the goods. But if he take them, to be paid at the end of the route, he may detain them till paid, on his arrival there.

Common carriers are bound to carry passengers safely and properly to the place agreed upon, and are responsible for all neglect. In case of an accident on the way, the carrier has to show that it was not his fault. All passengers are to be treated impartially for the general benefit. Rude, coarse, or suspicious persons may be refused. The conveyance must be suitable for the passage, and have skilful, prudent conductors and servants. The baggage of passengers must be duly delivered to them, or, if so requested, the carrier must hold it for them a reasonable time.

In the case of a rash, careless, or violent driver, who causes injury to the passengers or goods by racing, running foul of other vehicles, the proprietors are liable.

A carrier may retain baggage for unpaid fare.

PRE-EMPTION TO PUBLIC LANDS.

Any individual claiming the benefits of the Pre-Emption act must be—

First. A citizen of the United States, or have filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen.

Second. Either the head of a family, or a widow, or a single man over the age of twenty-one years.

Third. An inhabitant of the tract sought to be entered, upon which, in person, he has made a settlement and erected a dwelling-house since the 1st of June, 1840, and prior to the time when the land is applied for; which land must, at the date of the settlement, have had the Indian title extinguished and been surveyed by the United States.

A person failing in any one of these requisites can have no claim by virtue of this act.

A person bringing himself within each of the above requirements by proof satisfactory to the Register and Receiver of the land district in which the lands may lie, taken pursuant to the rules hereinafter prescribed, will, after having taken the affidavit required by the act, be entitled to enter, by legal subdivisions, any number of acres not exceeding one hundred and sixty, or a quarter-section, to include his residence, and he may avail himself of the same at any time prior to the day of the commencement of the public sale, including said tract, where the land has not yet been proclaimed.

Where the land was subject to private entry at the date of the law, and a settlement shall thereafter be made upon such land, or where the land shall hereafter become subject to private entry, and after that period a settlement shall be made, which the settler is desirous of securing under this act, such notice of his intentions must be given within thirty days after the date of such settlement. Such notice, in all cases must be a written one, describing the land settled upon, and declaring the intention of such person to claim the same under the provisions of this act. [See forms A and B, hereto annexed]

In all such cases, the proof, affidavit, and payment, must be made within twelve months after the date of such settlement.

The tracts liable to entry under this act are some one of the following designations:

First. A regular quarter-section, notwithstanding its quantity, may be a few acres more or less than one hundred and sixty; or a quarter-section, which, though fractional in quantity by the passage of a navigable stream through the same, is still bounded by regular sectional and quarter-sectional lines.

Second. A fractional section, containing not over one hundred and sixty acres, or any tract being a detached or anomalous survey made pursuant to law, and not exceeding said quantity.

Third. Two adjoining half quarter-sections (in all cases to be separated by a north and south line, except on the north side of townships, where the surveys are so made as to throw the excess or deficiency on the north and west side of the township) of the regular quarters mentioned in the first designation; or, two adjoining eighty-acre subdivisions of the irregular quarters found on the north and west side of townships, where more than two such subdivisions exist, or the excess may render them necessary, provided in the latter case the aggregate quantity does not exceed one hundred and sixty acres.

Fourth. Two half quarter or eighty-acre subdivisions of a fractional or broken section, adjoining each other, the aggregate quantity not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Fifth. A regular half-quarter and an adjoining fractional section, or an adjoining half-quarter subdivision of a fractional section, the aggregate quantity not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Sixth. If the pre-emptor should not wish to enter the quantity of one hundred and sixty acres, he may enter a single half-quarter section, (made by a north and south line,) or an eighty-acre subdivision of a fractional section.

Seventh. One or more adjoining forty-acre lots may be entered, the aggregate not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Eighth. A regular half-quarter, a half-quarter subdivision, or a fractional section, may each be taken, with one or more forty-acre subdivisions lying adjoining, the aggregate not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres.

Only one person on a quarter-section is protected by this law, and that is the one who made the first settlement, provided he shall have conformed to the other provisions of the law.

A person who has once availed himself of the provisions of this act cannot, at any future period, or at any other land office, acquire another right under it.

No person who is the proprietor of three hundred and twenty acres of land in any State or Territory of the United States, is entitled to the benefits of this act.

No person who shall quit or abandon his residence on his own land to reside on the public land in the same State or Territory, is entitled to the benefits of this act.

No pre-emption right exists by reason of a settlement on and inhabitation of a tract, unless at the date of such settlement the Indian title thereto had been extinguished, and the land surveyed by the United States.

The approval of the plat is the evidence of the legality of the survey; but in accordance with the spirit and intent of the law, and for the purpose of bringing the settler within its provisions, the land is to be construed as surveyed, when the requisite lines are run on the field and on the corners established by the deputy surveyor.

No assignments or transfers of pre-emption rights can be recognised. The patents must issue to the claimants, in whose names alone all entries must be made.

Sundry Descriptions of Land which are exempted from the Operations of this Act.

First. Lands included in any reservation by any treaty, law, or proclamation of the President of the United States, and lands reserved for salines and for other purposes.

Second. Lands reserved for the support of schools.

Third. Lands acquired by either of the two last treaties with the Miami tribe of Indians in the State of Indiana, or which may be acquired of the Wyandot tribe of Indians in the State of Ohio, or other Indian reservation to which the title has been or may be extinguished by the United States at any time during the operation of this act.

Fourth. Sections of land reserved to the United States, alternate to other sections granted to any of the States for the construction of any canal, railroad, or other public improvement.

Fifth. Sections or fractions of sections included within the limits of any incorporated town.

Sixth. Every portion of the public lands which has been selected as a site for a city or town.

Seventh. Every parcel or lot of land actually settled and occupied for the purposes of trade, and not agriculture.

Eighth. All lands on which are situated any known salines or mines.

Persons claiming the benefit of this act are required to file duplicate affidavits, such as the law requires, and to furnish proof by one or more disinterested witnesses, of the facts necessary to establish the three requisites pointed out in the commencement of these instructions.

The witnesses are to be first duly sworn or affirmed to speak the truth, and the whole truth, touching the subject of inquiry, by some officer competent to administer oaths and affirmations.

In case adverse claims shall be made to the same tract, each claimant must be notified of the time and place of taking testimony, and allowed the privilege of cross-examining the opposite witnesses, and of producing counter proof, which should also be subject to cross-examination.

When, by reason of distance, sickness, or infirmity, the witnesses cannot come before the Register of the Land Office, the latter is authorized to receive their depositions; which must be, in all other respects conformable to the within regulations.

The notice to adverse claimants should be in writing, and should be served in time to allow at least a day for every twenty miles the party may have to travel in going to the place of taking evidence. The proof, in all cases, should consist of a simple detail of facts merely, and not of statements in broad or general terms.

The witnesses must state, if the pre-emptor be the "head of a family," the facts which constitute him such, whether a husband having a wife and children, or a widower, or an unmarried person under twenty-one years of age, having a family, either of relatives or others depending upon him, or hired persons, or slaves.

All the facts respecting the settlement in person, inhabitancy or personal residence, the time of commencement, the manner and extent of continuance, as well as those showing the apparent objects, should be stated.

It must be stated that the claimant made the settlement on the land in person; that he has erected a dwelling upon the land; that the claimant lived in it, and made it his home, &c. Should the land officer decide against a claimant, he may appeal to the commissioner of the land office at Washington.

The affidavit of the claimant in reference to the fact of settlement, &c., is not required. The only affidavit required of the claimant is that prescribed by the 13th section of the act. (See form C, hereunto annexed)

No entry must be permitted until this affidavit is taken. Duplicates thereof must be signed by the claimant, and the fact of the oath being taken must be certified by the Register or Receiver administering it; one copy to be filed in the Register's office, and the other to be transmitted to the land office at Washington.

The following is the Act of Congress on which the foregoing is founded:

An Act to appropriate the Proceeds of the Sales of the Public Lands and to grant Pre-Emption Rights.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, every person, being the head of a family, or widow, or single man over the age of twenty-one years, and being a citizen of the United States, or having filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen, as required by the naturalization laws, who, since the first day of June, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty, has made, or shall hereafter make, a settlement in person on the public lands to which the Indian title had been, at the time of such settlement, extinguished, and which has been, or shall have been surveyed prior thereto, and who shall inhabit and improve the same, and who has or shall erect a dwelling thereon, shall be, and is hereby authorized to enter with the register of the land office, for the district in which such land may lie, by legal subdivisions, any number of acres not exceeding one hundred and sixty, or a quarter-section of land, to include the residence of such claimant, upon paying to the United States the minimum price of such land, subject, however, to the following limitations and exceptions: No person shall be entitled to more than one pre-emptive right by virtue of this act; no person who is the proprietor of three hundred and twenty acres of land in any State or Territory of the United States, and no person who shall quit or abandon his residence on his own land to reside on the public land in the same State or Territory, shall acquire any right of pre-emption under this act; no lands included in any reservation, by any treaty, law, or proclamation of the President of the United States, or reserved for salines, or for other purposes; no lands reserved for the support of schools, nor the lands acquired by either of the two last treaties with the Miami tribe of Indians in the State of Indiana, or which may be acquired of the Wyandot tribe of Indians in the State of Ohio, or other Indian reservation to which the title has been or may be extinguished by the United States at any time during the operation of this act; no sections of land reserved to the United States alternate to other sections granted to any of the States for the construction of any canal, railroad, or other public improvement; no sections or fractions of sections included within the limits of any incorporated town: no portions of the public lands which have been selected as the site for a city or town; no parcel or lot of land actually settled and occupied for the purposes of trade and not agriculture; and no lands on which are situated any known salines or mines, shall be liable to entry under and by virtue of the provisions of this act. And so much of the proviso of the act of twenty-second of June, eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, or any order of the President of the United States, as directs certain reservations to be made in favor of certain claims under the treaty of Dancing-rabbit creek, be, and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, That such repeal shall not affect any title to any tract of land secured in virtue of said treaty.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That when two or more persons shall have settled on the same quarter-section of land, the right of pre-emption shall be in him or her who made the first settlement, provided such persons shall conform to the other provisions of this act; and all questions as to the right of pre-emption arising between different settlers shall be settled by the register and receiver of the district within which the land is situated, subject to an appeal to and a revision by the Secretary of the Treasury [Interior] of the United States.

Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, That prior to any entries being made under and by virtue of the provisions of this act, proof of the settlement and improvement thereby required shall be made to the satisfaction of the register and receiver of the land district in which such lands may lie, agreeably to such rules as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, [Interior,] who shall each be entitled to receive fifty cents from each applicant for his services, to be rendered as aforesaid; and all assignments and transfers of the right hereby secured, prior to the issuing of the patent, shall be null and void.

Sec. 13. And be it further enacted, That before any person claiming the benefit of this act shall be allowed to enter such lands, he or she shall make oath before the receiver or register of the land district in which the land is situated (who are hereby authorized to administer the same), that he or she has never had the benefit of any right of pre-emption under this act; that he or she is not the owner of three hundred and twenty acres of land in any State or Territory of the United States, nor hath he or she settled upon and improved said land to sell the same on speculation, but in good faith to appropriate it to his or her own exclusive use or benefit; and that he or she has not, directly or indirectly, made any agreement or contract, in any way or manner, with any person or persons whatsoever, by which the title which he or she might acquire from the government of the United States should inure, in whole or in part, to the benefit of any person except himself or herself; and if any person taking such oath shall swear falsely in the premises, he or she shall be subject to all the pains and penalties of perjury, and shall forfeit the money which he or she may have paid for said land, and all right and title to the same; and any grant or conveyance which he or she may have made, except in the hands of bona fide purchasers, for a valuable consideration, shall be null and void. And it shall be the duty of the officer administering such oath to file a certificate thereof in the public land office of such district, and to transmit a duplicate copy to the General Land Office either on which shall be good and sufficient evidence that such oath was administered according to law.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That this act shall not delay the sale of any of the public lands of the United States beyond the time which has been, or may be appointed by the proclamation of the President; nor shall the provisions of this act be available to any person or persons who shall fail to make the proof and payment and file the affidavit required, before the day appointed for the commencement of the sales as aforesaid.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That whenever any person has settled or shall settle and improve a tract of land, subject at the time of settlement to private entry, and shall intend to purchase the same under the provisions of this act, such person shall, in the first case, within three months after the passage of the same, and in the last, within thirty days next after the date of such settlement, file with the register of the proper district a written statement describing the lands settled upon, and declaring the intention of such person to claim the same under the provisions of this act: and shall, where such settlement is already made, within twelve months after the passage of this act, and where it shall hereafter be made, within the same period after the date of such settlement, make the proof, affidavit, and payment herein required; and if he or she shall fail to file such written statement as aforesaid, or shall fail to make such affidavit, proof, and payment within twelve months aforesaid, the tract of land so settled and improved shall be subject to the entry of any other purchaser.

Approved September 4, 1841.

The act of Congress of the 26th August, 1842, entitled "An act to confirm the sale of public lands in certain cases," contains the following declaration, viz: "That the act of fourth September, eighteen hundred and forty-one, entitled 'An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights,' shall be so construed as not to confer on any one a right of pre-emption, by reason of a settlement made on a tract heretofore sold under a prior pre-emption law, or at private entry, when such prior pre-emption or entry has not been confirmed by the General Land Office, on account of any alleged defect therein, and when such tract has passed into the hands of an innocent and bona fide purchaser."

No entry will, therefore, be permitted, by virtue of the act of 4th September, 1841, of any tract of land sold prior to 26th August of that year, whether by pre-emption or private entry, where such entry has been rejected by the General Land Office at Washington; provided the land so purchased has, prior to that time, "passed into the hands of an innocent bona fide purchaser."

All transfers or assignments to third persons are presumed to be to "innocent and bona fide purchasers," unless the contrary is shown by satisfactory evidence.

The Register of every land office will require of every claimant satisfactory proof that he had not left his "own land in the same State or Territory," to make the settlement by virtue of which he claims a right under the act of 4th September, 1841.

Lands subject to private entry, at the time of the settlement thereon.

cannot be entered by the settler, under the law of 4th September, unless he shall file a declaratory statement, such as the 15th section of the act requires, and in due time produce the necessary proof of his right, and make the affidavit required by the law.

Where such settler, instead of entering the land, as he might, at private entry, elects to enter the same under the provisions of the law of 4th September, 1841, (whereby he obtains a year's time from the date of the settlement to make the payment,) he is bound to comply with all the requirements of that law. A failure to do so, in regard to any of these requirements, renders the land subject to the entry "of any other purchaser." Instances have transpired where persons filed the declaratory statement, as required, without any improvements having been made, merely with a view of keeping the land from being entered by any other person for a year, intending near the expiration of that time to abandon their pretended pre-emption claim, and enter the same at private entry. The consummation of all such cases must be prevented by the land agent, who is authorized to exact a rigid compliance with all the provisions of the law, as above directed.

A claimant is bound to prove his right to, and enter all the land embraced by his declaratory statement, if liable to the operation of the act.

Declaratory statements are required only "for land subject to private entry," at the time of settlement, and they will not be received, if presented for any other land; nor will they be received for forty-acre* lots, unless they are "residuary" ones, such minor subdivisions, with the exception of residuary† tracts, not being liable to the operation of the act of 4th September, 1841. The law provides only for settlements made since 1st June, 1840. Where, therefore, parties have made settlements prior to that time, and have not availed themselves of the privileges of the pre-emption act of 1st June, 1840, their own neglect has deprived them of any right of pre-emption founded on such settlements.

The proof filed by every claimant, must show the time ‡ of the commencement of settlement.

The affidavit of the claimant required by the 15th section of the act must be taken "before the Register or Receiver of the land district in which the land is situated" before an entry is permitted, and must be of the same date with the certificate of entry. An affidavit before any other person will not justify the land agent in permitting the entry of the land claimed.

The law confers only on the first settler the right of pre-emption. The question of priority will, in all cases, be decided by the land agent.

* By an act of 8th May, 1846, forty-acre tracts, whether of "offered" or "unoffered" land, are rendered subject to pre-emption.

† Where an entry has been made of one forty-acre lot of a legal eighty acre subdivision, in virtue of the act of 6th April, 1832, entitled "An act supplementary to the several laws for the sale of the public lands," the congruous forty-acre lot of such legal subdivision is called the "residuary quarter-quarter."

‡ This date is all important for the purpose of determining in all cases whether the settlement was made within the proper time, and in those where the declaratory statement is required, whether such statement was filed in due season and the entry made within the legal period after the settlement.

but an appeal may be taken from such decision to the Secretary of the Interior, at Washington, upon the receipt of which by the land agent, the entry can be made by the person in whose favor the decision may be.

The following is an Act to authorize the investigation of alleged frauds under the pre-emption laws, and for other purposes:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the Commissioner of the General Land Office be, and he hereby is authorized to appoint a competent agent, whose duty it shall be, under direction of said Commissioner, to investigate, upon oath, the cases of fraud under the pre-emption laws alleged to exist in the Columbus land district, in the State of Mississippi, referred to in the late annual report of said Commissioner, communicated to Congress by letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, dated December the fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-two; and that such agent shall examine all witnesses who may be brought before him by the individual or individuals alleging the fraud, as well as those witnesses who may be produced by the parties in interest to sustain said claims ; and that he be, and is hereby invested with power to administer to such witnesses an oath to speak the truth in regard to any question which may be deemed necessary to the full examination of the cases so alleged to be fraudulent ; and such testimony shall be reduced to writing, and subscribed by each witness, and the same returned to the Commissioner, with the opinion of said agent or each claim ; and any witness, so examined before the said agent, who shall swear wilfully and falsely in regard to any matter or thing touching such examination, shall be subject, on conviction, to all the pains and penalties of perjury ; and it shall be the duty of the Commissioner to decide the cases thus returned, and finally to settle the matter in controversy, subject alone to an appeal to the Secretary of the Treasury. Provided, That the power conferred by this section upon such agent is hereby limited to the term of one year from and after the date of this act ; and the compensation to be paid to said agent shall not exceed three dollars per day for each day he may be necessarily engaged in the performance of the duties required by this section.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That in any case where a party entitled to claim the benefits of any of the pre-emption laws, shall have died before consummating his claim by filing, in due time, all the papers essential to the establishment of the same, it shall be competent for the executor or administrator of the estate of such party, or one of the heirs, to file the necessary papers to complete the same : Provided, That the entry in such cases shall be made in favor of "the heirs" of the deceased pre-emptor, and a patent thereon shall cause the title to inure to said heirs as if their names had been specially mentioned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That every settler on section sixteen, reserved for the use of schools, or on the other reserves or land covered by private claims of others which was not surveyed at the time of such settlement, and who shall otherwise come within the provisions of the several pre-emption laws in force at the time of the settlement, upon proof thereof before the register of the proper land office, shall be entitled to enter, at the minimum price, at any other quarter-section, or fractional section, or fractional quarter-section, in the land district in which such school section or reserve or private claim may lie, so as not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres, not reserved from sale or in the occupancy of any actual bona fide settler : Provided, Such settlement was made before the date of the act of fourth of September, eighteen hundred and forty-one, and after extinguishment of the Indian title.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That where an individual has filed, under the late pre-emption law, his declaration of intention to claim the benefits of said law for one tract of land, it shall not be lawful for the same individual at any future time to file a second declaration for another tract.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That claimants under the late pre-emption law, for land not yet proclaimed for sale, are required to make known their claims in writing, to the register of the proper land office, within three months from the date of this act when the settlement has been already made, and within three months from the time of the settlement when such settlement shall hereafter be made, giving the designation of the tract and the time of settlement ; otherwise his claim to be forfeited, and the tract awarded to the next settler, in the order of time, on the same tract of land, who shall have given such notice, and otherwise complied with the conditions of the law.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That whenever the vacancy of the office either of register or receiver, or of both, shall render it impossible for the claimant to comply with any requisition of any of the pre-emption laws within the appointed time, such vacancy shall not operate to the detriment of the party claiming in respect to any matter essential to the establishment of his claim: Provided, That such requisition is complied with within the same period after the disability is removed, as would have been allowed him had such disability not existed.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That where a settler on the public lands may reside on a quarter-section, a fractional quarter-section, or a fraction of a section less than one hundred and sixty acres, and cultivated land on any other and different tract of either of the descriptions aforesaid, he or she shall be entitled, under the act of June twenty-two, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight, to the same privileges of a choice between two legal subdivisions of each, so as to include his or her house and farm, not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres in all, as is granted by the first section of that act to settlers residing on a quarter-section and cultivating on another and different quarter.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That where two or more persons are residing on any of the species of tracts specified in section seven of this act, as required by the acts of the twenty-second of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight, and first of June, one thousand eight hundred and forty, and any one or more of said settlers may have cultivated land during the period of residence required by either of said acts on another and different tract, or other and different tracts, the latter-mentioned settlers shall be entitled to the option of entering the tract lived on, jointly with the other or others, or of abandoning the tract lived on to those who have not cultivated land as above required, and entering the tract or tracts cultivated, so as not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres to any one settler, who, by virtue of this section, is entitled to a separate entry; or such joint settlers may jointly enter the tract so jointly occupied by them, and, in addition, enter other contiguous unoccupied land, by legal subdivisions, so as not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres in all to each of such joint settlers: Provided, That the extended privileges granted to pre-emptors by this act shall not be construed to deprive any other actual settler of his or her previous and paramount right of pre-emption, or to extend to lands reserved for any purpose whatever.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That all persons coming within the tenth section of the act of the fourth of September, eighteen hundred and forty-one, entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emption rights," shall be entitled to the right of pre-emption under its provisions, notwithstanding such persons claiming the pre-emption shall have settled upon and improved the lands claimed before the same were surveyed: Provided, Such settlements were made before the date of the aforesaid act, and after the extinguishment of the Indian title. And said act shall not be so construed as to preclude any person who may have filed a notice of intention to

to be paid by the person making the application at the time of so doing, and the other half on the issue of the certificate by the person to whom it may be issued; but this shall not be construed to enlarge the maximum of compensation now prescribed by law for any register or receiver: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to impair or interfere in any manner whatever with existing preëmption rights: And provided, further, That all persons who may have filed their applications for a preëmption right prior to the passage of this act, shall be entitled to all privileges of this act: Provided, further, That no person who has served, or may hereafter serve, for a period of not less than fourteen days in the army or navy of the United States, either regular or volunteer, under the laws thereof, during the existence of an actual war, domestic or foreign, shall be deprived of the benefits of this act on account of not having attained the age of twenty-one years.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the fifth section of the act entitled "An act in addition to an act more effectually to provide for the punishment of certain crimes against the United States, and for other purposes," approved the third of March, in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, shall extend to all oaths, affirmations and affidavits, required or authorized by this act.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent any person who has availed him or herself of the benefits of the first section of this act, from paying the minimum price, or the price to which the same may have graduated, for the quantity of land so entered at any time before the expiration of the five years, and obtaining a patent therefor from the government, as in other cases provided by law, on making proof of settlement and cultivation as provided by existing laws granting preëmption rights.

COLLECTION OF DEBTS.

MAINE.—A debtor within the State may be arrested on any judgment or contract, amounting to or exceeding the sum of ten dollars, if he is about to leave the State, and it can be proven on oath by the creditor that the debtor has means more than sufficient for his immediate use.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.—A debtor may be arrested in this State, if the creditor can prove on oath that he is indebted to him in a writ of execution in the sum of thirteen dollars and thirty-three cents or over, and that there is good reason to believe that he is about to leave the State to avoid the payment of his debts, or that he is concealing his property for the same purpose. The debtor, on his arrest, may demand to be led before two Justices of the Peace; and if the magistrates are satisfied, from his affidavit and such evidence as he may bring forward, that he neither conceals his property nor designs to leave the State, they may order his discharge. [No female can be arrested for debt in this State.]

VERMONT.—In this State, no resident citizen of any of the United States can be arrested for debt, unless it can be satisfactorily proved that he is about to abscond from the State with money or other property secreted about his person or elsewhere, to the amount of twenty dollars or more, or sufficient to satisfy the claim for which the writ against him is issued. The writ of attachment may issue against his goods, chattels or estate, and, if none can be found, then against his body. [No female can be arrested for debt in Vermont.]

MASSACHUSETTS.—No person shall be arrested on mesne process in an action of contract, unless the plaintiff, or some person in his behalf, makes affidavit and proves: First, That he has a good cause of action, and reasonable expectation of recovering a sum amounting to twenty dollars, exclusive of all costs which have accrued in any former action. Second, That he believes, the defendant has property not exempt from being taken from execution, which he does not intend to apply to the payment of the plaintiff's claim: and Third, that he believes that the defendant intends to leave the state, so that execution, if obtained, cannot be served upon him: or (instead of the second or third) that the defendant is an attorney at law; that the debt is for money collected by the defendant for the plaintiff, and that the defendant unreasonably neglects to pay the same. No person shall be arrested on mesne process in an action of tort, unless it is proved that the plaintiff believes that he has a good cause of action against the defendant, that he has a reasonable expectation of recovering a sum equal to one-third the damages claimed in the writ, and that he has reason to believe that the defendant is likely to remove beyond the jurisdiction of the court. No person shall be arrested on an execution, except in actions of tort, unless after execution is issued amounting to twenty dollars, exclusive of all cost, it is proved that the debtor has property not exempt from being taken on execution, which he does not attempt to apply for the payment of the plaintiff's claim; or, that since the debt was contracted, or the cause of action accrued, the debtor has fraudulently conveyed, concealed, or otherwise disposed of some part of his estate, with a design to secure the same to his own use or defraud his creditors; or, that since the said time, the debtor has hazarded and paid money or other property to the value of one hundred dollars or more in some kind of gaming prohibited by the law of this state; or, that since that time, the debtor has wilfully misused his estate for the purpose of enabling himself to swear that he has not any estate to the amount of twenty dollars, except such as is exempt from being taken on exemption. If the action was founded on contract, it must be proved, that the debtor contracted the debt with the intention not to pay the same; or, that the defendant is an attorney at law, and that the same unreasonably neglects to pay the money collected by the defendant to the plaintiff. No person shall be arrested on mesne process in a civil action for slander or libel; no woman shall be arrested on any civil process except for tort. When arrested on mesne process the defendant shall be allowed reasonable time to procure bail, and when arrested in such process in action of contract, or on execution, he shall be allowed reasonable time for his recognizance.

All real estate, goods and chattels, liable to be taken on execution (except such goods and chattels as, from their nature or situation, have been considered as exempt according to the principles of the common law as adopted and practised in this state) may be attached upon the original writ, in every action in which debt or damages are recoverable, and held as security to satisfy such judgment as the plaintiff may recover: provided, that no attachment of lands or tenements shall be made on a writ returnable before a justice of the peace, or police court, unless the debt or damage demanded therein exceed twenty dollars. Different attachments may be made successfully upon the same writ, but no further attachment shall be made after the summons is served. Excessive attachments may be reduced on application to the court.

RHODE ISLAND.—A debtor can be arrested in civil actions. Imprisonment for debt is not in on contracts made since July, 1870. No female can be arrested on original writ in any action founded on contract not under seal. The limits of each county are the limits of its jail-yard, and any person imprisoned in any civil action founded on contract made previous to July 1, 1870, or execution may have the liberty of the jail-yard by leaving with the sheriff a bond to the creditor, with two sureties.

CONNECTICUT.—No person can be arrested for debt in this State unless it can be proved that he employed fraud or made false representations in contracting the debt; or that he conceals effects not exempt from attachment to prevent their being seized by legal process ; or refuses to pay his creditor or creditors holding judgments against him when he is possessed of sufficient means to do so ; or refuses to disclose his rights of action ; or in an action on a promise to marry ; or for misconduct or neglect in office ; or in a professional employment ; or as trustee or in a fiduciary capacity

NEW YORK.—A debtor may be arrested in this State only when it can be proved that he used fraud in contracting the debt, or that he concealed or put his property out of his hands for the purpose of defeating his creditors. But before the complainant can obtain the order of arrest, he must give security to the Judge before whom the case is to be tried, that he will pay all costs and damages consequent upon the arrest, in case the defendant should succeed in recovering judgment. The defendant, when arrested, may give bail, by causing a written undertaking to be executed by two or more responsible bondsmen in the sum demanded by the Judge, to the effect that he—the defendant—will at all times hold himself in readiness to respond to any call made for his appearance at the Court. His sureties may, at any time previous to the termination of the suit, withdraw their bonds for his appearance ; or the defendant may surrender himself to the Sheriff, who will detain him till the rendering of the verdict. [Females are liable to arrest in this State only in cases of wilful injury to person, character, or property.]

NEW-JERSEY.—A debtor suspected of fraud towards his creditors may be arrested in this State ; but he may be discharged from such arrest if he make out and deliver to the officer arresting him a true inventory under oath of all his property, real and personal, and give security to the plaintiff in double the amount claimed, that he will appear before the next court holden in the county where the arrest is made, and petition for the benefit of the insolvent laws. In case of forfeiture of the bond, the plaintiff may bring an action thereon, and recover the debt, damages, and costs. If any shall make oath that his debtor has absconded from the State, he may obtain an attachment against the property of such debtor, wherever it may be found ; and the writ of attachment holds the property of the defendant from the time of the execution of the same. All conveyances of the property attached made by the defendant pending the attachment, are void against the plaintiff and creditors who became parties to the attachment. [All females are exempt from arrest for debt.]

PENNSYLVANIA.—A debtor cannot be arrested for debt in this State, except when he is about to remove any part of his property out of the jurisdiction of the court in which suit is brought, with intent to defraud his creditors ; or when he has disposed or is about to dispose of his property, or secrete it, to defeat the claims of his creditors ; or when he has rights in action, or interest in any public or corporate stock, or evidences of money due him, which he refuses to apply to the payment of any judgment or judgments against him; or when he has employed fraud in incurring the debt. His property may be attached when he is about to remove it, in whole or in part, from the county in which he has been accustomed to reside; when he remains absent from the State, or confines himself to his own house, or otherwise conceals himself, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors.

MARYLAND.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist in this State. Any creditor may, on a judgment, attach the real or personal estate, or rights in and of action of his debtor. If the debtor is not a citizen of the State, and does not reside therein, or if he is a fugitive from justice, or has removed from his usual residence, with intent to injure or defraud his creditors, the latter may obtain an attachment against his property, real and personal, and also against his rights in action.

DELAWARE.—Imprisonment for debt in this State exists only when it can be shown that the debtor has secreted or conveyed away his property to defraud his creditor or creditors. The party making the complaint must set forth the alleged fraudulent conveyance, and state upon oath that the defendant is justly indebted to him in a sum exceeding five dollars, and that he verily believes the defendant has secreted or otherwise disposed of property over the value of twenty-five dollars, with the view of defrauding his creditors. There are two kinds of attachment for debt, viz: the domestic and the foreign; under the former, an attachment may issue against a resident when it can be shown that he is justly indebted to plaintiff in the sum of fifty dollars or over, and has, as is believed, absconded for the purpose of wronging his creditors of their dues; under the latter, when it can be shown that the defendant resides out of the State, and is justly indebted to plaintiff in the sum of fifty dollars and upward.

VIRGINIA.—There is no imprisonment for debt in this State. When a suit is instituted for debt or for damages on breach of contract, the complainant may obtain an attachment against the estate of the defendant (whether resident or non-resident) for the amount stated.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist. When a debtor has removed, or is removing privily out of the county, or absents himself, so that process cannot be served upon him, an attachment may issue against the estate, real and personal, of such debtor, wherever the same may be found. An attachment may also issue in favor of a resident of the State against the estate of a non-resident.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—When a debt exceeds the sum of thirty dollars and sixty-two cents, the debtor may be arrested and held to ball, upon an affidavit of the amount of the debt being annexed to the process. A debtor about to abscond before the maturity of his debt may also be arrested and held to bail. Attachments may be issued against the property of a debtor residing out of the State; against a debtor who is making preparations to abscond from the State; against a debtor who is removing, or about to remove from the district (the State is divided into districts instead of counties), and against a debtor who secretes himself, so that process cannot be served upon him.

GEORGIA.—In cases where a debt is not due, and the debtor is removing, or about to remove from the State, an affidavit of such fact, and of the amount of the debt, is sufficient to authorize the issue of an attachment against the property of such debtor.

Unmarried women, or widows, cannot be arrested for debt.

In any case pending a suit, if the debtor attempt to leave the State, or convey his property away, to the injury of his creditors an attachment may immediately issue against his property.

Attachments may issue against the real and personal estate of a debtor residing without the limits of the State, whether the creditor resides within the State or not.

When a debtor is arrested or imprisoned for debt, and shall make it evident to the court that he is insolvent, and shall deliver a schedule of his real and personal estate, debts, credits, and effects, and shall take the insolvent's oath, he shall obtain a discharge from imprisonment; and every creditor so discharged shall not be liable to arrest or imprisonment for any debt contracted before his discharge.

ALABAMA.—A debtor may be arrested in this State on showing that he is preparing to abscond; that he has fraudulently disposed of his property; that he withholds property liable for his debts; that he secretes himself to avoid process; that he resides out of the State; or that he is about to remove his property from the State, whereby the plaintiff may lose his debt, or be compelled to sue for it in another State. Attachments, auxiliary to pending suits, may be sued out on the same grounds as original attachments. A debtor may get himself discharged from arrest by making an affidavit that the complaint on which he was arrested is not true, and that he is possessed of nothing with which to satisfy the debt; or, by rendering a schedule of his property, real and personal, and making an affidavit that he is not possessed of property to the value of twenty dollars, other than what is mentioned in the schedule, except such property as is by law exempt from execution, and that he has not disposed of property to secure it to his own use, or to defraud his creditors. This oath may, however, be impeached or controverted by the plaintiff. If the debtor be convicted of rendering a false or fraudulent schedule, he is liable to one year's imprisonment.

FLORIDA.—Imprisonment for debt exists not in this State. An attachment may issue against the estate of a debtor upon an affidavit that a debt is due, or becoming due, within nine months; that the debtor is removing, or about to remove, from the State; that he has absconded, or is about to abscond; that he conceals himself so that process cannot be served; or that he is secreting or otherwise disposing of his property, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors.

MISSISSIPPI.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist. Attachments may be issued against the property of a debtor when it can be made apparent to any Judge of the Supreme Court, or any Justice of the Peace of any county, that the debtor has removed, or is about to remove, his effects from the State; or that he conceals himself, so that process cannot be served upon him; or that he incurred the debt by fraudulent representations. As in New-York, however, the plaintiff must give a bond to secure the payment of all costs and damages that may be recovered against him by the defendant.

LOUISIANA.—Females and non-residents are exempt from arrest on civil contracts in this State. A debtor can be arrested before judgment, upon affidavit that he is about to quit the State, without leaving in it sufficient property to satisfy the judgment which the creditor expects to obtain. But after judgment, he cannot be arrested to compel the payment thereof. When a creditor believes that a third person has in his possession certain property belonging to his debtor, he may cite such person to declare on oath what property he has in his possession belonging to the defendant, and to what amount he is indebted to said defendant, notwithstanding the debt is not fully due. Attachments may issue against the property of a debtor when it shall appear that he is about to quit the State, or where he has already left the State, never to return, or in case he resides out of the State; or where he secretes himself to avoid process. A debtor's property may also be attached in the hands of third persons to secure the payment of a debt, whether the amount be liquidated or not, provided the time of payment has arrived, and the creditor state expressly and positively the amount which he claims. But plaintiff, in conjunction with one good and solvent surety, residing within the jurisdiction of the court to which the petition for attachment is presented, must give security for the payment of any damages which may ensue, should it be decided that the attachment was wrongfully obtained.

KENTUCKY.—Attachments may issue for the recovery of money upon a contract where the action is against one or more defendants, who, or some one of whom, reside out of the State; or who has been absent from the State during a period of four months; or has departed from the State with intent to defraud his creditors; or has left the county in which he usually resides for the purpose of avoiding process; or conceals himself so that summons cannot be served upon him, or who is about to remove his property or some portion of it, from the State, not leaving sufficient to satisfy the claims of plaintiff; or who has or is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors. Security must be given by the plaintiff to satisfy the defendant's damages, if it be proved that the order was wrongfully obtained.

ILLINOIS.—An attachment may issue against the body of a debtor refusing to surrender his property, real and personal, for the satisfaction of any execution that may be issued against it; also, when it can be shown that a debtor has employed fraud, either in incurring a debt or in concealing, removing, or otherwise disposing of his property for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. These are the only cases in which a party may be arrested for debt. Attachments may issue against the property of a debtor who is preparing to remove the same from the State; also, against the property of a non-resident, when the sum of his indebtedness exceeds twenty dollars.

INDIANA.—Before special bail can be required, the plaintiff must file an affidavit with the clerk of the court where the suit is instituted, setting forth his right to recover an existing debt or damages from the defendant, and that he believes the latter is about to leave the State, taking with him property subject to execution, or money on effects which should be applied in satisfaction of plaintiff's debt or damages; defendant's object being to defraud said plaintiff. No warrant for arrest can be delivered to an officer, until an order for special bail is obtained and endorsed on such writ. Attachments may issue against the real and personal property of a debtor, when it shall be shown that he has left the State, or is making arrangements for that purpose, with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid process; or that he keeps himself concealed so that process cannot be served upon him, with intent to create delay or defraud his creditors. But no attachment can issue against a debtor so long as his wife and family remain settled within the county where his usual place of residence may have been prior to his absence; provided such absence is not prolonged more than one year, and no attempt made to conceal his absence, and that he shall not be secretly transferring, conveying, or removing his property or effects, by which the payment of his debts may be evaded. Should his wife or family refuse to account for his absence, or to state where he may be found, or give a false account of either; or be unable to account for his absence; or to tell where he may be found; it shall be deemed an attempt to conceal his absence, and attachment may at once issue against his estate.

OHIO.—No female, nor any officer or soldier of the Revolutionary war, can be arrested or imprisoned in any case where the action is founded on contract; neither can any person be imprisoned for debt, except in cases of fraud. An execution against the person of a debtor, and requiring his committal to the county jail until he satisfy the judgment, or is otherwise lawfully discharged, may issue upon any judgment for the payment of money, in the event of the judgment debtor having removed, or commenced to remove, any of his property out of the jurisdiction of the court, in order to prevent the collection of money due on the judgment; or when he is possessed of property which he fraudulently conceals with like intent; or when he has disposed of his property, or any part thereof, to prevent its being taken in execution; or if he fraudulently contracted the debt on which the judgment is rendered; or when he was arrested on an order before judgment, and has not been discharged as an insolvent debtor, or the order has not been set aside. Plaintiff must, in all cases, give a bond, with sufficient sureties, to pay the defendant any damages which may ensue from a wrongful attachment, not exceeding double the amount of the claim. A creditor, on giving a like bond, may make a similar affidavit before his amount is due, and on his filing it with the clerk of the court of common pleas, an attachment may issue against the property, real or personal, of the debtor. In such actions, plaintiff cannot have judgment until the claim is due.

MISSOURI.—Attachment may issue against a debtor when he does not reside within the limits of the State; when he secretes himself, to avoid process; when he has absconded; when he cannot be found at his usual place of abode; when he has removed, or is about to remove his property; when he has fraudulently conveyed, or concealed, or otherwise disposed of his property; when he is about to fraudulently convey, conceal, or otherwise dispose of his property, so as to hinder or delay his creditors; or when the debt was contracted out of the State, and the debtor has absconded, or secretly removed his property into the State with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors. In any of these cases of fraudulent disposition of property, the attachment may issue, even though the debt be not fully due. Before the attachment can issue, however, affidavit must be made by plaintiff, or his attorney, that defendant is justly indebted to plaintiff in the sum claimed, after allowing all just credits and offsets; the nature of said debt, and that deponent has good reason to believe the existence of one or more of the before-mentioned causes, entitling him to an attachment. This affidavit may be put in issue by defendant, in which case plaintiff must prove the facts stated in the ground of his attachment. The plaintiff must give a bond, with one or more responsible sureties, who must be resident householders of the county in which the suit is brought, in a sum at least double the amount of the demand, for the payment of such damages as may ensue, in the event of a baseless attachment. Imprisonment for debt has no existence in this State.

MICHIGAN.—A debtor may be held to bail when it can be shown that he is about removing any portion of his property out of the jurisdiction of the court in which the suit is brought, with intent to defraud his creditors; that he has property or rights in action, or some interest in any public or corporate stock, or money, or evidence of debt, which he unjustly refuses to apply in satisfaction of such judgment as may have been rendered against him; that he fraudulently conceals such property; that he has removed, assigned or otherwise disposed of, or is about to remove, assign, or dispose of any of his property, or rights in action, with intent to defraud his creditors; that he fraudulently contracted the debt in respect to which the suit is instituted; that he resides without the State, and has done so for a period of three months immediately preceding the time of making application for the attachment; or that defendant is a foreign corporation.

ARKANSAS.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist. No debtor can be arrested except upon affidavit by plaintiff, supported by the affidavit of some disinterested and credible person, to the effect that fraud has been committed, and a statement of the facts justifying such allegation. An attachment may issue against the property of a debtor, provided plaintiff shall, at the time of filing the declaration, likewise file an affidavit to the effect that the defendant is justly indebted to the plaintiff in a sum exceeding one hundred dollars, and stating the amount, and also that the defendant is not a resident of this State, or that he is about to remove out of this State, or that he is about to remove his goods and effects out of this State, or that he so secretes himself that process cannot be served on him. A bond in double the amount claimed must be given, conditioned for the payment of such damages as may be awarded against plaintiff. When the amount claimed is one hundred dollars or less, a Justice of the Peace may issue an attachment.

TENNESSEE.—Attachments may issue against the property of debtors resident within the limits of the State, whenever the sheriff of the county makes affidavit that the defendant is not to be found in his county; also, when a creditor makes oath that the debtor has absconded or secreted himself, so that process cannot be served upon him; or that he is removing or about to remove himself or his property out of the State; or that he is secreting or disposing of his property, or that he is a non-resident. Plaintiff must likewise state in his affidavit the amount of his claim. Citizens of other States may sue in the circuit courts of the State or of the United States. Judgment may be obtained by sureties and accommodation endorsers on motion, without notice, against their principals or co-sureties, for their proportion of the debt. Sureties and creditors can, after obtaining judgment, recover from any person who may have received usurious interest from their principal or debtor, the amount over and above the legal rate of interest so received; and this excess of interest in all cases constitutes a fund in the hands of the usurer for the payment of the demands of bona fide creditors. Execution issues against the real or personal property of the defendant immediately after the rendering of the judgment, and may be levied and a bond taken by the officer, with security for the delivery, on or before the first day of the term of court succeeding that in which execution issued, of sufficient property to satisfy the judgment; and in the event of the forfeiture of this bond, a writ authorizing a sale issues against defendant's property, and that of his surety, or the officer may proceed to sell under the original execution, and in case the amount is not raised by the second term after judgment, defendant and his sureties are liable. Imprisonment for debt does not exist.

TEXAS.—The constitution of this State expressly forbids the arrest of any person for debt. Attachments can be issued only against property, except in cases of fraud. An attachment may be sued out against a debtor when a summons to answer to a civil suit shall be returned by the sheriff, the debtor not being found in the county; and the attachment may be levied upon the property, real or personal, of said debtor. To obtain a writ of attachment, plaintiff or his agent must make an affidavit to the effect that the defendant is justly indebted to him in the sum claimed; that the defendant does not reside within the State, or that he is about to remove therefrom; or that he secretes himself, so that process cannot be served; or that he is about to remove his property out of the State, and that the attachment is not sued out for the purpose of injuring the defendant. The judges and clerks of district courts and justices of the peace may issue original attachments, returnable to their respective courts. When making the affidavit, plaintiff, with two or more sureties, must give a bond, in double the amount due, conditioned that he will prosecute the suit to effect, and that he will pay such damages as may be adjudged against him for wrongfully suing out such attachment. Writs of sequestration may issue under the following circumstances, viz: 1st. When a person sues for the title or possession of a slave, or other movable property or chattels, and makes affidavit that he fears the defendant, or party in possession thereof, will injure or ill treat such slave, or waste such property, or remove the same out of the State during the pendency of the suit. 2dly. When a person sues for the foreclosure of a mortgage, or the enforcement of a lien upon a slave, or other movable property, and swears that he fears the defendant will injure such slave, or waste such property, or remove such slave or property out of the county. 3dly. When any person sues for the title or possession of real property, and makes oath that he fears the defendant, or party in possession thereof, may make use of his possession to injure such property, or to waste the fruits and revenue produced by the same or convert them to his own use. 4thly. When any person sues for the title or possession of any property from which he has been ejected by force or violence, and shall make affidavit of such facts. and 5thly. When a married woman sues for a divorce, and makes oath that she fears that her husband will waste her separate or their common property, or the fruits of revenue produced by either, or remove the same out of the State during the pendency of the suit.

ICWA.—Arrest for debt cannot take place in this State, except on proof of fraud. Attachment may issue by the clerk of a district court in an action founded on contract, provided that plaintiff makes an affidavit stating as near as possible the amount due him by defendant: that he has good reason to believe the defendant is about to dispose of or remove his property with intent to defraud his creditors; that he has absconded or secreted himself, so that process cannot be served upon him; or that he is a non-resident of the State. The writ may be levied upon defendant's estate, real or personal, found in the county; or upon so much of the same as may be sufficient to satisfy the debt, together with interest and costs of suit.

WISCONSIN.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist. Attachment may issue when the amount claimed exceeds one hundred dollars over and above all effects, upon an affidavit by plaintiff to the effect that defendant is indebted to him in the sum claimed, and that said sum is due on contract, express or implied, or upon judgment or decree; that plaintiff knows or believes that defendant has absconded or is about to abscond from the State, or that he has concealed himself to delay and injure his creditors; or that he has assigned, concealed, or otherwise disposed of his property, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors; or that he has removed or is about to remove property from the State with the like intent; or that he fraudulently contracted the debt; or that he has fraudulently conveyed or disposed of his property, or a part of it, or is about to do so, with intent to defraud his creditors; or that he is a non-resident of the State, or is a foreign corporation. Attachments may issue in these cases when the amount claimed by plaintiff in the affidavit exceeds five dollars over and above offsets, and the defendant resides in another county, and over one hundred miles from the office of the Justice.

CALIFORNIA.—No female can be arrested in any civil action. A debtor may be arrested when fraud has been employed in incurring the debt; or when he has concealed, removed, or disposed of his property, or is about to do so, with intent to defraud his creditors. Before attachment can issue, plaintiff or his agent must prove the facts set forth in his affidavit; he must also execute a guarantee with two or more sureties, to pay defendant all costs and damages that may be sustained in consequence of the arrest, to the amount of at least two hundred dollars. The officer serving the writ must notify the plaintiff when the arrest is made. Defendant may demand an immediate trial, and it must be had within three hours, (unless the trial of another action is pending,) otherwise defendant is discharged. If the plaintiff obtain judgment in this trial, he may obtain another arrest on the same ground as the first. Defendant may be discharged upon giving an undertaking, with two satisfactory sureties, binding themselves in the amount named in the order of arrest, that he will render himself amenable to the process of the Court. Attachment may issue against the property real or personal, of a debtor for an obligation founded on contract for the payment of money in the State, whether the contract was made in the State or not. In cases of attachment, it matters not whether plaintiff or defendant be a citizen or an alien, so long as the demand grows out of a California contract. When a sale on execution takes place, the personal estate must be first disposed of; then the real property, or so much of it as is requisite to satisfy the demand. The debtor may at any time, within six months after the sale, redeem all real estate, except leasehold, of unexpired terms of less than two years, by paying the amount for which it was sold, with eighteen per cent. interest thereon. The purchaser is entitled to receive rent from any person who may be in possession, except the debtor.

MINNESOTA.—The constitution of this State expressly forbids the arrest of any person for debt. Attachments can be issued only against a debtor when the plaintiff or complainant shall seek to charge the defendant with fraud, the concealment of goods, property, or money, or with bad faith, touching any pecuniary or business transaction, such plaintiff or complainant shall, in all such cases, be left to his suit against the defendant, in and by which, in his pleadings, he shall charge the defendant with such fraud, concealment, &c., in as clear and distinct a manner as the case shall permit, to which the defendant shall answer or plead, and the facts arising or elicited upon such pleadings, and the accompanying evidence, shall be submitted to the jury, as in criminal cases. The plaintiff, in an action to recover the possession of personal property, may, at the time of issuing the summons, or at any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of such property. When a delivery is claimed, an affidavit must be made by the plaintiff, or by some one in his behalf, showing: 1. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property claimed, (particularly describing it,) or is lawfully entitled to the possession thereof, the facts in respect to which must be set forth. 2. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant. 3. The alleged cause of the detention thereof, according to his best knowledge, information, and belief. 4. The actual value of the property. The plaintiff may, thereupon by indorsement in writing upon the affidavit, require the Sheriff of the county where the property claimed may be, to take the same from the defendant and deliver it to the plaintiff.

OREGON.—A debtor may be arrested in this State, if the creditor can prove on oath that the said debtor is not a resident of the State, or has departed therefrom, or that there is good reason to believe that he is about to leave the State, with the intent to delay or defraud his creditors, or to avoid the service of a summons; or that he has assigned, secreted, or disposed of, or is about to assign, secrete, or dispose of his property, or any part thereof, with the intent to delay or defraud his creditors; or, that the debt was fraudulently contracted.

Before executing a writ, the Sheriff to whom it is directed shall require a written undertaking, on the part of the plaintiff, with one or more sureties, in a sum not less than one hundred dollars, nor exceeding the amount claimed by the plaintiff, to the effect that if the defendant recover judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—No person can be imprisoned on any judgment rendered by a single magistrate, or in any case where the judgment, exclusive of costs, shall not exceed twenty dollars; but that in such cases execution shall be only on the goods and chattels of the debtor, and shall issue by order of the justice who may have taken cognizance of the action, from the clerk's office, and shall be returnable thereto. Attachments may issue against the property of absconding debtors, and others, whose persons cannot be arrested.

KANSAS.—No person in this State can be arrested, held to bail, or imprisoned for debt. Creditors, however, whose demands amount to fifty dollars, may sue their debtors in any court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, by attachment, in the following cases: First. Where the debtor is not a resident of, nor resides within this State. Second. Where the debtor conceals himself, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him. Third. Where the debtor has absconded or absented himself from his ordinary place of abode in this State, so that the process of law cannot be served upon him. Fourth. Where the debtor is about to remove his property or effects out of this State, with the intent to defraud, hinder, or delay his creditors. Fifth. Where the debtor has fraudulently conveyed or assigned, or fraudulently concealed or disposed, or is about, fraudulently, to convey or assign his property or effects, so as to hinder or delay his creditors. Sixth. Where the debt was contracted out of this State, and the debtor has absconded or secretly removed his property or effects into this State, with the intent to defraud hinder, or delay his creditors. An affidavit, alleging any one of these causes, shall be held and adjudged good and sufficient.

NEBRASKA.—Any person may be arrested in this state for debt, and an attachment may issue when any person or persons shall file an affidavit before any judge or justice of the peace, stating the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that is just, and the amount thereof, as nearly as may be, and establishing one or more of the following particulars. First. That the defendant has removed, or begun to remove, any of his property out of the jurisdiction of the court, with intent to defraud his creditors; that he has begun to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; that he has property, or rights of action, which he fraudulently conceals; that he has assigned, removed, disposed of, or has begun to dispose of his property, or a part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors; that he fraudulently contracted the debt, or incurred the obligation, for which suit is about to be, or has been brought. The affidavit shall also contain a statement of the facts claimed to justify the belief in the existence of one or more of the above particulars.

The order of arrest shall not be issued by the clerk of the court, until there has been executed, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a written undertaking, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay to the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the arrest, if the order be wrongfully obtained, not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim stated in the affidavit.

UTAH.—Attachments may issue within the limits of this territory, when any person or persons shall file an affidavit in any of the courts of this territory that some person or persons are about to leave the county or territory, removing their effects with the intention, he believes, of defrauding his, her, or their creditors, and that such person or persons are indebted to him, her, or them, either by note or book account, and are about to leave without paying the same, the court shall issue a writ of attachment upon the goods, chattels, and effects, of such person or persons, and such goods, chattels, and effects shall be held to pay the debt and costs, if, upon a trial, judgment shall be rendered against the defendant. The writ of attachment may be directed to any and all persons that shall be owing the said defendant when there is not sufficient property found to satisfy the debt and costs; and any such person, so notified or served with an attachment, shall be held liable to the amount of his indebtedness.

WASHINGTON.—Attachments may issue against a debtor when he does not reside within the limits of this territory; when he secretes himself to avoid process; when he has removed, or is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof; when he is about to sell, convey, or otherwise dispose of his property, with intent to hinder, defraud, or delay his creditors. No attachment, for being a non-resident, or secretly leaving the Territory shall issue against any debtor while his family remains settled within the county where he usually resided, prior to his absence, if he shall not continue absent from the Territory more than one year after he shall have absented himself, unless an attempt be made to conceal his absence. The plaintiff, or some one in his behalf, shall, before a writ issues, execute a bond, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the clerk of the court, payable to the defendant, agreeing to pay all damages which may be sustained by the defendant, if the proceedings of the plaintiff shall be wrongful and oppressive.

NEVADA TERRITORY.—Attachments may issue against a debtor when he is not a resident of this Territory; when he has absconded or absented himself from his usual place of abode, or is about to abscond or absent himself, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; when he conceals himself to avoid process; when he has removed, or is about to remove, any of his property or effects out of the Territory, to the injury of his creditors, or with the intent to hinder, delay, or defraud them; when he has fraudulently conveyed, assigned, or otherwise disposed of his property or effects; when he has fraudulently concealed his property and effects; and when he fraudulently contracted the debt, or incurred the obligation respecting which a suit is brought.

Before issuing a writ, the clerk shall require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff, in a sum not less than two hundred dollars, nor exceeding the amount claimed by the plaintiff, with sufficient sureties to the effect, that if the defendant recover judgment, or if the attachment should be dismissed, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damage which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

DAKOTA TERRITORY.—Attachments may issue against a debtor when he is not a resident of this Territory; when he has absconded with the intent to defraud his creditors, when he has left the county of his residence, to avoid the service of a summons, or so conceals himself that a summons cannot be served upon him; when he is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the jurisdiction of the court, with the intent to defraud his creditors; when he is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; when he has property, or rights in action, which he conceals; when he has assigned, removed, or disposed of, or is about to dispose of his property, or a part thereof, with the intent to defraud his creditors; when he has fraudulently contracted the debt, or incurred the obligations for which suit is about to be, or has been brought. But an attachment shall not be granted on the ground that the defendant is a foreign corporation or a non-resident of this Territory, for any claim other than a debt or demand arising upon contract, judgment, or decree. When the ground of the attachment is, that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of this Territory, the order of attachment may be issued without an undertaking. In all other cases, the order of attachment shall not be issued by the clerk of the court, until there has been executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to be approved by the clerk, an undertaking not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay the defendant all damages, which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, if the order be wrongfully obtained.

COLORADO TERRITORY.—Imprisonment for debt does not exist in this Territory. If any creditor, his agent, or attorney, shall file an affidavit, in the office of the clerk of the District Court of any county in this Territory, setting forth, that any person is indebted to such creditor in a sum exceeding twenty dollars, stating the nature and amount of such indebtedness, as near as may be, and that such debtor has departed, or is about to depart from this Territory, with the intention of having his effects removed from this Territory, or is about to remove his property, to the injury of such creditor, or that such debtor conceals himself or stands in defiance of an officer so that process cannot be served upon him, or is not a resident of this Territory, or that he is converting, or is about to convert his property into money, or otherwise dispose of his property with the intent of placing it beyond the reach of such creditor, it shall be lawful for such clerk to issue a writ of attachment, directed to the sheriff of the county, returnable like other writs, commanding him to attach lands, tenements, goods, chattels, rights, credits, moneys, and effects of said debtor of every kind, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to satisfy the claim sworn to, with interest and costs of suit, in whose hands or possession the same may be found; and it shall be lawful for the clerk to issue, and the sheriff or other officer to serve, an attachment against such debtor, on a Sunday, as on any other day, as is directed in this act.

All flax raised on one half acre of ground for use of producer and family, and all articles manufactured therefrom.

Homestead.—The head of any family, or any householder wishing to exempt his homestead, consisting of a lot of land with dwelling-house and out-buildings thereon, may file a certificate signed by himself, which shall declare his wish and describe his homestead, with the Register of Deeds for the county wherein his homestead lies; and so much of the property as does not exceed five hundred dollars in value shall be forever exempt from liability for any debt contracted after the recording of the certificate. The widow and minor children of any person deceased who held property thus exempt, may continue to hold the premises exempt during the minority of the children, or while the widow remains single.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Personal.—All the necessary wearing apparel of the debtor and his family; bedsteads, beds, and bedding for the family; household furniture to the value of one hundred dollars; all the Bibles and school-books in use in the family; one cow, and one-and-a-half tons of hay; one hog and one pig, and the pork of the same when slaughtered; tools of the debtor's occupation, to the value of one hundred dollars; six sheep and their fleeces; one cooking-stove and its appendages; provisions and fuel to the value of fifty dollars; the interest in one pew in any meeting-house in which the debtor or his family usually worship, and in one lot or right of burial in any cemetery. Also the uniforms, arms, or equipments of every officer and private in the militia.

Homestead.—The homestead of a householder is exempt from execution on any cause of action which has accrued since January 1, 1852. It must not exceed in value five hundred dollars, and is not subject to devise so long as the widow or minor children shall occupy the same; and no release or waiver of this exemption is valid unless made by deed executed by the husband and wife; or, if the wife be dead, and there be minor children, then by deed executed by the husband with the consent of the Judge of Probate in the county in which the land is situated, endorsed on the deed. The exemption extends to any interest, not exceeding five hundred dollars in value, which the debtor may have in a building occupied by him as a homestead, though standing on land owned by another.

The Sheriff, holding an execution about to be levied on lands and tenements, is required, on application of the debtor or his wife, to cause a homestead, not exceeding five hundred dollars in value, to be set off from the lands and tenements of the debtor, in the following manner: Three sworn appraisers, disinterested and discreet persons, residents in the county, are chosen; one by the officer, one by the creditor, and one by the debtor, who proceed to set-off a homestead by metes and bounds, and their set-off and assignment is returned by the officer for record in court. The court out of which the writ of execution or attachment is sued, may, upon good cause shown, order a reappraisement and re-assignment by the same or other appraisers.

under instructions from the court, and the re-appraisement as returned and recorded in the same manner as the first. When the homestead of any head of a family, in the opinion of the appraisers, cannot be divided without injury and inconvenience, they shall make an appraisement of the whole property. The appraisal is delivered by the officer to the execution debtor, or to some member of his family old enough to understand it, with a notice attached, that unless the execution debtor shall, within sixty days, pay to the officer the surplus value over five hundred dollars, the premises will be sold. If the surplus is not paid, the officer, observing all the forms required, makes a sale of the premises, and out of the proceeds pays to the execution debtor, if his wife gives her written consent to such payment, the sum of five hundred dollars. If the wife does not consent to such payment, the officer must deposit the amount in some savings institution, to the joint credit of husband and wife, and to be withdrawn only by their joint order, or by the order of the survivor in case of the death of either. The amount is exempt for one year from the date of payment or deposit. The balance of proceeds of sale is applied on the execution. No sale can, however, be made, unless more than five hundred dollars is bid; if less, the execution may be returned unsatisfied.

VERMONT.—Personal.—Suitable apparel, bedding, tools, arms, and articles of household furniture, as may be necessary for upholding life, one sewing machine kept for use, one cow, the best swine, or the meat of one swine, ten sheep, and one year's product of said sheep in wool, yarn, or cloth, forage sufficient for keeping not exceeding ten sheep and one cow through one winter, ten cords of firewood, twenty bushels of potatoes, such military arms and accoutrements as the debtor is required by law to furnish, all growing crops, ten bushels of grain, one barrel of flower, three swarms of bees, and hives, together with their produce in honey, two hundred pounds of sugar, and all lettered gravestones, the Bibles and other books used in a family, one pew or slip in a meeting-house or place of religious worship, live poultry, not exceeding in amount or value the sum of ten dollars; the professional books of clergymen and attorneys at law, to the value of two hundred dollars; and also one yoke of oxen or steers, as the debtor may select, with sufficient forage for the keeping the same through the winter: Provided, however, this latter exemption, as to one yoke of oxen or steers, and the forage therefor, is not to extend to any attachment issued on any contract made on or before the twenty-first day of November, 1859, or to any execution issued on a judgment founded on any such contract.

Homestead.—The homestead of every housekeeper residing within the State, consisting of a dwelling-house, out-buildings, and the lands appurtenant thereto, occupied by the housekeeper as a homestead, and the yearly products thereof, the whole not to exceed five hundred dollars in value, are exempt from attachment in all cases where the cause of action occurred subsequent to the first day of December, 1850, except when the cause of action occurred previous to, or at the time of the purchase of the homestead, or the action to be brought to enforce the payment of taxes legally assessed.

Whenever the real estate of a housekeeper is levied upon, such portion as he may occupy as a homestead, or may elect to regard as such, to the value of five hundred dollars, is set out to him by the appraisers on the execution, upon their oaths, and the remainder only is set-off to the execution creditor.

If a housekeeper decease, leaving a widow, the homestead passes to his widow and children, if any there be, in direct course of descent, not subject to the payment of the debts of the deceased, unless made specially chargeable thereon, and, if necessary, the Probate Court appoints a commission to set out to the widow, or widow and children, the homestead, provided that such children shall only have an interest in such homestead until they shall attain their majority.

The homestead cannot be sold or mortgaged by the owner, if a married man, without the consent and signature of his wife, excepting at the time of the purchase of the homestead, when, to secure the payment of the purchase money, the husband may execute a mortgage without the consent of the wife. The time when the deed to the owner of a homestead is left in the Town Clerk's office for record, is deemed the time of purchase. The cost and expenses of setting out a homestead, or its yearly products, as provided by law, are charged in the officer's bill of fees upon the writ or execution.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Personal.—All the necessary wearing apparel of the debtor and his family; one bedstead, bed, and the necessary bedding for every two persons in the family; one iron stove in use in the dwelling-house, and fuel to the value of ten dollars, designed for the use of the family; other necessary household furniture, to the value of one hundred dollars; the Bibles and school-books used in the family; one cow, six sheep, not exceeding thirty dollars in value; one swine, and two tons of hay; the tools and implements of the debtor necessary for carrying on his trade or business, and not exceeding fifty dollars in value; the materials and stock in trade for carrying on his business, not beyond fifty dollars; the uniform, arms, and accoutrements required by law, belonging to a member of the militia; ammunition and provisions intended for the use of the family, not exceeding fifty dollars in value, and rights of burial and tombs while in use as repositories for the dead.

Homestead.—There are exempt, to the value of eight hundred dollars, the lot and buildings thereon owned and occupied as a residence by the debtor, or the buildings so occupied and owned, situated on land in the rightful possession of the debtor and his family, by lease or otherwise. Such exemption can only be released by a deed, acknowledged and recorded as in the case of conveyances of real estate. The exemption continues, after the death of the debtor, for the benefit of the widow and children, if some of them continue to occupy it, until the youngest child is twenty-one, and until the marriage or death of the widow. To entitle property to such exemption, the owner must have set forth his intention to hold the same as a homestead in his deed of purchase, or must declare his intention in writing, and have it recorded in the registry of deeds in the county wherein the land lies. Such property, however, is not exempt from levy for taxes, or for a debt contracted for the purchase, or for the ground-rent of the lot whereon the buildings are situated, or for any debt contracted previously to the recording of the intention to hold the property as a homestead. No conveyance of exemption property by a married man is valid unless the wife joins in the conveyance.

If a judgment creditor requires an execution to be levied on property which the debtor claims as exempt, and the officer thinks that the property exceeds eight hundred dollars in value, then appraisers are to be appointed, as in case of the levy of executions on real estate. If, in their judgment, the premises exceed in value eight hundred dollars, and can be divided without injury, they shall set-off to the judgment debtor as much of the premises, including the house, as appear to them to be of the value of eight hundred dollars, and the remainder of the property shall be dealt with as other real property not exempt from execution. But if they think it cannot be conveniently divided, they shall make and deliver to the officer their appraisal, and the Sheriff or his deputy shall deliver a copy to the judgment debtor or to the lawful occupant of the homestead. If the judgment debtor does not then, within sixty days, pay on the execution the excess of the value of the premises above the sum of eight hundred dollars, the creditor may require the premises to be sold by the Sheriff, and from the proceeds the officer must pay to the debtor the sum of eight hundred dollars, to be exempt from execution for one year thereafter, and apply the balance upon the execution. But the premises shall not be sold unless more than eight hundred dollars are bid. If so large a bid cannot be obtained, the execution may be returned unsatisfied.

RHODE ISLAND.—In this State the law exempts from sale on execution the household furniture and family stores of a house keeper, provided the same do not exceed in value the sum of two hundred dollars; all the necessary wearing apparel of a debtor and his family; one cow, and one hog, together with the tools or implements of his trade or profession, to the value of fifty dollars.

CONNECTICUT.—All wearing apparel, bedding, and necessary household furniture; arms and military equipments; implements of the debtor's trade; one cow, ten sheep, two swine, and the pork produced from two swine, or two swine, and two hundred pounds of pork; twenty-five bushels charcoal; other coals, two tons; wheat flour, two hundred pounds; wood, two cords; hay, two tons; beef, two hundred pounds; fish, two hundred pounds; potatoes and turnips, five bushels each; Indian corn or rye, ten bushels each, and the meal or flour manufactured therefrom; wool or flax, twenty pounds each, or the yarn or cloth made therefrom, one stove and its pipe, the property of a man with a family; the horse, saddle and bridle, to the value of one hundred dollars, of any practising physician or surgeon; one sewing-machine; any part of a burying-ground, designated as the burial-place of any particular person or family; and one pew ordinarily occupied by the debtor's family; pay and bounty, whether public or private, of soldiers in the service of the State or United States.

NEW YORK.—Personal.—When owned by a householder. All spinning-wheels, weaving-looms and stoves put up or kept for use in any dwelling-house; one sewing-machine with appurtenances; the family Bible, family pictures and school-books used by or in the family; books, not exceeding fifty dollars, part of a family library; pew or seat in church in use by debtor or family, ten sheep, with their fleeces, and the yarn or cloth manufactured therefrom; pork, beef, fish, flour and vegetables provided for family use; fuel necessary for family for sixty days; necessary wearing apparel, beds, bedsteads and bedding for debtor and family; arms and accoutrements required by law; cooking utensils; one table, six chairs, six knives and forks, six plates, six tea-cups and saucers, one sugar-dish, one milk-pot, one tea-pot, six spoons, one crane and appendages, one pair of andirons, shovel and tongs; tools and implements of any mechanic necessary to the carrying on of his trade, to the value of twenty-five dollars; also in addition, when owned by a householder or any one having a family for which he provides; all necessary household furniture and working tools, professional instruments, furniture and library; and team not worth over $250, and the food necessary for such team for ninety days, except on executions for purchase-money of such things, or for wages of a domestic in a family; land not over a quarter of an acre set apart for burial-place and vault thereon.

Homestead.—The lot, and buildings thereon, to the value of one thousand dollars, occupied as a residence, and owned by the debtor, is exempt from execution. The exemption continues after the death of the householder, for the benefit of the widow and family, until the youngest child becomes of age, and until the death of the widow, provided one or more of the family occupy the premises

No release of the exemption is valid unless made in writing subscribed by the householder, and acknowledged in the same manner as a conveyance of real estate. To entitle property to exemption, the conveyance must show the design of the householder to hold it as a homestead, or a notice of his intention, containing a full description of the property, must be executed and acknowledged by the owner, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county wherein the homestead is situated, in a book provided for that purpose, and known as the "Homestead Exemption Book." No property is exempt from sale for non-payment of taxes or assessments, or for a debt contracted for the purchase money of the premises, or contracted prior to the recording of the deed or notice as above required.

If the Sheriff holding the execution thinks that the premises claimed as exempt are worth more than one thousand dollars, he shall summon six qualified jurors of his county, who shall, upon oath, to be administered to them by the Sheriff, appraise the premises; and if, in their opinion, the premises may be divided without injury to the interests of the parties, they shall set off as much of the premises, including the dwelling-house, as they value at one thousand dollars, and the residue may be sold by the Sheriff. In case the premises exceed one thousand dollars in value, but cannot be divided, they shall deliver an appraisal of the value of the property to the Sheriff, who delivers a copy to the execution debtor, or to some of his family of suitable age to understand it, with a notice attached, that unless the execution debtor pays to the Sheriff, within sixty days, the surplus over and above one thousand dollars, the premises will be sold. In case the surplus is not paid within sixty days, the Sheriff may sell the property, pay to the execution debtor one thousand dollars of the proceeds, which shall be exempt from execution for one year thereafter, and apply the balance to the execution. Unless upward of one thousand dollars is bid, no sale shall be made, and in such case the Sheriff may return the execution unsatisfied. The expenses of thus selling a homestead are to be included in the costs upon the execution.

NEW JERSEY—Personal.—The following articles, the property of the head of a family, are exempt from execution upon judgment, founded on contracts made before the 14th March, 1851. One cow; one bed and bedding; one cradle; one stove; one half cord of firewood; one half ton of stove coal; one spinning-wheel; one table; six chairs; one hog; one hundred pounds of flour; one iron cooking pot; knives, forks, plates, and spoons, one dozen each; half dozen bowls; two pails; one barrel; one coffee-pot; one tub; one frying-pan; the necessary tools of a tradesman, to the value of ten dollars; and all necessary wearing apparel. A supplementary act was passed February 6, 1858, allowing, in all assignments of debtors for the benefit of creditors, goods and chattels to the value of two hundred dollars, and all wearing apparel for the use of the debtor and his family.

Homestead.—In addition to the foregoing, there is exempt, by law, from sale on execution, for debts hereafter contracted, the lot and buildings thereon, occupied as a residence, and owned by the debtor, to the value of one thousand dollars. This exemption will continue after the death of the debtor, for the benefit of his widow and family, provided one or more of them continue to occupy the same till the youngest child is of age, and until the death of the widow. No release or waiver of this redemption is valid. But to entitle a householder to the benefit of this exemption, a notice of his design to hold the property as a homestead must be executed, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the county where the property is situated, and published once a week, for six weeks, in a newspaper published in the county, or in the newspaper published nearest the same. No property shall, however, by virtue of this act, be exempt from sale for non-payment of taxes or assessments, or for any labor done thereon, or materials furnished therefor, or for debts contracted prior to the recording of the aforesaid deed or notice. A homestead must be reserved as such for the use of the family; it cannot be leased or sold without the full and free consent of the wife of the owner. If an officer cannot find sufficient property, apart from that which is exempt, to satisfy the execution, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas may appoint six disinterested persons to appraise the homestead, and if its value exceed one thousand dollars, the excess may be sold for the benefit of the judgment creditor.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Property to the value of three hundred dollars, over and above all wearing apparel of defendant and his family, and all Bibles and school books used in the family, are exempt. The debtor must elect to retain either real or personal estate of the value mentioned. Bonds, mortgages, or other contracts for the purchase money of real estate, are excepted from the operation of the statute.

If the debtor, when real estate is seized, fails to make his election to retain real estate, he is not entitled to three hundred dollars from the proceeds of the sale. The claim to personal estate, in order to avail the defendant, must be made before the sale; and if he neglect to enter his claim, he thereby waives all benefits to be derived from the statute. If the debtor waives his right to the exemption by agreement with one execution debtor, it is a waiver as to all other creditors. The widow or children of a deceased debtor may retain property belonging to his estate, to the value of three hundred dollars, and the executor or administrator cannot sell the same, but must suffer it to remain for the use of the widow and family, unless the claim be founded on a lien for the purchase money of real estate.

MARYLAND.—Real estate acquired by marriage is not liable to execution, during the life of the wife, for the debts of the husband. Wages of any laborer, or other employee, in the hands of the employer, are exempt to the amount of ten dollars. It is provided, however, that all the articles exempted shall not exceed one hundred dollars in value, and that if, at the time of the execution of the process, the debtor is not in possession of all or any of the specified articles, other property to that value shall be exempt, except in case of fines or taxes. Those exemptions do not affect a debt or contract incurred prior to July 4th, 1851.

of every fisherman, pilot, or resident upon any island or coast of the State; and the boat and flat of any ferryman, to the value of two hundred dollars. Every actual housekeeper with a family may claim as exempt such portion of his property as may be necessary for the support of himself and family, to the value of one hundred dollars, waiving all right to all other exceptions; provided, however, that the defendant is not a non-resident, nor about removing from the State, nor removing his property, nor fraudulently disposing of the same to avoid the payment of his debts. And the defendant must make and sign a fair and full statement of all his property, verified by affidavit, which must accompany the return of the process.

But no debtor is entitled to this exemption whose wife owns in her own right, and is in the actual enjoyment of, property exceeding one thousand dollars in value.

KENTUCKY.—Personal.—One yoke of oxen; one work horse one plough with its gear; one axe, one hoe; two cows and calves two bedsteads, beds, and bedding; all wearing apparel; one loom, spinning wheels and cards; all the spun yarn, cloth, and carpeting manufactured by the family, and necessary for its use; one pot, oven, coffee-pot, tea-pot, six each of table knives, forks, cups, saucers, plates, and chairs, the chairs not to exceed eight dollars in value; cooking-stove, and other cooking utensils, to the value in all of twenty-five dollars: ten sheep; provisions sufficient for the support of the family for one year; one saddle and bridle, with their appendages, and the Family Bible.

A debtor may surrender any of the articles specifically exempted, and retain others of equal value; the value to be determined by two disinterested householders selected by the officer.

ILLINOIS.—Personal.—All necessary wearing apparel; necessary beds and bedding; cooking utensils; household furniture to the value of fifteen dollars; one pair of cards; two spinning-wheels; one weaving-loom and appendages; one stove and its pipe; one milch cow and calf; two sheep, and the fleeces taken from them, or the fleeces of two sheep for each member of the family, provided they have not been purchased by any debtor owning sheep, together with the yarn and cloth that may be manufactured from the fleeces; and sixty dollars' worth of property suited to the condition of, and to be selected by, the debtor; three months' provision and fuel, and necessary food for stock exempted from execution; and any lot used as a burying-ground.

Upon the death or desertion of the head of the family, the family shall be entitled to the like exemption.

Homestead.—The lot of land and the buildings attached, to the value of one thousand dollars, owned and occupied as a residence by a householder having a family, are exempt from forced sale for contracts made after July 4th, 1851. Upon the death of the debtor, the exemption continues for the benefit of his family until the youngest child becomes of age, and until the widow dies. No release of the exemption is valid unless in writing, subscribed by the householder, and acknowledged before a magistrate or commissioner of deeds. This exemption, however, does not prevent the sale of land for taxes or debts incurred for the purchase or improvement of the land, or incurred prior to the recording of notice of redemption.

If the creditor or officer holding the execution think the property claimed is worth more than one thousand dollars, the officer may summon six qualified jurors of his county to appraise the premises upon oath, if, in their opinion, the property can be divided without injury.

INDIANA.—Property, real or personal, to the value of three hundred dollars, owned and occupied by any resident householder, is exempt from execution for debt incurred since July 4th, 1852, mechanics' labrers', and vendors' liens excepted. The articles for exemption may be selected by the debtor from his general effects. Their value must be ascertained by appraisers, one chosen by the plaintiff or his attorney, one by the debtor, and a third, if necessary, by these two. In case either party fails to select an appraiser, one is chosen by the officer. The appraisers shall make a schedule of the property selected by the debtor, which, verified by the affidavit, must form part of the return. If the debtor select real and personal property exceeding three hundred dollars in value, he may pay the excess within sixty days. If he fails to do so, the real property is sold, and so much of the proceeds paid to the debtor as, with the value of the personal property selected by him, amounts to three hundred dollars. Whenever real property, selected for exemption is susceptible of division without material injury, it must be so divided as to exempt the principal dwelling-house of the debtor.

OHIO.—Every householder can exempt from execution the wearing apparel of the family; the necessary bedsteads, beds, and bedding; one stove and pipe; fuel sufficient for sixty days' consumption; one cow; or household furniture, if the debtor own no cow, to the value of fifteen dollars; two swine, or the pork therefrom; or if the debtor own no swine, furniture to the value of six dollars; six sheep, the wool therefrom, and the cloth and articles manufactured from the wool; or, in lieu of sheep, furniture to the value of ten dollars; and sufficient food for the exempt stock for sixty days; also, the bibles, hymn-books, psalm-books, testaments, and school-books used in the family, and all family pictures; also, provisions to the value of forty dollars, to be selected by the debtor; and articles of household or kitchen furniture, necessary for himself and family, to the value of thirty dollars; also, the tools and implements selected by the debtor, to the value of fifty dollars, and necessary in carrying on his trade or business. All questions arising as to the number of beds necessary for the family, the amount of fuel necessary for sixty days, the quantity of food for the support of the animals exempt, &c., must be determined by two disinterested freeholders, selected by the officer holding the execution. These also appraise the property claimed by the debtor as exempt.

On petition of executors or administrators to sell the lands of a deceased debtor to pay his debts, if the deceased has left a widow or minor child or children unmarried, the appraisers shall set apart a homestead, and the homestead shall remain exempt so long as any unmarried minor child resides thereon, although the widow may have previously died, and although the parent from whom the homestead descended may have left neither wife nor husband surviving. Every widow or widower having an unmarried child or children residing with him or her, and married persons living together as man and wife, though without children, are entitled to the privileges of homestead exemption, as also are persons owning dwellings occupied by themselves as homesteads, though built upon land owned by another.

When, in the opinion of the appraisers, it would injure the property of the debtor to separate the homestead, the plaintiff in execution receives in lieu of the proceeds of the sale such a sum annually, above forty dollars, as the appraisers shall decide upon as a reasonable rent; and he continues to receive this rent in quarterly payments until the debt, interest, and costs, are paid. The payments are to be made quarterly, and if within ten days after the payment becomes due the defendant does not pay the same, the officer proceeds to sell the homestead, observing the same process provided in other cases for the sale of real property. But the homestead cannot be sold for less than its appraised value. The plaintiff, when in receipt of rent, may cause a re-appraisement as often as once in two years, and the rent shall be paid according to the new appraisement; if between any two appraisements the value of the homestead has not increased one hundred dollars, the costs of the appraisements must be paid by the plaintiff.

MISSOURI.—All wearing apparel; the tools and implements of a mechanic; ten hogs, ten sheep, two cows and calves, and working animals to the value of sixty-five dollars; one plough and set of plough gears; one axe and one hoe, or any other property, real or personal, not exceeding in value one hundred and fifty dollars, chosen by the debtor, if he is a householder; the spinning-wheels and cards, one loom, and apparatus necessary for manufacturing cloth in a private family; all the spun yarn, thread and cloth manufactured for family use; flax, hemp, and wool, twenty-five pounds each; the wearing apparel of the family; two beds, with the usual bedding, and other necessary household and kitchen furniture, not exceeding twenty-five dollars in value; lawyers, physicians, and ministers may select books necessary to their profession in place of other property, at their option; physicians may also select their medicines. The property of the wife is exempt from execution against the husband if the debt was a security debt, or was contracted before marriage, or before the wife came into possession, or if it was a fine, or for costs in any criminal case against the husband. The husband's property is exempt from all liabilities contracted by the wife before marriage.

Homestead.—The homestead of every housekeeper or head of a family, consisting of a dwelling-house and appurtenances, and the land used in connection therewith, not exceeding the amount and value herein limited, which is or shall be used by such housekeeper or head of a family as such homestead, shall, together with the rents, issues and products thereof, be exempt from attachment and execution, except upon all cases of action existing at the time of occupying said homestead; such homestead in the country shall not include more than one hundred and sixty acres of land, or exceed the total value of fifteen hundred dollars and in cities having a population of forty thousand or more, such homestead shall not include more than eighteen square rods of ground, or exceed the total value of three thousand dollars; and in cities or other incorporated towns and villages having a less population than forty thousand, such homestead shall not include more than thirty square rods of ground, or exceed the total value of fifteen hundred dollars.

MICHIGAN.—Personal.—All spinning-wheels and weaving-looms, with the apparatus; stoves kept for use; the pew occupied by the debtor and his family; all rights of burial; the arms and accoutrements required by law; the wearing apparel of the family; the library and school books, to the value of one hundred and fifty dollars; all family pictures; ten sheep, with their fleeces, and the yarn or cloth manufactured therefrom; two cows, five swine, and provisions and fuel for the subsistence of the debtor and his family for six months; household goods, furniture, and utensils, to the value of two hundred and fifty dollars; hay, grain, &c., enough to keep properly for six months the forementioned stock; and the tools, implements, materials, stock, apparatus, team, harness, or other things to enable any person to carry on his profession or trade. The property, however, with the exception of mechanical tools and implements of husbandry, is not exempt from execution on demand for the purchase money. By the constitution, such personal property as is designated by law shall be exempted, to the amount of not less than five hundred dollars, from execution for any debts contracted after January 1, 1851. Any chattel mortgage, bill of sale, or lien, on exempt property, is void, unless signed by the wife.

Homestead.—Any quantity of land not exceeding forty acres, if not included in any recorded town-plot, city or village, or one lot, if within any such, with the house and its appurtenances thereon owned and occupied by a resident of the State, and the whole not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars in value, is exempt. This exemption, however, does not extend to any mortgage on the homestead lawfully obtained; but no mortgage or other alienation of the homestead by the owner, if a married man, is valid, without the signature of his wife, except the mortgage is given to secure the payment of purchase money. Such a homestead is exempt after the death of the owner during the minority of his children; and if he has no children, but leaves a widow, it shall be exempt, and the rents and profits thereon shall accrue to her during her widowhood, unless she is the owner of a homestead in her own right. But the children or widow must occupy the homestead, to have the benefit.

Where a levy is made upon the lands and tenements of a householder whose homestead has not been selected or set apart, the householder may notify the officer of what he regards as his homestead, with a description thereof, and only the remainder shall be subject to sale. If the plaintiff is dissatisfied with the quantity set apart, the officer making the levy shall have the homestead surveyed, beginning at a point designated by the owner, and shall set off, in a compact form, including the dwelling-house and its appurtenances, the amount of land constituting by law a homestead, as specified above; the expense of the survey shall be charged and collected on the execution. After the survey has been made the officer may sell the property levied on, and not included in the homestead, as he would any other real estate. Any person owning and occupying a house situated on land not his own, and claiming it as his homestead, shall be entitled to exemption.

ARKANSAS.—Personal.—One horse, mule, or yoke of oxen; one cow and calf; one plough, one axe, one hoe, and one set of plough gears; spinning wheels and cards; one loom and apparatus necessary for manufacturing cloth in a private family, spun yarn, thread, and cloth manufactured for family use: hemp, flax, cotton and wool, not exceeding twenty-five pounds; all wearing apparel of the family; two beds, with bedding; also, any other household and kitchen furniture necessary for the family, agreeably to an inventory of it, to be returned on oath by the officer with the execution. There is also exempt the necessary tools and implements of a mechanic carrying on his trade; all military equipments required by law; and such provisions as are on hand for family use.

TENNESSEE.—Personal.—One cow and calf; one bedstead, and bed containing not more than twenty-five pounds of feathers; two sheets, two blankets, and one counterpane. In case of the death of the householder, the property is exempt in the hands of his widow; or, if she did not survive him, in those of his representatives, for the benefit of his children.

Homestead.—Before any person can be entitled to the benefit of the homestead exemption act, he must declare his intention of claiming the homestead, by having a declaration and noting of such intention registered in the Register's office in the county wherein the homestead is situated; and the exemption of the homestead dates from and after this registration. The homestead of every housekeeper residing within the State, to the value of five hundred dollars, and consisting of a dwelling-house and outbuildings, and the land appurtenant thereto, shall be exempt from attachment and execution, where the cause of action accrued after the first of January, 1853.

The homestead must be set out of the real estate levied on, by three disinterested freeholders, and only the remainder sold. If the homestead cannot be set apart, the whole must be sold, and five hundred dollars of the proceeds paid to the Clerk of the Court from which the judgment issued, to be used by him only for the purchase of another homestead. The surplus proceeds of the sale are applied on the execution. The widow of a housekeeper, or in the event of a divorce resulting from the husband's misconduct, the wife, is entitled to all the benefits of the exemption; so, also, are children during their minority. To become entitled to the benefits of the exemption, the person claiming them must permanently reside in the homestead. The homestead, when owned by a married man, can only be aliened on mortgage by joint deed of husband and wife, except for payment of the purchase money.

The person to whom a homestead is set apart, must, within one year, have the same registered in the Register's office of the county wherein the land may be, in order to obtain a valid title thereto.

TEXAS.—Personal.—There is exempt from sale on execution, household and kitchen furniture, to the value of two hundred dollars; farming implements, to the value of fifty dollars; the tools, apparatus, and books, appertaining to the trade or profession of any citizen; five milch cows; one yoke of oxen, or one horse; twenty swine; and provisions for one year.

Homestead.—The homestead of a family, when without the limits of a city, town, or village, must not contain more than two hundred acres of land; when within such limits, it must not exceed two thousand dollars in value. The homestead cannot be levied upon by execution, nor sold, when owned by a married man, without the consent of the wife.

IOWA.—All wearing apparel kept for actual use, and suitable to the condition of the defendant, with the trunks or other receptacles in which it is contained, even though the debtor is a non-resident; one musket or rifle; the tools, instruments, and books, used in the practice of a debtor's business or profession; the horse, harness, and wagon, used by a physician, clergyman, or public officer, or by the use of which a farmer or laborer gains a subsistence; all libraries, Family Bibles, portraits, and paintings; a pew occupied by the debtor or his family in any house of public worship; and an interest in a public or private burying-ground, not to exceed one acre for any one defendant.

If the debtor be the head of a family, there is a further exemption of one cow and calf, one horse, unless exempted as above, fifty sheep and the wool therefrom; five hogs, and all pigs less than six months old; the food necessary for the subsistence of the animals exempt for sixty days; flax raised by the defendant, and the manufactures therefrom; all cloth manufactured by the defendant not exceeding one hundred yards; household and kitchen furniture to the value of one hundred dollars; all spinning-wheels and looms, and other instruments of domestic labor kept for actual use; a bedstead and bedding for every two in the family, and the necessary provisions and fuel for the use of the family for six months.

The earnings of the debtor by his own personal services or those of his family, at any time within ninety days next preceding the levy, are also exempt.

Homestead.—The homestead of every family is exempt, except for a mechanic's lien, or for debt contracted prior to the purchase of the homestead, or to July 4th, 1849, or for debt created by written contract, signed by parties having full power to convey the homestead, in which it is expressly stipulated that the homestead shall be liable for such debt. In no case, excepting a mechanic's lien can a homestead be sold until all other property of the defendant is exhausted. A widow or widower, though without children, shall be deemed the head of the family while continuing to dwell in the house used as a homestead previous to the death of the husband or wife. If the owner is married, a conveyance of the homestead is invalid unless husband and wife join in the deed. If within a town, the homestead must not exceed half an acre in extent; if not, it is limited to forty acres; but in either case, if its value is less than five hundred dollars, it may be enlarged till its value reaches that limit.

The homestead must embrace only one dwelling-house used as such by the owner, and the buildings properly appurtenant. It may also embrace the owner's workshop. When the debtor does not choose his homestead, his wife may do so for him, and if neither, then the Sheriff.

WISCONSIN.—Personal.—The Family Bible, family pictures, school-books, or library; a seat or pew in any house of public worship; and the family place of sepulture; all wearing apparel of the debtor and his family; all bedsteads, beds, and bedding used by the family; all cooking utensils, and other household furniture, to the value of two hundred dollars; two cows; ten swine, one yoke of oxen, and a horse, or, in lieu of them, a span of horses; ten sheep, and the wool therefrom, either as raw material, or manufactured into yarn or cloth; necessary food for the support Money arising from insurance on property exempt, which has been destroyed by fire, cannot be seized on execution.

Homestead.—A homestead, consisting of not over forty acres of land, used for agricultural purposes, with a dwelling house thereon, and its appurtenances, to be selected by the owner, and not included in any town-plot, city, or village; or instead, land not exceeding one-fourth of an acre, within a town-plot, city, or village, with a dwelling-house thereon, and its appurtenances, owned and occupied by any resident of the State, is not subject to forced sale. This exemption does not affect any mechanic's or laborer's lien, or extend to any lawfully obtained mortgage. But such mortgage or other alienation of such property by the owner thereof, if a married man, is not valid without the signature of his wife to the same.

When the owner of a homestead dies, leaving infant children, the homestead is exempt from the payment of his debts; and no administrator or executor has a right to the possession of an estate so exempt, or to the rents and profits of the same.

CALIFORNIA.—Personal.—Sewing-machine, worth not over one hundred dollars; chairs, tables, desks, and books, to the extent of hundred dollars; necessary household table and kitchen furniture, including stoves, stove-pipes and stove furniture; wearing apparel, beds, bedding and bedsteads, and one month's provisions; two oxen or horses or mules, and their harness; one cart or wagon, and food for such horses, mules or oxen for one month; seed grain and vegetables for planting or sowing within six months, not to exceed two hundred dollars' worth; tools of a mechanic or artisan necessary to his trade; instruments and chest of a surgeon, physician, surveyor or dentist necessary to their profession and their scientific or professional library; lawyers' and ministers' libraries; two oxen, horses or mules, and harness and cart of a cartman, huckster, peddler, teamster or other laborer, by which he habitually earns his living; one horse and harness or other equipments used by a physician or minister in professional visits, with food for same. Homestead.—A quantity of land, with dwelling-house and its appurtenances, not exceeding five thousand dollars in value, to be selected by the owner, is exempt from execution for any debt contracted after July 1, 1851, or at any time out of the State. This exemption, however, does not extend to mechanic's or vendor's lien, or any lawfully obtained mortgage, or to liability for taxes; seven or more persons may form a homestead association, and the shares, deposits or assessments of any person therein, to the par value of one thousand dollars, are exempt.

If the plaintiff so require, appraisers may be appointed to value the homestead. If the lot is two thousand five hundred square yards, or less, and with improvements is valued at more than five thousand dollars, either the excess or the whole may be sold; in the latter case no bid can be received for less than five thousand dollars, and the amount exempt must be paid to the defendant. If the lot exceed two thousand five hundred square yards, and five thousand dollars in value, the appraisers must set off land, including the dwelling-house, to the value of five thousand dollars. The defendant may also designate such personal property as is exempt by law. Upon the death of the head of the family, the same benefits accrue to his wife and children.

Homestead.—Any quantity of land not exceeding eighty acres, and the dwelling-house thereon, and its appurtenances, to be selected by the owner thereof, and not included in any incorporated town, city, or village, or instead thereof, at the option of the owner a quantity of land not exceeding in amount one lot, being within an incorporated town, city or village, and the dwelling-house thereon and its appurtenances, owned and occupied by any resident of this State, shall not be subject to attachment, levy or sale upon execution or any other process, issuing out of any court within this State. This section shall be deemed and construed to exempt such homestead in the manner aforesaid, during the time it shall be occupied by the widow, or minor child or children, of any deceased person, who was, when living, entitled to the benefits of this act. This exemption, however, does not extend to any mortgage thereon, lawfully obtained, but such mortgage or other alienation of such land by the owner thereof, if a married man, shall not be valid without the signature of the wife to the same, unless such mortgage shall be given to secure the payment of the purchase-money, or some portion thereof.

OREGON.—Personal.—Books, pictures and musical instruments, owned by any person to the value of seventy-five dollars; necessary wearing apparel owned by any person to the value of one hundred dollars, and if such person be a householder, for each member of his family to the value of fifty dollars; the tools, implements, apparatus, team, vehicle, harness or library, necessary to enable any person to carry on the trade, occupation or profession by which such person habitually earns his living, to the value of four hundred dollars; also sufficient quantity of food to support such team, if any, for sixty days. Upon the return of the inventory, the court shall set apart, for the use of the widow, minor child or children, all the property of the estate by law exempt from execution. If the amount thus exempt be insufficient for the support of the widow and minor child or children, the Probate Court shall make such further reasonable allowance out of the estate as may be necessary for the maintenance of the family, according to their circumstances, during the progress of the settlement of the estate; but no such allowance shall be made after one year from the granting letters testamentary or of administration. Any allowance made by the court in accordance with the above provisions, shall be paid by the executor or administrator, in preference to all other charges, except funeral charges, and expenses of administration. When property shall have been set apart for the use of the family, in accordance with the foregoing provisions, if the deceased shall have left a widow and no minor children, such property shall be the property of the widow; and if he shall have left also a minor child or children, one half to the widow and the remainder to such child, or in equal shares to such children, if there are more than one; if there be no widow, then the whole shall belong to the minor child or children. If, on the return of the inventory of any intestate's estate, who died leaving a widow or minor children, it shall appear that the value of the estate does not exceed three hundred dollars, the Probate Court shall, by decree for that purpose, assign for the use and support of the widow, or minor child or children of the intestate, or if there be no widow, to the child or children, the whole estate, after the payment of the funeral expenses, and the expenses of administration.

Such lien shall be dissolved unless the person who may desire to avail himself thereof shall, within thirty days after he shall cease to labor on, or furnish materials for such building or structure, file in the office of the clerk of the city or town in which the same is situated, a statement of a just and true account of the amount due to him, with all just credits given, together with a description of the property intended to be covered by the lien, sufficiently accurate for identification, with the name of the owner or owners of the property, if known, which certificate shall be subscribed and sworn to by the person claiming the lien, or by some one in his behalf. Such lien shall be dissolved at the expiration of ninety-days from the day it is recorded, unless suit shall have been commenced within that time for the amount of the debt.

In a case where a number of persons have performed labor on a vessel or building, they may all join in the same petition for their respective liens, and the same proceedings shall be had in regard to the rights of each as if he had petitioned for his individual lien.

Such liens may be enforced by a petition to the Superior Court for the county where the property to which the lien attaches is situate.

When the amount of the claim does not exceed one hundred dollars, the lien may be enforced by petition to a justice of the peace or police court; and such justices and courts shall have like power and authority within their jurisdiction as are herein conferred upon the Superior Court, with like rights of appeal to the parties as exist in other civil cases.

Whether filed as a petition, or inserted in a summons, the petition shall contain a brief statement of the contract on which it is founded, and of the amount due thereon, with a description of the premises subject to a lien, and all other material facts and circumstances; and shall pray that the premises may be sold, and the proceeds of the sale be applied to the discharge of the demand.

RHODE ISLAND.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering or repairing, on written contract with the owner or his agent, any building, canal, turnpike, railroad or other improvement, shall have therefor a lien, which shall take precedence of all subsequent liens; the building, or other improvement, as the case may be, and the land on which it is situate, standing pledged for the debt for the term of four months from the completion of the work, when it shall cease, unless legal action be previously taken to enforce payment of the debt. Persons performing labor on such building, or other improvement, can have no lien upon the same, unless he shall, within thirty days after commencing the work, give notice in writing to the owner of the property that he has commenced the work, and that he designs to claim the benefit of the lien created by this act. But this lien will cease at the expiration of four months from the serving of such notice, unless legal action shall be previously taken to enforce the payment of the claim.

All steam engines in all their parts, and all boilers, kettles or vats made of iron, copper, wood or other materials, whether set in brick or stone, or not so set; and all water-wheels, gearing or shafting, in any mill or building, and there used or intended to be used; and all steam-pipes, gas-pipes, and water-pipes, cocks and eave-troughs made of copper or other metal, attached to any mill or other building, shall, for all the purposes of lien, be considered and treated as parts of such mill or other building.

CONNECTICUT.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for the construction of any building, alterations or repairs, exceeding the sum of twenty-five dollars, shall have a lien on such building, and on the land on which it is situate; and such lien shall take precedence of all subsequent liens, and the premises so held shall be liable to foreclosure by such person, as if held by a mortgage. Such lien may remain for sixty days, when it shall cease, unless the person holding it shall previously have lodged with the town clerk a written certificate of the amount of his claim, the date of the commencement of the same, and an intelligible description of the premises against which it is held, the same being subscribed and sworn to as the amount justly due, as nearly as the same can be ascertained. This certificate shall be recorded by the Town Clerk with deeds of land. This lien is good against all subsequent claims by other parties.

NEW YORK.—On Vessels.—Whenever a debt, amounting to fifty dollars or upwards, as to a sea-going or ocean-bound vessel, or amounting to fifteen dollars or upwards, as to any other vessel, shall be contracted by the master, owner, charterer, builder, or consignee, of any ship or vessel, or the agent of either of them, within this State, for either of the following purposes :

1st, On account of work done, or materials, or other articles furnished in this State, for or towards the building, repairing, fitting, furnishing, or equipping such ship or vessel.

2d, For such provisions and stores furnished within this State, as may be fit and proper for the use of such vessel, at the time when the same were furnished.

3d, On account of the wharfage and expenses of keeping such vessel in port, including the expense incurred in employing persons to watch her.

4th, On account of loading or unloading, or for advances made for the purpose of procuring necessities for such ship or vessel, or for the insurance thereof.

5th, Or whenever a debt amounting to twenty-five dollars or upwards shall be contracted as aforesaid, within this State, on account of the towing or piloting such vessel, or on account of the insurance or premiums of insurance of or on such vessel, or her freight,—such debt shall be a lien upon such vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, and shall be preferred to all other liens thereon, except mariner's wages.

Such debt shall cease to be a lien at the expiration of six months after the said debt was contracted, unless at the time when said six months shall expire such ship or vessel shall be absent from the port at which such debt was contracted, in which case the said lien shall continue until the expiration of ten days after such ship or vessel shall next return to said port; and in all cases such debt shall cease to be a lien upon such ship or vessel, whenever such ship or vessel shall leave the port at which such debt was contracted, unless the person having such lien shall, within twelve days after such departure, cause to be drawn up and filed specifications of such lien, which may consist either of a bill of particulars of the demand, or a copy of any written contract under which the work may be done, with a statement of the amount claimed to be due from such vessel, the correctness of which shall be sworn to by such person, his legal representative, agent, or assigns.

The above section, it was ordered by an amendment passed May 4th, 1868, shall not apply to vessels navigating the western and northwestern lakes, or either or any of them. Any debt contracted by the master, owner, charterer, builder, or consignee of any ship or vessel navigating such lakes, or either of them, shall cease to be a lien at the expiration of six months after the first of January next succeeding the time such debt shall have been contracted, unless during the said six months, such ship or vessel shall be absent from the port at which such debt was contracted, in which case the said lien shall continue until the expiration of ten days after such ship or vessel shall next return to said port. In all cases such debt shall cease to be a lien upon such ship or vessel, unless the person having such debt shall, by the first Tuesday of February next succeeding the time such debt shall have been contracted, cause to be drawn up, verified, and filed, specifications of such debt, in the form and comprising the statements prescribed as aforesaid.

Such specifications shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in which such debt shall have been contracted, except that when such debt shall have been contracted in either of the counties of New York, Kings, or Queens, such specifications shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the city and county of New York.

Any person having a lien upon any ship or vessel for any debt contracted for any of the purposes hereinbefore specified, may make application to any officer authorized by law to perform the duties of a justice of the Supreme Court at chambers in the county within which such ship or vessel shall then be, for a warrant to enforce the said lien, and to collect the amount thereof. Such application shall be made in writing, and shall exhibit and specify :

1st, By whom and when such debt was contracted, and for what ship or vessel ; 2d, The items composing such debt ; 3d, The amount claimed, and that the same is justly due to the person in whose behalf the application is made, over and above all payments and just deductions ; 4th, Any assignment or transfer of such debt, if any such has taken place since the same was contracted ; 5th, When and where the specification of such debt was filed. Such application shall be verified by the affidavit of the creditor, or of the person making the application, or of his or their agent in that behalf.

The officer to whom such application shall be made, shall thereupon issue a warrant to the sheriff, specifying the amount of the claim, and the names of the persons making such claim, and commanding him to attach, seize, and safely keep said ship or vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, to satisfy such claim, if established, to be a lien upon such vessel, according to law, and to make return of his proceedings under such warrant to the officer who issued the same, within ten days after such seizure.

The person applying for such warrant, after giving the necessary undertaking required by law, shall, within three days after the issuing thereof, cause a notice to be published once in each week for four successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county in which such vessel may then be, or, if no newspaper be so published in such county, then in the nearest county in which a newspaper shall be so published, setting forth that such warrant has been issued, the amount of the claim specified therein, and that such vessel will be sold for the payment of the claims against her, unless the master, owner, or consignee thereof, or some person interested therein, appear and discharge such warrant according to law, within thirty days from the first publication of such notice.

On Buildings.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, shall have a lien therefor to the value of the sum agreed to upon the same, to the extent of the right, title, and interest in, of, and to the same, by the party employing him; provided the person furnishing such labor or materials shall, within thirty days after the performance and completion of such labor, or the final furnishing of such materials, cause to be drawn up and deposit in the hands of the county clerk of the town where the property is located, specifications of the work contracted to be performed, or materials to be furnished, and stating the price or prices agreed to be paid therefor, the name of the owner of the building, and the situation of the building by street and number, if the street be known.

This lien shall take effect from the time of depositing the same in the office of the county clerk, and shall continue in force for the term of twelve months.

Any contractor, sub-contractor, or laborer performing any work, or assignee thereof, and any resident of said county furnishing any materials as above provided, may, after such labor has been performed, or materials furnished, and the service of the notice required above, bring an action in the Superior Court in the county in which the property is situated, or in the county court of said county, when the amount exceeds fifty dollars, to enforce said lien, and said action shall be commenced by serving a notice containing a statement of the facts constituting the claim, and the amount thereof, on the owner of the property, or his agent, requiring the said owner to appear in person or by attorney within thirty days after such service, and answer the same, and serve a copy of such answer, together with a notice of any set-off that he may have on the claimant or his attorney; or in default thereof, that the claimant will take judgment against the said owner for the amount claimed to be due for the labor performed or the materials furnished, with interest thereon and costs; and for the purpose of more effectually transacting the business contemplated by this act, said Supreme Court and County Court shall be deemed to be always open.

Within thirty days after the service of such notice and bill of particulars, the defendant shall personally serve the claimant or his attorney with a copy of his answer and notice of set-off, if any he has, duly verified by the oath of the owner, his agent, or contractor, to the effect that the same is in all respects true, or his default may be entered and judgment taken and enforced.

When the amount of the lien claimed is for one hundred dollars or under, the claimant may commence such action in a Justice's Court of the town in which the building is located, by serving a notice upon the owner or his agent any where within this State, requiring such owner to appear before a justice of the town in which the property is situated, which said notice shall contain a statement of the facts constituting the claim, and the amount thereof, and shall require such owner to appear before said justice in person or by attorney at a time certain, not less than thirty days after such service, and answer the same, or in default thereof, that the claimant will take judgment against such owner for the amount so claimed to be due, with interest thereon and costs.

Any laborer performing such labor for a contractor may, within thirty days after such labor has been performed, and claiming to have a lien therefor, produce and deliver to the owner or his agent a statement in writing, signed by himself and the said contractor, specifying how much is due to such person for such labor done; or in default of so doing, shall take the necessary proceedings against such contractor to procure a settlement of the amount due. The amount so ascertained to be due shall be paid by the owner, and the same shall be deemed to be a payment by the owner on the contract made with such owner or his agent.

In the City of New York, any person or persons who shall hereafter, as contractor, laborer, workman, merchant, or trader, in pursuance of, or in conformity with, the terms of any contract with or employment by the owner, or by or in accordance with the directions of the owner or his agent, perform any labor or furnish any materials towards the erection of, or in altering, improving or repairing of any building or buildings, or the appurtenances thereto, shall have a lien for the value of such labor and materials, or either, upon such house and the appurtenances and lot on which the same shall stand, to the full value of such claim or demand, and to the extent of the right, title, and interest then existing of the owner of said premises in favor of every person or persons who shall be employed by any owner, contractor, sub-contractor, jobber, or master workman in manner aforesaid, and notwithstanding any sale, transfer or incumbrance made or incurred at any time after the commencement of the work or furnishing materials; provided that at any time before the whole work is completed, or within three months after the work is done or the materials furnished, for which a lien is sought, if the work is then finished or abandoned, any claimant file with the county clerk a notice, stating the residence of the claimant, verified by his oath or affirmation, stating the amount claimed, from whom, and to whom due, with a brief description of the premises, by street, number, or a diagram of boundary, or by a reference to maps open to the public, so as to furnish information to persons examining titles, and the supposed owner, although no error in the owner's name shall impair the validity of the lien. The clerk shall enter in a lien docket the name and residence of the claimant, the person against whom claimed, the amount, and the date of filing, the street and particular place where located, and he shall receive ten cents on filing the same. He shall also enter on this docket a notice that a suit is commenced thereon, upon a notice of that fact and affidavit of service being filed with him, for which he shall receive five cents. The county clerk shall make searches for such liens on being furnished with a proper description of any property and without reference to the individuals against whom the lien is filed, his fees to be five cents per year for the time embraced in said search.

Any person or persons having filed a notice of lien, may, in ten days thereafter, institute a proceeding to enforce or foreclose the lien, and any owner or other person interested may also commence such proceedings, and every person or persons who have filed liens shall be parties to and have notice of the said proceedings, and before final judgment, shall be notified to appear and join in the said proceedings, such notice to be served at least five days before the entering of said judgment. Where the aggregate of liens shall be less than five hundred dollars the said proceedings may be had before any court in the said city, and where they exceed that sum, when the proceedings are commenced, the action shall be conducted in a court of record having equity jurisdiction, and none of the courts in the said city shall be deprived of jurisdiction by reason of the residence of any parties elsewhere, and service of process in such actions may be by publication as to any of the parties not residing in this State, or who may have removed therefrom.

Liens shall in all cases cease after one year, unless by order of court the lien is continued and a new docket made stating such fact without a discharge of the lien.

All former acts giving liens in the City of New York to mechanics and others erecting buildings in the City of New York are repealed, except so far as may be necessary to carry into effect liens acquired before this act takes effect, and any person or persons performing work or furnishing materials under any contract made prior to July first, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, may thereafter acquire a lien therefor pursuant to the provisions of this act.

No transfer or assignment of his interest in the contract by the contractors shall be valid as against parties entitled to file liens under said contract against said contractor.

For the purposes of this act, any person or persons who may have sold or disposed of his or their lands upon an executory contract of purchase contingent upon the erection of buildings thereon shall be deemed the owner and his vendee the contractor, and said owner shall in all respects be subject to the provisions of this act.

This act shall take effect on the first day of July, eighteen hundred and sixty-three.

In the counties of Kings and Queens.

Any person who shall perform any labor or furnish materials in building, altering or repairing any house, building or other improvement upon lands or appurtenances to such house or building, by virtue of any contract with the owner thereof, or his agent, or with any contractor or sub-contractor, or any person permitted by the owner of such lands to build, repair, alter, or improve as aforesaid, within the counties of Kings or Queens, shall have a lien therefor to the value of the sum agreed to upon the same, to the extent of the right, title, and interest at that time existing, of such owner; provided that within three months after the performance of such labor, or the furnishing of such materials, the contractor, sub-contractor, laborer, person furnishing materials, or other claimant, shall serve a notice in writing upon the county clerk of the county or counties aforesaid, in which the land and premises, or any portion thereof, may be situated, specifying the amount of the claim and the person against whom the claim is made, the name of the owner of the building, and the situation of the building by its street and number, if the number be known. The said county clerk shall enter the particulars of such notice in a book to be kept in his office, to be called "the lien docket." A fee of ten cents shall be paid to the county clerk on filing such lien. A copy of said notice shall be served on said owner by delivering the same personally, when possible, or if he be out of this State by delivering the same to his agent personally; and after such service such owner shall not be protected in any payments made by him to such contractor or other claimant in this section specified.

Every lien created under this act shall continue until the expiration of one year from the creation thereof, and until judgment rendered in any proceedings for the enforcement thereof.

Any claimant, under or by virtue of any such lien or any such notice, may, after such labor has been performed or materials furnished, and after the filing of such notice, enforce or bring to a close such lien, by a civil action in a court of record in the city or county in which such lands or any portion of them may be situated, at a certain date within thirty days of the service of such notice, and submit to a settlement in such court of the amount claimed to be due.

When the action or proceedings are commenced by a person having a claim against a contractor, with the owner, or against a sub-contractor with the contractor or other sub-contractor, such contractor or sub-contractor may be made a defendant with such owner, and judgment may be rendered against the contractor or sub-contractor for the amount which shall be found owing by him, in addition to the judgment herein before provided for against such owner, and the court may award costs against such of the parties as shall be just.

The lien laws passed in eighteen hundred and fifty-three and eighteen hundred and fifty-eight are now repealed.

NEW JERSEY.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering or repairing any building, has a lien therefor upon the same. To render this lien valid, such person must draw up specifications of the work contracted to be performed or materials to be furnished, and stating the price or prices agreed to be paid therefor, and file them, or, if there be a written contract, a true copy thereof, in the office of the County Clerk, and serve a notice thereof personally on such owner or his agent within fifteen days after making such contract, or after furnishing such labor or materials. The lien takes effect from the time of filing such specification and the service of the notice, and remains in force for two months after the completion of the building; previous to the expiration of which term the lienholder must commence legal proceedings against the owner of the property to enforce payment of the claim. The lien holds the building and the lot on which the same may stand.

All fixtures for manufacturing purposes, shall be construed to include any building, erection or construction of whatever description attached or annexed, or intended to be attached or annexed to any land or tenement, and designed to be used in the building or repairing of vessels, whether the same be permanently attached to the freehold, or so built as to be removed from place to place, and only temporarily attached to the land, and whether the same be intended and designed for use on land or water.

When a contractor refuses to pay any workman employed by him to perform labor on such building, or on the grounds connected therewith, such workman may give a written notice of such refusal to the owner of the property, together with a statement of the amount due and demanded; on receipt of which notice the owner is authorized to pay the amount to the workman, and to retain the same out of the sum due the contractor. When a number of workmen thus present their claims to the owner, the aggregate of such claims must not exceed the amount of the contract. In case the owner should refuse to pay their claims, then the building may be sold for the same; but if the building should not sell for a sum sufficient to pay such claims, then the same shall be averaged, and each creditor be paid a sum proportional to his demand. Action preparatory to the sale must be instituted within one year from the time the work is done or the materials furnished.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering or repairing any building, has a lien therefor on the same, and also on the land for the purposes of the building. This lien takes precedence of all that may subsequently attach. To enforce it, a statement of the claim and of the agreement on which it is founded must be filed in the office of the Prothonotary (Clerk) of the Court of Common Pleas, in the county where the property is situate. If this statement be not so filed, the lien will continue only six months. If it be filed, the lien will remain in force five years from the date of such filing, when it may be renewed by giving the owner notice of the lien-holder's intention to make an application to that effect.

All ships, steamboats or vessels navigating the rivers Alleghany, Monongahela or Ohio, in this State, shall be liable and subject to a lien in the following cases:

First. For all the wages due to hands or persons employed on board such ships, steam or other boats or vessels, for work done, or for services rendered on board or for the same.

Second. For all debts contracted for materials furnished, or work or labor done.

Third. For all bills, bonds, notes, or any other obligation of indebtedness, whether the same be signed and given on account of work or labor done, or materials furnished in the building, repairing, fitting, furnishing, equipping or insuring, or for sums due for wharfage or anchorage, such ships, steam or other boats or vessels as hereinbefore specified or enumerated: Provided, That the lien of the same shall continue in favor and to the benefit of all and every party or parties whomsoever, into whose hands the same may have passed by transfer, assignment or otherwise.

No more than three months' wages can be recovered in any suit upon a lien in the first class above specified, and the suit must be commenced within sixty days after three months' wages shall have become due.

All suits upon liens in any other than the first class above enumerated, must be commenced within two years after the said materials are furnished, or work or labor done.

DELAWARE.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering or repairing any building, has a lien thereon to the agreed-upon amount of his claim. This lien takes precedence of all subsequent attachments. To enforce it, the lien-holder must notify the owner thereof of the sum claimed by him to be due, and also of his intention to claim the benefit of such lien. The owner is authorized, on proof of the correctness of the claim, to pay the amount, and to deduct the same from what is due by him to the contractor.

MARYLAND.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering or repairing a building has a lien therefor upon the same, and also takes the land necessarily connected therewith. This lien takes precedence of all others that may subsequently attach. It may be enforced by serving, or causing to be served on the owner of the property or his legal representative, within thirty days after the performance of such labor or furnishing such materials, a specification of the work done or the materials furnished, and stating the price or prices agreed to be paid therefor, together with a notice of his intention to claim the benefit of such lien. If a copy of this statement be filed in the Clerk's office of the county, the lien takes effect from the time of such filing, and remains in force the term of six months, when it expires, unless legal action is previously instituted to secure the collection of the debt.

[ This law applies only to Baltimore and a few other counties. Lien laws have been enacted for the other counties, but they are changed so frequently, that to insert any or all of them would be useless, and most probably prove a source of loss to those who should place any reliance upon them in case of actions.]

VIRGINIA.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for the construction of a building has a lien therefor, both on building and the land connected therewith. This lien is lost at the expiration of six months, if the lien-holder fails to commence an action for the amount of the claim previous to the end of such term. If the necessary action be commenced, and the lien be established, the court is authorized to order a sale of the owner's interest in the house and land to satisfy the claim of the contractor.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Any person constructing, altering or repairing any building under a written contract, signed in the presence of two attesting witnesses, shall, upon filing such contract in a court of record, have a legal lien upon such building for the term of three years after the term of such filing. But such lien will not impair or take precedence of any prior lien, nor remain in force longer than the time specified, unless process shall be previously taken to enforce payment of the debt.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Any person constructing, altering, repairing or furnishing materials for any building, shall have a lien therefor on the same. But an agreement, specifying the particulars of the work to be done or the materials to be furnished, and a general description of the premises, and signed by the parties to the contract and the owner of the property, in the presence of one or more attesting witnesses, must be filed in the office of the Register of mesne conveyances for the district in which the property is situate. The lien is in force for the term of three years from the filing of such statement.

GEORGIA.—All persons furnishing wood, provisions, labor or materials for the construction of vessels of any kind, shall have a lien therefor on the same, if they institute legal proceedings for the collection of their claims any time within twelve months after their claims are due.

Any person constructing, altering, or repairing any building, shall have a lien therefor on the same, if he, any time within three months of the completion of the building, shall file a bill of particulars of his claim in the Clerk's office of the county where the property is situate. To enforce his lien, he must institute a suit against the owner of the property for the amount of his claim, within twelve months from the time the debt is due.

Any machinist who may furnish or put up, in any county in this State, any steam mill or other machinery, or who may repair the same, shall be entitled to the same lien on such machinery and the premises, to which the same may be attached, and may enforce such lien in the same manner, and with like benefits, privileges and restrictions, as is extended to masons and carpenters.

TEXAS.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing of any building, shall have a lien therefor, of the nature of a mortgage, on the same, and also on the land on which the building shall stand, until the amount due for such services or materials shall be fully paid. The contract for such labor or materials, or a true copy thereof, must be recorded in the Clerk's office of the county where the property is situate, within thirty days after such contract is made.

Any person performing labor on such building, or the grounds necessarily connected therewith, for a delinquent contractor, may present an attested statement of the value of such labor to the owner of the property, who is authorized by statute to pay the amount, and to deduct the same from what may be due the contractor. [Incorporated cities are exempt from the operation of this law.]

FLORIDA.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing a building, shall have a lien upon the same until the amount agreed upon by the parties is fully paid. To enforce the claim, it is necessary to file in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of the county in which the property is situate and within six months after the work has been performed, or the materials furnished, a true account of what is due him after all credits, and verify it by his own oath, or that of some other person, and also record at the same time a correct description of the property charged with such lien. The necessary land connected with the building shall also be subject to said lien. Laborers also have each a lien upon such building and land, to the agreed-upon amount of their respective demands.

All persons furnishing materials for constructing, or stores for provisioning, or performing labor or service of any kind upon any kind of vessel, shall have a lien therefor on the same; which lien shall take precedence of all others, provided suit is brought to enforce the same within twenty days from the time when such lien accrued.

ALABAMA.—Any person who shall furnish labor, materials, or stores for any vessel, by order of the master or captain of the same, shall have a lien on such vessel for the same. To enforce this lien, the party must institute an action against the vessel for the amount of his claim, within thirty days from the time when the lien accrued.

Any person contracting to put up any building, shall have a lien upon such building, and on the land connected therewith, until the amount specified in the contract is fully paid. To enforce such lien, the contract, or an attested copy thereof, must be recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County Court, within thirty days after the completion of the building.

MISSISSIPPI.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, on written contract, shall have a lien therefor upon the same. To enforce such lien, he must have the contract, or a true copy thereof, recorded in the Clerk's office of the Court of Probates of the county. Where there is no written contract, and the claim is held for labor performed, or materials furnished by order of the contractor, then the party so laboring on such building, or furnishing materials for the same, shall, within thirty days after commencing such labor, or furnishing such materials, serve on the owner of the property a statement or bill of particulars of his claim. To enforce the lien, an action for the recovery of the claim must be instituted within six months from the time the lien accrues.

LOUISIANA.—Any person laboring, furnishing labor, or supplying materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, has a lien therefor on the same. If the claim is over five hundred dollars, and founded on a written contract, the latter, or an attested copy thereof, must be filed in the Clerk's office of the parish (county) where the property is situate, within thirty days after the date of such contract. If the claim be less than five hundred dollars, and is not founded on labor done, or materials furnished, on a written contract, the lien is equally good, but only for six months, when it becomes lost unless the holder shall have previously commenced an action for the recovery of his claim. If, however, the order for the labor or materials is from the contractor, and he—the contractor—shall have been paid by the owner according to contract, then no action for the recovery of the debt can be instituted against the owner, who has already paid. But if the owner shall not have paid the contractor, then the moneys due the contractor may be seized for the benefit of the lien-holders.

Workmen on any vessel have a lien for all moneys due them for labor on the same, whether the order for such labor is in writing or not; but such lien is lost if they allow the vessel to leave port without enforcing the lien by an action. All claims and contracts for labor or materials furnished must, to enforce a lien, be filed in the office of the Recorder of Mortgages.

ARKANSAS.—Any person laboring, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, to the amount of one hundred dollars, has a lien therefor upon the same. To legalize the lien, the lien-holder must file with the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county where the property is situate, a correct, attested account of his claim, within three months after the labor performed and the materials furnished. The lien extends both to the building and the land connected therewith, provided such land does not exceed two acres. The lien will continue in force only one year after the completion of the building, unless an action be instituted to enforce it.

TENNESSEE.—Any person laboring, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, or any machinist who may furnish or repair machinery, shall have a lien therefor upon the same, for the term of one year after the performance or furnishing of such labor or materials, and till the decision of any suit that may be instituted within that term, on account of such lien. To legalize such lien, however, a written notice of the lien-holder's claim, duly verified, must first be given to the owner of the property, or his legal representative, at the time the work is begun, or the materials furnished.

Any person laboring on, or furnishing materials for constructing, altering, fitting, or repairing, or stores for provisioning, any vessel, shall have a lien therefor on the same. But to legalize such lien, the lien-holder must institute an action for the amount of his claim within three months from the time when the services are rendered, the materials furnished, or the stores supplied.

KENTUCKY.—The lien enactments of this State, like those of Maryland, are varied and incomplete, and permanent only in certain localities and counties. In the towns of Bowling-Green, Brandenburg, Covington, Frankfort, Hickman, Lexington, Louisville, Maysville, Newport, Owensboro', Paducah, Russellville, and Smithland, and the counties of Calloway, Jefferson, and Marshall, any person laboring, or furnishing materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, has a lien therefor upon the same, and on the land necessarily connected therewith. To render the lien binding, however, he must file the particulars and amount of his claim, and also an intelligible description of the property, and its location, in the Clerk's office of the county where the same is situate, within six months from the time when such labor is performed or furnished, or such materials furnished. In Paducah, and some other of the above-named towns, the lien may be enforced by instituting a suit for the amount of the claim, any time within twelve months.

OHIO.—Any person laboring on, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, shall have a lien therefor on the same, and on the land necessarily connected therewith. To bind the lien, he, within four months from the performance of such labor, or delivery of such materials, must deliver to the owner of the building an attested statement of the particulars of the claim remaining unpaid; whereupon, if the account be that of a mechanic or laborer, the owner is authorized to pay the amount, and to deduct the same from what may be owing by him to the contractor. Should the owner fail or refuse to pay the account, or should the statement be that of a contractor or sub-contractor, the correctness of the claim, and the fact of the refusal or failure of the owner to pay it, must be sworn to before a magistrate, and the account and affidavits then filed in the office of the Recorder of the county, when the lien shall remain upon the said building and land for the term of two years from the commencement of such labor, or the furnishing of such labor or materials. Any suit brought within said two years will continue said lien till the rendering of judgment.

All steamboats and other water crafts, of twenty tons burden and upwards, navigating the waters within or bordering upon this State, shall be liable, and such liability shall be a lien thereon, for all debts contracted on account thereof, by the master, owner, steward, consignee or other agent, for materials, supplies, or labor in the building, repairing, furnishing or equipping the same, or for insurance, or due for wharfage, and also for damages arising out of any contract for the transportation of goods or persons, or for injuries done to persons or property by such craft, or for any damages or injury done by the captain, mate, or other officers thereof, or by any person under the order or sanction of either of them to any person who may be a passenger or hand on such steamboat or other water craft at the time of the infliction of such damage or injury.

MICHIGAN.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, shall have a lien therefor on the same when such labor is done, or the materials furnished, under a written contract, signed by the owner or his agent, and the contract recorded in the Clerk's office of the county where the property is situate. The lien ceases at the expiration of six months, unless a suit shall previously be commenced to enforce it.

INDIANA.—Any person laboring, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, shall have a lien therefor upon the same. Any sub-contractor or laborer may notify the owner of the property of their claim, whereupon the owner shall become liable for the same, provided he, at the time of receiving such notice, shall be indebted to the contractor to that amount; if not, then to the amount to which he is indebted to the contractor. After the service of such notice upon the owner, and sixty days subsequent to the completion of the building, alteration, or repairs, or the furnishing of the supplies, the lien-holder must file a notice of his intention to claim the benefit of the lien on said property, together with a bill of particulars of the debt, in the Recorder's office of the county in which the property lies.

Any person laboring on, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing, or stores for provisioning, or wood or coal for fuel, for any vessel, shall have a lien therefor, on the same; and such lien shall take precedence of all subsequent claims whatsoever, except mariners' wages.

ILLINOIS.—Any person laboring on, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, repairing, or altering any building, shall have a lien therefor on the same, and on the lot or tract of land on which the building shall stand. To bind such lien, a suit must be instituted within six months from the date when the last payment is due. Landlords have a lien also on all crops of a tenant, whether such crops be already grown, or in course of growth, for unpaid rent.

MISSOURI.—Sec. 1. Every mechanic or other person who shall do or perform any work or labor upon, or furnish any materials, fixtures, engine, boiler or machinery for any building, erection or improvements upon land, or for repairing the same, under or by virtue of any contract with the owner or proprietor thereof, or his agent, trustee, contractor or sub-contractor, upon complying with the provisions of this chapter, shall have, for his work or labor done, or materials, fixtures, engine, boiler or machinery furnished, a lien upon such building, erection or improvements, and upon the land belonging to such owner or proprietor on which the same are situated, to the extent of one acre; or, if such building, erection or improvement be upon any lot of land in any town, city or village, then such lien shall be upon such building, erection or improvements, and the lot or land upon which the same are situated, to secure the payment for such work or labor done, or materials, fixtures, engine, boiler or machinery furnished, as aforesaid.

Sec. 2. The entire land, to the extent aforesaid, upon which any such building, erection or other improvement is situated, including as well that part of said land which is not covered with such building, erection or other improvement, as that part thereof which is covered with the same, shall be subject to all liens created by this chapter, to the extent, and only to the extent of all the right, title and interest owned therein by the owner or proprietor of such building, erection or other improvement, for whose immediate use or benefit the labor was done or things were furnished.

Sec. 3. The lien for the things aforesaid, or work, shall attach to the buildings, erections or improvements for which they furnished or the work was done, in preference to any prior lien, or encumbrance, or mortgage, upon the land upon which such buildings, erections, improvements or machinery have been erected or put; and any person enforcing such lien may have such building, erection or improvement sold under execution and the purchaser may remove the same within a reasonable time thereafter.

Sec. 4. Every building or other improvement erected, or materials furnished, according to the provisions of this chapter, on leased lots or lands, shall be held for the debt contracted for or on account of the same, and also the leasehold term for such lot and land on which the same is erected; and, in case the lessee shall have forfeited his lease, the purchaser of the building and leasehold term, or so much thereof as remains unexpired, under the provisions of this chapter, shall be held to be the assignee of such leasehold term, and as such shall be entitled to pay up to the lessor all arrears of rent or other money, interest and costs due under said lease, unless the lessor shall have regained possession of the leasehold land, or obtained judgment for the possession thereof, on account of the non-compliance by the lessee with the terms of the lease, prior to the commencement of the improvements therein; in which case the purchaser of the improvements, under this chapter, shall have the right only to remove the improvements, within sixty days after he shall purchase the same, and the owner of the ground shall receive the rent due him, payable out of the proceeds of the sale, according to the terms of the lease, down to the time of removing the building.

Sec. 5. And it shall be the duty of every original contractor, within six months, and every journeyman and day-laborer, within thirty days, and of every other person seeking to obtain the benefit of the provisions of this chapter, within four months after the indebtedness shall have accrued, to file with the clerk of the circuit court of the proper county a just and true account of the demand due him or them, after all just credits have been given, which is to be a lien upon such building or other improvements, and a true description of the property, or so near as to identify the same, upon which the lien is intended to apply, with the name of the owner or contractor, or both, if known to the person filing the lien, which shall in all cases be verified by the oath of himself, or some credible person for him.

Sec. 6. It it shall be the duty of the clerk of the circuit court to indorse upon every account the date of its filing, and make an abstract thereof in a book by him to be kept for that purpose, and properly indorsed and indexed, containing the date of its filing, the name of the person seeking to enforce the lien, the amount claimed, the name of the person against whose property the lien is filed, and a description of the property charged with the same, for all of which the clerk shall receive, as full compensation, the sum of one dollar from the person filing the account or seeking to enforce the lien, which shall be taxed and collected as other costs, in case there should be an action brought thereon.

Sec. 7. The lien for work and materials, as aforesaid, shall be preferred to all other incumbrances which may be attached to or upon such buildings, bridges or other improvements, or the ground, or either of them, subsequent to the commencement of such buildings or improvements.

Iowa.—Any person furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any building, by agreement with the owner thereof, or with the lessee of the land with the owner's knowledge and consent, shall have a lien therefor upon the same, and also upon so much of the land necessarily connected therewith as cannot be sold so as to avoid such lien. Suit must be instituted for the amount of the lien within twelve months from the time of payment specified in the contract. If the suit be brought in the District Court, it must be by bill or petition, describing the nature and particulars of the contract, and the character and location of the property. The execution in a suit of this kind must levy only upon the property specified, as no other property of defendant is liable for the payment of such judgment. By a law of the State, miners have a lien upon a sufficient quantity of mineral to pay any just demand for labor performed upon it.

WISCONSIN.—Any person laboring on, or furnishing materials for constructing, repairing, or altering any building, or upon all machinery put up or repaired, shall have a lien upon the same, and also upon the land attached thereto, for the term of twelve months, provided such land shall not exceed forty acres, or if within the limits of any city, town, or village plot, one acre; and such lien shall have precedence of all other liens subsequent to the construction, alteration, or repairing of such building. Sub-contractors are required to notify the owner within thirty days after performing such labor or furnishing such materials to said owner, or their lien upon the same will be lost.

Any person or persons who shall furnish, at the request of the owner thereof, materials, or do any work, in filling up any water lot, or in erecting or constructing any wharf or other permanent fixture thereon, or in dredging out the channel in front of such lots, under contract with the owner thereof, shall be entitled to enforce a lien therefor.

Any mechanic or artisan who shall make, alter, or repair any article of personal property at the request of the owner, shall have a lien thereon for his just and reasonable charges for his work done and materials furnished, and he may retain the same in his possession until such charges shall be paid; and if not paid at the end of six months after the work is done, he may proceed to sell the property at public auction, by giving three weeks' public notice of such sale in some newspaper published in the county in which the work may be done; and the proceeds of said sale shall be applied first to the discharge of such lien and the expenses of selling such property, and the remainder, if any, shall be paid over to the owner thereof.

CALIFORNIA.—Any person performing or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing any wharf or building, shall have a lien therefor upon the same. Sub-contrators, mechanics, and laborers must notify the owner or owners in writing of the particulars of their claims, and that they hold said owner or owners liable for the same; and the owner or owners are made responsible for such claims, provided said owner or owners are indebted to the employer to the stated amount; if not, then to the amount to which said owner or owners shall be indebted to the employer at the time of service of such notice. When this notice shall have been served, the sub-contractor, mechanic, or laborer shall present to his employer a copy of such notice for his endorsement. If the employer endorse, then the owner or owners shall pay the same, if the latter stand indebted to him to that amount; if not, then to the amount due to said employer at the time the notice was served. If the owner or owners fail to pay, the sub-contractor, mechanic, or laborer may, within thirty days after the service of the notice, commence a suit to enforce his lien. Should the employer refuse to endorse the claim, the sub-contractor, mechanic, or laborer shall lose his lien, unless he shall, within thirty days after the service of the notice, commence an action against the employer to establish the claim. If he obtain judgment against his employer, he shall lose his lien for the amount thereof, unless, within thirty days thereafter, he shall commence an action against the owner or owners for the amount of the judgment, if such amount be then due from the owner or owners to the employer; if not, then he shall file a notice of said claim and judgment in the Recorder's office of the county in which the property is situate, and shall commence his action against the owner or owners within thirty days after the money is due from the owner or owners to the employer. The owner or owners may set-off the amount of the judgment in any action brought against said owner or owners by the contractor or person otherwise entitled to recover the same under the contract. The land set out at the time of the contract, for the use of the building, shall also be subject to the lien.

Any mechanic who shall make, alter, or repair any article of personal property, at the request of the owner or owners thereof, shall have a lien therefor upon the same, and may retain possession of the same till the price agreed upon for making, altering, or repairing such article shall be paid; and if not paid within two months, he may sell the same at public auction, after giving three weeks' notice by advertisement in some newspaper published in the county; if there be no newspaper, then by posting up notices of such sale in three of the most public places in the town where the article was made, altered, or repaired. CALIFORNIA.—To secure a lien for any sum over $200, there must be a contract or memorandum in writing signed by the party sought to be charged. MINNESOTA.—Any person laboring on, or furnishing labor or materials for constructing, altering, or repairing, any dwelling-house or other building, shall have a lien upon the same, and also upon the land attached thereto, for the term of twelve months, provided such land shall not exceed forty acres; or if within the limits of any city, town, or village plot, one acre; and such lien shall have precedence of all other liens subsequent to the construction, alteration or repairing of such building. The debt for services or materials, as aforesaid, shall not remain a lien on such land or building, for a longer period than sixty days after the person performing such services, or furnishing such materials, has ceased so to do, unless he shall lodge with the Register of Deeds of the county in which said building is situated, a certificate in writing, describing the premises, the amount claimed as a lien thereon, and the date of the commencement of the claim, which certificate shall be recorded by the Register of Deeds. Nor shall the debt for services or material, as aforesaid, remain a lien on such land or building, for a longer period than one year after such certificate in writing has been so lodged with the Register of Deeds, unless an action for the recovery thereof be instituted within the said year. The plaintiff may, at any time after filing his certificate as above provided, serve a summons and notice on the defendant, and proceed to judgment as in other actions, but the lien hereby created shall cease to exist after the expiration of one year from the time the labor was performed, or the materials furnished, unless a summons be issued and served within that time.

OREGON.—Any person who shall, by virtue of any contract with the owner of any building, or with the agent of such owner, perform any labor upon, or furnish any materials, engine, or machinery for the construction or repairing of such building, shall, upon filing a notice in the Recorder's office of the county in which such building is situated, at any time within three months after the completion of such building or repairs, stating his intention to hold a lien upon such building for the amount due, or to become due, specifically setting forth such amount, and containing a description of the building upon which the labor was performed, or for which the materials, engine, and machinery were furnished, such lien shall cease to exist at the expiration of one year after the completion of the building or repairs, unless before that time an action to enforce the same shall have been commenced in the district court of the county in which the premises are situated, by the person having such lien, against the owner with whom, or with whose agent, the contract was made, unless such claim be not due at the expiration of one year after such completion, in which case the action shall be commenced within three months after the same shall have become due. Such lien against any building shall also extend to the lot of ground upon which such building is erected, not exceeding one half of an acre in extent, if the land shall have been, at the time of erecting such building, the property of the person who shall have caused the same to be erected.

Every boat or vessel used in navigating the waters of this State and Territory, shall be liable and subject to a lien for wages due to persons employed, for work done or services rendered on board of such boat or vessel; for all debts contracted by the master, owner, agent, or consignee thereof, on account of labor done, or materials furnished by mechanics, tradesmen or others, in the building, repairing, fitting out, furnishing, or equipping such boat or vessel, or on account of stores and supplies furnished for the use thereof; for all sums due for wharfage, anchorage, or towage of such boats or vessels; and such lien shall have precedence of all other liens and claims against such boat or vessel; all actions against a boat or vessel, shall be commenced within one year after the cause of action shall have accrued.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—There is a conditional lien law on buildings in the city of Washington which enacts, that for all sums due and owing on written contracts, for the building of any house in the said city, or the brick work, or carpenter or joiners' work thereon, the undertaker or workmen employed by the person for whose use the house shall be built, shall have a lien on the house and the ground on which the same is erected, as well as for the materials found by him: provided the said written contract shall have been acknowledged before one of the Commissioners, a Justice of the Peace, or an alderman of the Corporation of Georgetown, and recorded in the office of the clerk for recording deeds, within three calendar months from the time of acknowledgment as aforesaid; and if within one year after the last of the work is done, he proceeds in equity, he shall have remedy as upon a mortgage, or if he proceeds at law within the same time he may have execution against the house and land, in whose hands soever the same may be; but this remedy shall be considered as additional only; nor shall, as to the land, take place of any legal incumbrance made prior to the commencement of such claim.

NEBRASKA.—Any person who shall perform any labor, or furnish any material or machinery, for the erection, reparation, or re removal of any house, mill, manufactory, or other building, or appurtenance, by virtue of a contract or agreement, expressed or implied, with the owner thereof or his agent, shall have a lien to secure the payment of the same, upon such house, mill, manufactory, or other buildings or appurtenance, and the lot of land on which the same shall stand.

Any person or persons entitled to a lien under this act shall make an account in writing of the items of labor, skill, machinery and material furnished, or either of them, as the case may be, and after making oath thereto shall, within four months from the time of performing such labor and skill, or furnishing such machinery and material, file the same in the Recorder's office of the county in which such labor, skill and materials shall have been furnished, and when thus recorded, it shall, for two years after the completion of such labor, or the furnishing of such materials, operate as a lien on the several descriptions of structures and buildings, and the lots on which they stand.

WASHINGTON.—All mechanics, and all persons performing labor, or furnishing materials for the construction or repair of any building, may have a lien, separately or jointly, upon the building which they may have constructed or repaired, or upon any building, mill, or other manufactory, for which they may have furnished materials of any description, and on the interest of the owner in the lot or land on which it stands, to the extent of the value of any labor done, or materials furnished, or for both, when the amount shall exceed fifty dollars; such lien shall be filed in the Recorder's office of the county in which such building is situated, at any time within sixty days after the completion of such building or repairs; and such lien may remain in force, by filing a complaint in the District Court of the county, at any time within one year from the completion of the work, or furnishing materials; or, if a credit be given, from the expiration of the credit.

NEVADA.—Buildings.—All artisans, builders, mechanics, lumber merchants, and all other persons performing labor, or furnishing materials, to the amount of twenty-five dollars and upwards, for the construction or repairing of any building or superstructure, shall have a lien therefor upon the same, and also upon the land attached thereto; provided the person furnishing such labor or materials shall, within sixty days after the completion of such building, file in the County Clerk's Office of the county in which such building is situated, a just and true account of the demands due to him after deducting all proper credits and offsets, and shall verify such account by his own oath, or the oath of some other person, and shall also file at the same time a correct description of the property to be charged with said lien. If such lien is claimed by a sub-contractor performing labor or furnishing materials, the account aforesaid shall be filed within thirty days after the work was done, or the materials were furnished by him, and within five days after the filing of said account as aforesaid, he shall serve a copy thereof on the owner of such building or superstructure, or the agent of such owner, if the latter reside out of the county in which the building is situated, by delivering the same to him personally, or by leaving it at his usual place of residence. If such owner do not reside within the county, and have no agent therein, service of the copy aforesaid may be made by posting the same in a conspicuous place on the building or superstructure to be charged with such lien.

Every sub-contractor, journeyman, laborer, or other person performing labor, or furnishing materials, shall have a valid lien upon the building or superstructure on which such labor was performed, and for which such materials were furnished, regardless of the claims of the contractor against the owner of such building; but if any money be due, or is to become due, under the contract from said owner to said contractor, on being served with a notice by a sub-contractor, as provided in the last preceding section, said owner may withhold out of the first money due, or to become due under the contract, a sufficient sum to cover the lien claimed by such sub-contractor, journeyman or laborer, until the validity thereof shall have been established by proper legal proceedings, if the same be contested.

No such lien shall bind any building or superstructure for a longer period than six months after filing the same, unless a suit be brought in a proper court within that time to enforce the same, or, if a credit be given, then within six months after the expiration of the credit; but no lien shall be continued in force for a longer time than two years from the time the work is completed, or the materials furnished, by any agreement to give credit.

Said liens may be enforced by a suit in any court of competent jurisdiction, on setting forth in the complaint the particulars of such demand, with a description of the premises sought to be charged with said lien; and at the time of filing the complaint and issuing summons, the plaintiff shall cause a notice to be published, at least once a week for three consecutive weeks, in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one, and if not, then in such mode as the court shall direct, notifying all persons holding or claiming liens under the provisions of this act, on said premises, to be and appear in said court on a day specified therein, and during the regular term of such court, and to exhibit, then and there, the proof of said liens. On ascertaining the whole amount of said liens with which the said premises are justly chargeable, as hereinbefore provided, the court shall cause said premises to be sold in satisfaction of said liens and costs of suit, and any party in whose favor such judgments may be rendered, may cause the premises to be sold within the time, and in the manner provided for sales on execution at law, and if the proceeds of such sale shall not be sufficient to satisfy the whole of such liens, established as aforesaid, then the same shall be apportioned according to the rights of the several parties.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to take away, or affect in any manner, any action which any such contractor, laborer, sub-contractor, or other person performing labor or furnishing materials for such building or superstructure, would otherwise have against his employer.

DAKOTA—Vessels.—Every boat or vessel, used in navigating the waters of this territory, shall be liable for all debts contracted by the master, owner, agent, or consignee thereof, on account of supplies furnished for the use of such boat or vessel, on account of work done or services rendered on board of such boat or vessel, or on account of labor done or material furnished by mechanics, tradesmen, or others, in and for building, repairing, fitting out, furnishing, or equipping such boat or vessel; for all sums due for wharfage or anchorage of such boat or vessel in this territory; for all demands or damages accruing from the non-performance of any contract of affreightment, or any contract touching the transportation of persons or property, entered into by the master, owner, agent, or consignee of the boat or vessel, on which said contract is to be performed, and for all injuries done to persons or property by such boat or vessel.

Any person having a demand as aforesaid, instead of proceeding for the recovery thereof against the master, owner, agent or consignee of a boat or vessel, may, at his option, institute suit against the boat or vessel by name.

Any plaintiff wishing to institute suit against a boat or vessel, shall file his complaint against such boat or vessel by name, with the Clerk of the District Court of the county in which such boat or vessel shall be or lie, and he shall set forth his demand in all its particulars, and on whose account the same accrued: it shall be verified by the plaintiff, or some credible person for him.

Whenever any complaint, as aforesaid, shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, it shall be his duty to issue a warrant returnable in twenty days, directing and authorizing the Sheriff to seize the boat or vessel mentioned in the complaint, and detain the same in his custody, together with its tackle, apparel, and furniture, until discharged from such custody by due course of law.

Buildings.—Any person who has a subsisting cause of action to the amount of ten dollars and upwards for any labor performed upon any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or for any materials furnished for any improvements upon any lands, or buildings, may, at any time within ninety days next after such cause of action shall have accrued, file his complaint as in other cases, and serve a notice upon the defendant; and such complaint shall, in addition to the facts necessary to constitute a cause of action, contain an accurate description of the location of the lands and buildings upon which the labor was performed, or for the improvement of which the materials were furnished; and shall also allege that the defendant therein named is the owner of, or has some interest in, such lands or buildings, and that such labor was performed, or such materials furnished, pursuant to an agreement, expressed or implied, between the plaintiff and defendant or his agent; the said complaint shall, as soon as filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the proper county, constitute and be a lien upon the property therein described, in favor of the plaintiff, to the extent of the defendant's title or interest therein.

When the complaint does not allege that the labor was performed or the materials furnished, pursuant to an agreement with the defendant, but shall allege that the labor was performed or the materials furnished pursuant to an agreement with some contractor therein named, which contractor was employed by the defendant or his agent, and that the plaintiff was employed by said contractor, and had served a notice in writing upon the defendant or his agent, to the effect that he, the plaintiff, was, or had been, employed by the said contractor to perform labor thereon, or to furnish materials for the improvement of such lands and buildings, and relied upon him, the defendant, or upon such lands and buildings for his pay, then the filing of such complaint shall constitute and be a lien in favor of the plaintiff, the same as provided in the preceding section, to the amount that the defendant was indebted to the said contractor, when the notice was served upon him or his agent, and to the amount in which the defendant became indebted to said contractor after the service of said notice, and before the expiration of the plaintiff's lien.

The plaintiff may, at any time after filing his complaint as above provided, serve a notice on defendant, and proceed to judgment as in other actions; but the lien hereby created shall cease to exist after ninety days from the time the labor was performed, or the materials furnished, unless a notice be served within that time.

When the complaint does not allege that the labor was performed or the materials furnished, pursuant to an agreement with the defendant, but shall allege that the labor was performed or the materials furnished pursuant to an agreement with some contractor therein named, which contractor was employed by the defendant or his agent, and that the plaintiff was employed by said contractor, and had served a notice in writing upon the defendant or his agent, to the effect that he, the plaintiff, was, or had been employed by the said contractor, to perform labor thereon, or to furnish materials for the improvement of such lands and buildings, and relied upon him, the defendant, or upon such lands and buildings for his pay, then the filing of such complaint shall constitute and be a lien in favor of the plaintiff, the same as provided in the preceding section, to the amount that the defendant was indebted to said contractor when the notice was served upon him or his agent, and to the amount in which the defendant became indebted to said contractor after the service of said notice, and before the expiration of the plaintiff's lien.

The plaintiff may, at any time after filing his complaint as above provided, serve a notice on defendant, and proceed to judgment as in other actions, but the lien hereby created shall cease to exist one year from the time the labor was performed or the materials furnished, unless a notice be served within that time.

Every mechanic, builder, artisan, workman, laborer or other person who shall do or perform any work or labor upon, or furnish any material, machinery or fixtures for any building, erection or other improvement upon land, including contractors, sub-contractors, material furnishers, mechanics and laborers engaged in the construction of any railroad or other work of internal improvement, or for the work of labor done on any steamboat or other water-craft, or materials furnished for the same, or for the repairing of the same, under and by virtue of any contract with the owner or proprietor thereof, his agent, trustee, contractor or sub-contractor, shall have a lien upon such building, erection or improvement, and upon the land belonging to such owner or proprietor on which the same is situated, to secure the payment of such work or labor done, or materials, machinery or fixtures furnished.

2. Every sub-contractor wishing to avail himself of the benefits of this act shall give notice to the owner or proprietor, or his agent or trustee, before or at the time he furnishes any of the material aforesaid or performs any of the labor, of his intention to furnish or perform the same, and the probable value thereof; and if afterwards the materials are furnished or labor done, the sub-contractor shall settle with the contractor therefor, and having made the settlement in writing, the same, signed by the contractor and certified by him to be just, shall be presented to the owner or proprietor, or his agent or his trustees, and left with him; and within thirty days from the time the materials shall have been furnished, or the labor performed, the sub-contractor shall file with the recorder of the county in which the building, erection, boat, water-craft or other improvement is situated, a copy of the settlement between him and the contractor, which shall be a lien on the building, erection, boat, water-craft or other improvement for which the materials were furnished or for which the labor was performed; and shall at the same time file a correct description of the property to be charged with the lien, the correctness of which shall be verified by affidavit.

3. If the contractor shall, for any reason, fail or refuse to make and sign such settlement in writing with the sub-contractor when the same is demanded, then the sub-contractor shall make a just and true statement of the work and labor done or materials furnished by him, giving all credits, which he shall present to the owner or proprietor, or his agent or trustee; and shall also, within thirty days, file a copy of the same, verified by affidavit, with the Recorder of the county in which the building, erection, boat, or other improvement may be situated, together with a correct description of the property to be charged with the lien.

4. The certificate of settlement made as aforesaid, or the statement of the sub-contractor, shall be a justification to the employer in withholding from the contractor the amount appearing thereby to be due to the sub-contractor until he is satisfied that the same has been paid, and the employer shall become the surety of the contractor to the sub-contractor for the amount due for such work and labor or materials furnished, not, however, exceeding the value thereof, as notified under section second.

5. The notices mentioned shall be served as other notices are directed to be served.

6. It shall be the duty of every person, except as has been provided for sub-contractors, who wishes to avail himself of the provisions of this act, to file with the recorder of the county in which the building, erection or other improvement to be charged with lien is situated, and within ninety days after the materials aforesaid shall have been furnished, or the work and labor done or performed, a just and true account of the demand due or owing to him, after allowing all credits, and containing a correct description of the property to be charged with said lien, and testified by affidavit.

7. It shall be the duty of the recorder of the county to endorse upon every account the date of filing, and record the same in a book by him to be kept for that purpose, to be called the "Mechanics' Lien Record," properly indexed; and he shall state the time of the filing of the same, the description of the property to be charged by the said lien; and shall, when duly required, enter satisfaction on the same, for which said recorder shall receive in each case the sum of one dollar, to be paid by the person imposing the lien, which shall be taxed and collected as other costs in case there be a suit thereon.

8. Where there are several contractors under the same employer, for the building or erection or other improvement, or for work or labor, or for materials furnished for the same, the said several lienors shall have no priority of lien for such work and labor or materials furnished; and if the said structure and the ground on which the same is situated be not sufficient to pay the expenses of the whole structure, the said laborers and material men shall be paid pro-rata.

9. The entire land upon which any such building, erection or other improvement is situated, including as well that part of said land which is not covered with such building, erection or improvement, shall be subject to all liens created by this act, to the extent, and only to the extent, of all right, title and interest owned therein by the owner or proprietor of such building, erection or other improvement, for whose immediate use or benefit such labor was done or materials were furnished; and when the interest owned in said land by such owner or proprietor of such building is only leasehold interest, the forfeiture of such lease for the non-payment of rent or for non-compliance with any other stipulations therein, shall not forfeit or impair such liens so far as it concerns the building, erection and improvement thereon, put by such owner or proprietor charged with such lien; but such building, erection or improvement may be sold to satisfy such lien, and be moved within thirty days after such sale by the undertaker.

10. The lien for materials aforesaid, or work, shall attach to the building, erection or improvement for which they were furnished, or the work was done, in preference to any prior lien or incumbrance or mortgage or deed of trust upon the land upon which said building, erection or improvement has been erected or put; and any person enforcing such lien may have such building, erection or improvement sold, and the purchaser may remove the same within a reasonable time thereafter.

11. Any person having a lien under or by virtue of this act, may file a bill in Chancery to enforce the same; and any other person having a lien thereon may file his petition in the said case and be made defendant therein, and make his claim in the same manner as though he had been plaintiff in the case, according to the practice in courts of Chancery.

12. In case of death of any of the parties, whether before or after suit, the personal representative of such deceased party shall be made the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may require.

13. All persons furnishing materials or doing work provided for by this act shall be considered sub-contractors, except such as have contracted therefor singly with the owner, proprietor, his agent or trustee.

14. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to give a sub-contractor or laborer a lien for any amount greater than that originally contracted for between the employer and contractor.

15. No person who shall take collateral security for the payment of the money for any structure shall be entitled to the lien provided in this act; but the taking the note or bill of exchange of the party liable shall not be construed such security.

PEDLERS' LICENSE

TO SELL GOODS IN THE VARIOUS STATES

---

LICENSES are good in most of the States for one year; though in many of them licenses can be taken out for six and even for three months, at the same pro-rata cost as if taken for a whole year. In California, however, a license is good only for one month.

Licences are not required to peddle farm or plantation produce, nor in most States, for books, charts, or stationary; nor yet for peddling any productions manufactured in the State; but for all the productions of other States or countries, a license must invariably be had.

NEW-YORK.—No person shall be authorized to travel from place to place, for the purpose of selling any wares, goods, or merchandise, of the growth, produce, or manufacture of a foreign country, unless he shall have obtained a license as a hawker and pedler. This license may be obtained of the Secretary of State, on a statement in writing of the manner in which the applicant designs to travel: if on foot, the sum of twenty dollars for one year's license; if to carry his goods with a single horse or other beast, thirty dollars; if with any vehicle drawn by more than one horse, fifty dollars; which several sums shall be reduced proportionably, any shorter term not less than six months.

Any public officer or citizen may demand of any hawker or pedler to produce his license; and if the hawker or pedler refuse, such officer or citizen may arrest him without any further warrant, and convey him before a magistrate who may fine him in the sum of ten dollars for such refusal, which sum shall be paid over to the overseers of the poor of the town. In case he have no license, he may be fined twenty-five dollars. If such fine be not paid, the magistrate may issue a warrant to any constable to seize his wares and sell them at public vendue, to satisfy the same.

NEW-JERSEY.—Any person not a resident of the State, who shall be found vending goods from place to place without a license, shall forfeit the sum of twenty dollars for each offence—one half to go to the prosecutor, the other to the State. The license may be obtained by the Governor, upon a recommendation for that purpose by the Inferior Court of Common Pleas; if for a vehicle to be drawn by one or more horses or other beasts, the sum of fifteen dollars; if on foot, eight dollars.

Any person lending his license to another shall lose the same, and every license so loaned shall become void.

Any citizen may demand to see any hawker's license, and if the same be not produced, he may, without further warrant, convey the hawker before a justice of the peace, who shall fine him in the sum of fifty dollars for each offence.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Any citizen may peddle his own goods. But no person shall be licensed as a hawker or pedler unless he shall have resided at least one year in the county in which such application is made, and shall produce satisfactory evidence on oath from at least two respectable practising physicians of such county that such applicant is, in point of fact, by reason of bodily disability, the nature and character of which must be stated, unable to procure a livelihood at his trade, if he have any, or by bodily labor. None but citizens of the United States shall obtain licenses to hawk or peddle, and such licenses shall only extend to the county in which they may be granted. But wholesale pedlars may, by virtue of their licenses, vend goods throughout the State. The affidavit must include the following: "That the claim is just, that nothing has been paid or delivered towards the satisfaction of such claim, except what is mentioned or credited (if any), that there are no counter-claims known to affiant which have not been allowed (if any), and that the sum claimed is justly due." This affidavit (if made outside of the State of Texas) should be made before a commissioner of deeds for the State of Texas. If claims against an estate are not presented, duly authenticated under oath, and allowed by the administrator and approved by the Probate court within twelve months from the granting of letters of administration, they are postponed until others duly probated within that time are paid. If the administrator has been absent from the State during the twelve months, the time of his absence is not counted. In case of a trust deed duly executed, with power to sell, and which at common law, and in most of the States, is irrevocable on the death of the mortgagor, a different rule obtains in this State, owing to the statute law regulating estates of deceased persons. Trust deeds can be foreclosed without suit; mortgages must be foreclosed by suit. Therefore, deeds of trust are most common and preferable.

If widow or next of kin shall neglect for thirty days, after death, to apply for administration or to request that administration be granted to some other person, letters may be granted to one or more of the principal creditors, if competent and willing to take it. If no such creditor, letters may be granted to such other person as the county judge may think proper. Administrator must give bond, with sureties as the judge shall direct, also to make full return, within three months after his appointment, of property if discovered, which must be appraised by two or more disinterested persons. Personal estate is first chargeable with payment of expenses and debts, next real estate. Commissioners are appointed before whom creditors can appear and prove their debts; must give notice, within sixty days after appointment, of time and place of meeting and the time limited for proving claim. Time allowed shall not exceed eighteen months, nor be less than six months, to prove claims. In any action arising on contract, if the creditor shall file, at the time of bringing his action, an affidavit setting out distinctly his cause of action and the sum he claims to be due, exclusive of all off-sets and just grounds of defence, he shall be entitled to a judgment for the amount claimed, with interest and costs, unless the debtor shall file, along with his plea, an affidavit of defence, denying the right of the creditor to the whole or some specified part of his claim, and stating in precise and distinct terms the grounds of his defence.

In Justices' Courts the pleas, or petition, may be verbal. Judgments may be signed at once on rendition, and three days are then allowed for appeal.

A long summons is the usual process against all persons residing in the county where it issues, and must be served not less than six, or more than twelve days before the time of appearance mentioned therein. A short summons is the proper form of process to be issued against a non-resident debtor, and must be served not less than two, nor more than four days from the time mentioned in it for debtor's appearance. Writs of arrest run first against the body, and, in default thereof, against the goods and chattels of the debtor on all debts due before July 1, 1870. On all causes of action accruing after July 1, 1870, no arrest or attachment can be made unless the creditor, or some one in his behalf, makes oath that the creditor has a just demand against the debtor named in his writ, upon which he has a reasonable expectation of recovery in said action of a sum sufficient to give jurisdiction thereof to the court to which said writ is returnable, and that the debtor has property which he does not intend to apply to the payment of said claim. Or an arrest may be made of a debtor, if the creditor, or some one in his behalf, shall make affidavit that the debtor is about to depart from this State without leaving therein real estate whereon service of said writ may be made by attachment sufficient to satisfy the damages laid thereon; or that he has committed fraud in contracting the debt upon which this action is founded, or that he has committed fraud in the wrongful concealment and wrongful disposition of said property. All writs issued by justices, or courts of magistrates, are returnable in not less than six days from the time they were issued.

POST-OFFICE LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

Suggestions and Directions.

MAIL all letters, etc., as early as practicable, especially when sent in large numbers, as is frequently the case with newspapers and circulars.

Make the address legible and complete, giving the name of the Post-office, County, and State. The name of the street and number of the house should also be given on letters addressed to cities where letter-carriers are employed.

Letters to foreign countries, the name of the country as well as the Post-office should be given in full. Letters addressed, for instance, merely to "London," without adding "England," are frequently sent to Canada, and vice versa, thereby causing delay.

See that every letter, newspaper, or other packet sent by mail is securely folded and fastened. Avoid using, as much as possible, envelopes made of thin paper, especially where more than one sheet of paper, or any other article than paper, is inclosed.

Never send money or any other article of value through the mail, except either by means of a Money-Order or Registered Letter.

Where letter-carriers are employed, letter-boxes at the offices or private residences should be provided, thereby saving much delay in the delivery of mail-matter.

See that every letter contains the full name and Post-office address of the writer, with County and State, in order to secure the return of the letter, if the person to whom it is directed cannot be found. Persons who have large correspondence find it most convenient to use "special request envelopes." Those who only mail an occasional letter can avoid much trouble by writing on the envelope a request to "return if not delivered," etc., on the envelope.

Stamps cut from stamped envelopes—mutilated postage stamps, and internal revenue stamps, cannot be accepted in payment of postage. Letters deposited in a Post-office having such affixed are held for postage.

Postmasters are not obliged to accept in payment of postage stamps or stamped envelopes, wrappers, etc., any currency which may be so mutilated as to be uncurrent, or the genuineness of which cannot be clearly ascertained. They are not obliged to receive more than twenty-five cents in copper or nickel coins. They are not obliged to affix stamps to letters, nor are they obliged to make change except as a matter of courtesy.

To use, or attempt to use, in payment of postage, a postage stamp or stamped envelope, or any stamp cut from any such stamped envelope which has been before used in payment of postage, is punishable with a fine of fifty dollars.

In using Postal Cards, be careful not to write or have anything printed on the side to be used for the address, except the address, also be careful not to paste, gum, or attach anything to them. They are unmailable as Postal Cards when these suggestions are disregarded.

No card is a Postal Card except such as are issued by the Post-office Department. Cards issued by private parties as Postal Cards, containing any writing in addition to an address, are subject to letter postage.

To insure a letter being forwarded in the mails, it must have not less than three cents in postage stamps affixed.

The double rate of six cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof is chargeable on letters reaching their destination which have not had one full rate prepaid at the mailing office.

Letters cannot be carried outside of the mail except in postage-stamped envelopes. There is no objection to a person who is not acting as a common carrier, carrying a sealed letter whether in a stamped envelope or not; but to continue the practice, or receive money for so doing, subjects the party to a penalty of one hundred and fifty dollars. Newspapers and periodicals may be carried outside of the mail for sale or distribution to subscribers, but if they are put into a Post-office for delivery the postage must be paid thereon.

After a letter has passed from the mailing office the delivering of it cannot be delayed, or prevented by the alleged writer; but if the writer thereof requests the return of a letter placed in a Post-office which has not left in the mail, the Postmaster may deliver it, provided he is furnished with proper evidence that the party applying is the writer, and if the application is made before the stamp is cancelled it may be returned without cancelling the stamp.

When a letter-carrier delivers a letter at a designated address, in the absence of any instructions to the Postmaster to the contrary, it is a legal delivery, and such letter cannot be remailed except it is prepaid anew; but parties may insure their letters being forwarded without additional charge, by advising the Postmaster in writing.

Printed matter, merchandise, and other third-class matter cannot be forwarded from the office to which it is addressed, unless the Postmaster is furnished with postage for such purpose. Neither can a Postmaster regard a request to return indorsed on such matter, except he is furnished with postage as above. A request to return written on such matter would subject the packages to letter postage.

The delivery of letters is not controlled by any statutory provision, but by the Rules and Regulations of the Post-office Department; and the object of the Department is to insure and facilitate such delivery to the person for whom they are intended. In the case of Money-Orders and Registered Letters, the parties applying for them, if not known, are required to prove their identity in the same manner as in banking institutions. Parties presenting drafts, checks, etc., who are not known, are required to prove their identity. Parties applying for advertised letters will be required to give place or places where they may be expecting correspondence.

To inclose any written matter in printed matter subjects the mailing party to a fine of five dollars unless the party addressed pays letter postage on the package.

Letters addressed to initials or fictitious names are not deliverable unless the address contains a designated place of delivery, thus: A letter addressed A. B., station G., New York, is not deliverable; but a letter addressed A. B., stating street and number, or a box number, is deliverable.

All packages mailed at less than letter rates of postage should be wrapped so that their contents can be readily ascertained without destroying the wrapper.

Nothing whatever should be written on the contents, or on the covers of packages of third-class matter, but the address of destination, except to add in care of, etc.

To add the words "one newspaper," "printed matter," "from Richard Roe," or anything whatever, will subject such packages to letter postage. There is, however, no objection to a card printed or impressed on the wrapper, or to a mark on a newspaper calling attention to an article therein.

Samples may be marked in pencil or in ink, with letters or figures by which they may be distinguished in a descriptive letter mailed at letter rates of postage, such marking not conflicting with the spirit of the law, which intends that no additional information that could be conveyed in writing should accompany matter passing at less than letter rates; but to mark a price thereon does convey additional intelligence, and would subject a package so marked to letter postage.

Each Post-office box or drawer, in all Post-offices, is restricted to the use of one family, firm, or company. A person renting a Post-office box is entitled to have the letters of his family, firm, or company put into it. Letters addressed to his friends stopping temporarily with him may also be placed in the box, if directed to his care or to the number of the box.

In every case of loss by mail the Department should be immediately informed of all the circumstances connected with it, such as the name of the office in which the letter was posted and the date of mailing; whether by the writer himself or by another person; the names of the writer and the person addressed; the amount and a description of the enclosure; the office to which addressed; and whether registered or unregistered, with any other particulars that may aid in making a thorough investigation. Address communications on this subject, "Second Assistant Postmaster-General, Division of Mail Depredations."

Only letters or matter subject to letter postage can be registered.

Packages of any description of mail matter may weigh not exceeding four pounds.

Packages of mutilated currency addressed to the Treasurer of the United States for redemption, may be registered free of charge for registry, but the postage thereon must be prepaid at letter rates.

Rates of Postage on Domestic Mail-Matter.

MAILABLE matter is divided into three classes, viz:

1. Letters.
2. Regular printed matter.
3. Miscellaneous matter.

FIRST-CLASS.

On domestic letters not exceeding half an ounce, a single rate of three cents is uniformly established.

On letters, sealed packages, wholly or partly in writing, except book manuscript and corrected proofs passing between authors and publishers, and except local or drop letters, or United States postal cards; all printed matter so marked as to convey any other or further information than is conveyed by the original print, except the correction of mere typographical errors; all matter otherwise chargeable with letter postage, but which is so wrapped that it cannot be examined by Postmasters without destroying the wrapper; all packages containing matter not in itself chargeable with letter postage, but in which is inclosed or concealed any letter or memorandum chargeable with letter postage, or upon which is any writing; all matter to which no specific rate of postage is assigned; and manuscript for publication in newspapers or periodicals, three cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

On local or drop letters, at offices where free delivery by carriers is established, two cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

On local or drop letters, at offices where free delivery by carriers is not established, one cent for each half ounce or fraction thereof.

To inclose or conceal a letter, or other thing (except bills and receipts for subscription), in, or to write or print anything, after its publication, upon any newspaper, pamphlet, magazine, or other printed matter, is illegal, and subjects such printed matter, and the entire package of which it is a part, to letter postage, and also subjects the offender to a fine of five dollars for every such offense.

A business card printed or impressed on the wrapper or envelope of any printed matter, or a simple mark designed to call attention to any article in such printed matter, does not subject it to letter postage.

SECOND-CLASS.

Mailable matter of this class embraces all newspapers and periodicals, exclusively in print, and regularly issued at stated periods from office of publication, without addition by writing, and addressed to regular subscribers.

A regular subscriber is a person who has actually paid, or undertaken to pay, a subscription price for a newspaper, magazine, or other periodical, or for whom such payment has been made or undertaken to be made by some other person. But, in the latter case, such payment must have been made or undertaken with the previous consent or at the previous request of the person to whom such newspaper, magazine, or periodical is sent, and the subscription must be for not less than three months. A person to whom any such publication is sent without his consent or request, is not a "regular subscriber" within the meaning of the law, and if there be no evidence of prepayment on the package, double transient rates of postage must be rated up and collected on delivery.

1. On all newspapers and periodical publications, issued weekly or oftener, two cents a pound or fraction thereof.

2. Or all newspapers and periodical publications, issued less frequently than once a week, three cents a pound or fraction thereof.

3. On newspapers (excepting weeklies), whether regular or transient, and without regard to weight or frequency of issue, one cent each.

4. On periodicals (other than newspapers), whether regular or transient, not exceeding two ounces in weight, one cent each.

5. On periodicals (other than newspapers), whether regular or transient, exceeding two ounces in weight, two cents each.

6. Circulars, unsealed, one cent each. These rates to be prepaid by postage stamps.

7. Weekly newspapers (excepted above) to regular subscribers, two cents per pound, to be weighed in bulk, and prepaid at the office of mailing.

8. Weekly newspapers to transient parties one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, to be prepaid by postage stamps.

Newspapers and periodicals, one copy to each actual subscriber residing within the county where the same are printed, in whole or in part, and published, except at letter-carrier offices, or when mailed to a letter-carrier office, are sent free. When sent at letter-carrier office, the regular rates apply.

Bona fide subscribers to county newspapers can receive the same free of postage if they reside in the county in which the paper is printed, in whole or in part, and published, even if the office to which the paper is sent is without the county, provided it is the office at which they regularly receive their mail-matter.

Publications issued without disclosing the office of publication, or containing a fictitious statement thereof, or issued for gratuitous distribution, must not be forwarded unless prepaid at the mailing office at the rate for third-class matter; that they may be addressed to persons residing in the county with the office where they are mailed, or printed and published, makes no difference.

THIRD-CLASS.

By act of July 12, 1876, pamphlets, occasional publications, transient newspapers, magazines, books, periodicals, hand-bills, posters, sheet music (printed), prospectuses, maps, proof-sheets, corrected proof-sheets, and regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes or free circulation, or for circulation at nominal rates, are subject to postage at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof; and printed cards and blanks, lithographs, prints, chromo-lithographs, engravings, photographs, and stereoscopic views, book manuscripts, unsealed circulars, seeds, cuttings, roots, and acions, bulbs, flexible patterns, samples of ores, metals, minerals, and merchandise, sample cards, photographic paper, letter envelopes, postal envelopes, and wrappers, unprinted cards, plain and ornamental paper, card-board, and other flexible material, and all other mailable matter of the third-class not herein enumerated, one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof.

All packages of matter of the third-class must be so wrapped or enveloped, with open sides or ends, that their contents may be readily and thoroughly examined by Postmasters without destroying the wrappers; but seeds, and other articles liable, from their form or nature, to loss or damage unless specially protected, may be inclosed in unsealed bags or boxes which can readily be opened for examination of the contents and reclosed; or sealed bags, made of material sufficiently transparent to show the contents clearly, without opening, may be used for such matter.

No writing will be permitted upon articles of this class, or their wrappers, or envelopes, except the address of destination. Any other writing in or upon any package or article of this class will subject it to letter rates of postage.

Matter of the third-class inclosed in sealed envelopes notched at the ends or side, or with the corners cut off, cannot be mailed except at letter postage rates.

Matter of the second and third classes, containing any writing whatever, except the address, will be charged with letter postage.

There is no objection to a business card printed or impressed on the wrapper or envelope of any third-class matter, or a simple mark designed to call attention to any article in printed matter, or the correction of a mere typographical error.

Postal Cards.

The object of the Postal Card is to facilitate letter correspondence and provide for the transmission through the mails, at a reduced rate of postage, short communications, either printed or written in pencil or ink. They may therefore be used for orders, invitations, notices, receipts, acknowledgments, price-lists, and other requirements of business and social life; and the matter desired to be conveyed may be either in writing or in print, or partially in both.

They are regarded by Postmasters the same as sealed letters, and not as printed matter, except that in no case will unclaimed cards be returned to the writers or sent to the Dead Letter Office. If not delivered within sixty days from the time of receipt they will be burned by Postmasters.

The postage of one cent each is paid by the stamp impressed on these cards, and no further payment is required.

No card is a "Postal Card" except such as are issued by the Post-office Department. An ordinary printed business card may be sent through the mails when prepaid by a one cent postage stamp attached; but such card must contain absolutely no written matter except address; otherwise it will be treated as not fully prepaid, and refused admission into the mails.

In using Postal Cards, be careful not to write or have anything printed on the side to be used for the address, except the address; also be careful not to paste, gum, or attach anything to them. They are unmailable as Postal Cards when these suggestions are disregarded.

THE FOLLOWING ARTICLES ARE UNMAILABLE.

Packages containing liquids, poisons, glass, explosive chemicals, live animals, sharp-pointed instruments, sugar, or any other matter liable to deface or destroy the contents of the mail, or injure the person of any one connected with the service. All letters upon the envelope of which, or Postal Card upon which obscene, scurrilous, or abusive epithets have been written or printed, or disloyal devices printed or engraved, and letters or circulars concerning illegal lotteries so-called, gift concerts, or other similar enterprises offering prizes, or concerning schemes devised and intended to deceive and defraud the public. Also, all obscene, lewd, or lascivious books, pamphlets, pictures, papers, prints, or other publications of an indecent character.

NOTE.—The following is the form of Publishers' oath in accordance with Act of June 23, 1874:

State of ——— County of ———, ss.:

The undersigned ——— publishers of ——— in the county of ——— State of ——— does swear (or affirm) that neither he nor any other proprietor, clerk, agent, or employee within his knowledge, will send, cause, or permit to be sent through the mails without prepayment by postage stamps at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, any copies of the ——— except to bona fide and regular subscribers thereto.

Registration of Domestic Letters.

THE Post-office Department or its revenue is not by law liable for the loss of any registered mail matter.

Only letters, or other mail matter on which letter rate of postage is fully prepaid, can be registered for transmission between Post-offices in the United States or Territories.

Letters may be registered by paying postage in full and a registration fee of 10 cents, to all parts of the world. Registered letters must always be endorsed on the back with name and address of the writer.

Postmasters are required to register all letters properly presented for that purpose, but no letters are to be registered on Sunday.

When a domestic letter is presented for registration, the Postmaster requires the name and Post-office address of the sender to be indorsed on the face of the envelope, which must bear stamps of sufficient value to prepay both postage and registry fee.

In case a package too large to be enclosed in a registered package is presented for registration at any Post-office, it should be securely wrapped, and a registered package properly directed and numbered, secured to the wrapper by paste, twine, or otherwise, in such manner that it will not become displaced before reaching its destination.

Letters addressed to initials, unless directed to a specific street and number, or Post-office box, cannot be registered, neither can liquids, poison, glass, explosive materials, live animals, sharp-pointed instruments, obscene books or pictures, or any articles which from their form or nature are liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise injure the contents of the mail-bags, or the person of any one engaged in the postal service.

Postmasters should not make any inquiry as to the contents of letters presented for registration further than to ascertain whether or not they are by law excluded from the mails. They must not therefore, in any case, give a receipt showing the contents of a registered letter.

The registry fee must be paid on each letter presented. There is nothing in the postal law to prohibit a person from sending more than one letter in a package to one address when such package is prepaid in full at letter rates of postage.

Registered letters will not be delivered to any person but the one to whom they are addressed, or to a person whom the Postmaster knows to be authorized to receive them.

If on the receipt of a registered letter, it is found that the person addressed is dead, the letter may be delivered to the legal representative of the deceased, who must be either the executor of the will, or the administrator of the estate of the deceased, and who produces proof of the fact, which proof the Postmaster must retain for future reference.

A registered letter is not subject to attachment while in the hands of a Postmaster, as the Department holds it in custodia legis for delivering to the person addressed, or to his or her order.

After a registered letter has been deposited in a Post-office for transmission it cannot be recalled by the sender, but must be sent to the destination named in its address. If not delivered,

It will be returned in accordance with the registered letter regulations.

Postal Money-Order System.

THE Money-Order system is intended to promote public convenience and to secure safety in the transfer through the mails of small sums of money. The principal means employed to attain safety consist in leaving out of the Order the name of the payee or person for whom the money is intended. In this respect a Money-Order differs from an ordinary bank draft or check. An advice or notification, containing full particulars of the Order, is transmitted without delay by the issuing Postmaster to the Postmaster at the office of payment. The latter is thus furnished, before the Order itself is presented, with information which will enable him to prevent its payment to any person not entitled thereto, provided the remitter complies with the regulation of the Department which prohibits him from sending the same information in a letter inclosed with his Order.

The following instructions are intended to secure payment of the Order to the rightful party. After once paying a Money-Order, by whomsoever presented, the Post office Department will not be liable to any further claim therefor. The public are therefore strictly cautioned:

To take all means to prevent the loss of a Money-Order.

To be careful on taking out a Money-Order to state correctly the given name as well as the surname of the person in whose favor it is to be drawn.

To see that the name and address of the person taking out the Money-Order are correctly made known to the person in whose favor it is drawn.

Neglect of these instructions will risk the loss of money, besides leading to delay and trouble in obtaining payment.

Under no circumstances can payment of an Order be demanded on the day of its issue.

The fees or charges for Money-Orders will be as follows:

On Orders not exceeding $15 .....	10 cents.
On Orders over $10 and not exceeding $20..	10 "
" " " $15 " " " $20..	15 "
" " " $40 " " " $50..	25 "

When a larger sum than fifty dollars is required, additional Orders to make it up must be obtained. But Postmasters are instructed to refuse to issue in one day, to the same remitter and in favor of the same payee, more than three Money-Orders payable at the same Post-office. The plain evasion of this rule by the substitution of a different remitter for every three Orders issued in one day in favor of the same payee will not be tolerated by Postmasters.

Money-Orders are made out upon printed forms supplied by the Post-office Department, and no Order will be valid or payable unless given upon one of such forms.

Any person applying for a Money-Order will be required to state the particulars upon a form of application, which will be furnished to him for that purpose by the Postmaster.

If the purchaser of a Money-Order, from having made an error in stating the name of the office of payment, or for other reasons, desires to have the said Money-Order changed, the issuing Postmaster will repay the first Order, and issue another in lieu thereof, for which additional fee will be charged and exacted as for a new transaction.

Parties procuring Money-Orders should examine them carefully, to see that they are properly filled up and stamped.

When a Money-Order is presented for payment at the office upon which it is drawn, the Postmaster or authorized clerk will use ALL PROPER MEANS to assure himself that the applicant is the person named and intended in the advice, or is the indorsee of the latter; and upon payment of the Order care must be taken to obtain the signature of the payee (or the person authorized by him to receive payment) to the receipt on the face of the Order.

When for any reason the payee of a Money-Order does not desire or is unable to present the same in person, he is legally empowered, by his written indorsement thereon, to direct payment to be made to any other person. More than one indorsement is prohibited by law, and will render an Order invalid and not payable. The signature to the receipt on the face of the Order should be that of the person who presents and receives payment of the same.

Any Money-Order office may repay an Order issued by itself, provided the Order is less than one year old, and does not bear more than one indorsement. The fee or charge will not in any case be refunded.

When the remitter of a Money-Order desires to change the place of payment of the same, or when a mistake has been made in drawing an Order, through error of the remitter, the issuing Postmaster is authorized, with the above restrictions, to take back the first Order, which he will repay, and issue another in lieu thereof, for which an additional fee must be charged and exacted as on a new transaction. But should the mistake be made by the Postmaster, he will be held responsible therefor, and must charge himself with the fee for issuing the new Order. If the advice has gone forward to the Post-office upon which the original Order was drawn, he will, by the first mail, dispatch a special notice, informing the office of the repayment of said Or der. The special advice is not to be used instead of the proper accompanying advice of the new Order, but is additional to it. Under no circumstances must a Postmaster issue a new Order in lieu of another until the original Order shall have been returned to him.

When a Money-Order has been lost by either remitter or payee, a duplicate thereof will be issued by the Department, free of charge to the owner of the original, provided he shall make application (stating the circumstances of the loss), to be forwarded by the issuing or the paying Postmaster, from the former of whom he must obtain and furnish a certificate that the original Order had not been and would not be repaid, and also a similar certificate from the latter that the same had not been and would not be paid.

The issue of Money-Orders on credit is strictly prohibited, under the severest penalties; and no moneys will be received by a Postmaster in payment for Money-Orders issued except United States Treasury notes or the notes of the national banks; nor can Orders be paid in any other currency than that herein described. Checks are not to be received under any circumstances for the issue of Money-Orders.

A Money-Order may be issued for any amount from one cent up to fifty dollars, inclusive; but fractional parts of a cent must not be introduced into any Money-Order or account.

The given names of both remitter and payee must be entered in the advice in full when possible; and married women must be described by their own names, and not by those of their husbands. Thus, the appellation "Mrs. William Brown" is defective, as it does not accurately describe the payee, whose true name may be Mrs. Mary Brown. Both names and sums must be written so legibly as to effectually guard against errors. When the applicant is unable to state the initials of the given name or names of the payee, the Postmaster will refuse to issue the Order. A Money-Order should always be made payable to one person or to one firm only, and not to either of two or more designated persons or firms.

Every person who presents a Money-Order for payment, will be required to prove his identity to the Postmaster, unless the latter is satisfied, without obtaining such proof, that the applicant is the rightful owner of the Order. If the payee be unable to write, he must sign the receipt by making his mark, to be witnessed in writing. The witness should sign his name, with his address, in the presence of the Postmaster, and the latter will then certify the payment by adding his own initial. The witness should be known to the Postmaster, but it is desirable (though not imperative) that he be not connected with the office. In no case should the Postmaster act as witness himself.

It is not necessary that the witness should be personally acquainted with the payee.

Postmasters are prohibited from paying a Money-Order to a second person without the written indorsement to such second person by the payee on the back of the Order, unless the payee has, by a duly executed power of attorney, designated and appointed some person to collect moneys due or to become due him, in which case the attorney should be required, before payment is made him, to file at the office of payment a certified copy of such power of attorney.

In case a Money-Order is lost in transmission, or otherwise, a duplicate will be issued by the Superintendent of the Money-Order System, on the receipt of the application therefor of either the remitter, the payee, or the indorsee of the original. If the owner of the Order (whether the payee or indorsee), or his legal representative, cannot, after the lapse of a reasonable time, be found, the remitter should forward to the Department satisfactory evidence of that fact, if he desires repayment. A blank bond of indemnity, in a penal sum of double the amount of the lost Money-Order, will then be sent him, to be executed by himself and two sureties, and returned to the Department; the condition of such bond being that if, after the issue and payment of a duplicate Order to the remitter, any other person establishes a valid adverse claim to the original Order, the amount so paid by duplicate shall be refunded to the Post-office Department. Upon full compliance with the above requirements, the remitter thus situated will receive a duplicate of the lost Order.

A duplicate Order can be drawn only on the issuing or the paying office of the original Order.

No fee is to be charged by a Postmaster for the delivery of a duplicate issued in place of a lost or invalid Order. The Postmaster who receives from the Department a duplicate payable by him must forthwith send notice to the payee of such duplicate to call for payment. In paying a duplicate the Postmaster is required to ascertain beyond a reasonable doubt the identity of the payee or indorsee thereof.

Any Order which is not presented for payment until after the expiration of one year from the date thereof, is declared "invalid and not payable," and the Postmaster to whom such Order is presented will refuse payment of the same. In order to obtain payment of such invalid Order, the holder will be required to forward the same, through the issuing or the paying Postmaster, to the Money-Order office of the Post-office Department. If the Department is satisfied that the Order has not been paid, a duplicate will be issued made payable to the remitter, or payee, or indorsee, as may be requested in the application, and the same will be sent to the Postmaster for delivery or payment, as the case may be.

STATE BANKRUPT LAWS.

By Act of Congress the repeal of the National Bankrupt law took effect September 1, 1878. Consequently the State laws on the question of insolvency come into operation. New York State laws require that an unpreferential and impartial surrender of property through a conveyance from debtor to assignee, accepted by the latter, who joins in it, and acknowledged after the manner of deeds, shall be made and be recorded in the County Clerk's office. The debtor files his sworn inventory and schedules with the Clerk of the County Court, within twenty days after the recording of the conveyance; or, in case of the debtor's default, the filing is made by the assignee within ten days after such default. The law provides for a due bond from the assignee—the proper citation to creditors—a public hearing to any one interested, to be accompanied with full examination of debtor or books or other witnesses—a permission for compromises and for trials by jury of disputed facts; and, finally, for the distribution of dividends, and the release of the debtor, upon proofs of a composition between the assignor and his creditors.

In Rhode Island, Vermont, Connecticut, New Jersey, Michigan, Wisconsin, Nevada, California, and North Carolina the claims of creditors are discharged upon the debtor making an assignment of all his property.

In Indiana, Kansas, Oregon, Maryland, Mississippi, and Missouri the debtor can assign his property, but can not be discharged unless every one of his creditors consent.

In Pennsylvania, Delaware, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Virginia, and Georgia a debtor may make an assignment, but he can not get a discharge except upon payment of his debts in full.

In Maine, New Hampshire, and South Carolina the law permits an assignment, but the debtor is discharged only from those debts, the holders of which sign the deed of assignment.

In Louisiana the law allows a discharge if the consent of a majority of the creditors in number and amount is obtained.

In Massachusetts, Tennessee, Arkansas, Colorado, West Virginia, Florida, Alabama, and Texas a debtor can not even make an assignment.

SYNOPSIS OF THE BANKRUPT LAW.

[Act July 26, 1876: That no voluntary assignment by a debtor or debtors of all his or their property, heretofore or hereafter made in good faith for the benefit of all his or their creditors, ratably and without creating any preference, and valid according to the law of the State where made, shall of itself, in the event of his or their being subsequently adjudicated bankrupts in a proceeding of involuntary bankruptcy, be a bar to the discharge of such debtor or debtors. At any time after the expiration of six months from the adjudication of bankruptcy, or if no debts have been proved against the bankrupt, or if no assets have come to the hands of the assignee, at any time after the expiration of sixty days, and before the final disposition of the cause, the bankrupt may apply to the court for a discharge from his debts.]

BANKRUPT laws are enacted for the purpose of regulating the acts and conduct of debtors, and taking the deposition of their property from them in certain specified cases. The important point is to ascertain in what way and for what acts a debtor may be put into bankruptcy, and mode of procedure.

The law now in force was adopted in 1867, but has been, from time to time, amended. The following are the principal and efficient points.

The District Courts of the United States are constituted Courts of Bankruptcy, and have general superintendence and jurisdiction.

The general trial of issues may be by jury, or as the Court shall determine.

The District Courts shall always be open for the transaction of business in the exercise of their jurisdiction, and shall have full authority to compel obedience to all orders and decrees.

Appeals may be taken from the District to the Circuit Courts, in all cases in equity and writs of error.

The final judgment of the Circuit Court, rendered upon an appeal, shall be conclusive, and the list of debts shall, if necessary, be altered to conform thereto. The party prevailing in the suit shall be entitled to costs against the adverse party, to be taxed and recovered as in ordinary suits of law.

VOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY.

Any person residing within the jurisdiction of the United States, and owing debts provable in bankruptcy exceeding the amount of three hundred dollars, applying by petition addressed to the judge of the judicial district in which such debtor has resided or carried on business for the six months next preceding the time of filing such petition, or for the longest period during such six months, setting forth his place of residence, his inability to pay all his debts in full, his willingness to surrender all his estate and effects for the benefit of his creditors, and his desire to obtain a discharge from his debts, and shall annex to his petition a schedule, and inventory and valuation, in compliance with the following provisions; the filing of such petition shall be an act of bankruptcy, and such petitioner shall be adjudged a bankrupt.

The said schedule, to be verified by the oath of the petitioner, must contain a full and true statement of all his debts, exhibiting, as far as possible, to whom each debt is due, the place of residence of each creditor, if known to the debtor, and if not known, the fact that it is not known; also the sum due to each creditor; the nature of each debt or demand, whether founded on written security, obligation, or contract, or otherwise; the true cause and consideration of the indebtedness in each case, and the place where such indebtedness accrued; and also a statement of any existing mortgage, pledge, lien, judgment, or collateral or other security given for the payment of the same.

The said inventory also to be verified by the oath of the petitioner, must contain an accurate statement of all the petitioner's estate, both real and personal, describing the same and stating where it is situated, and whether there are any, and, if so, what incumbrances thereon.

Immediately after the filing of the petition, schedule and inventory, the Judge or Register shall, if he is satisfied that the debts due from the petitioner exceed $300, issue a warrant, to be signed by such Judge or Register, directed to the Marshal for the district, authorizing him to publish notices in two news papers.

INVOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY.

Any person residing and owing debts within the jurisdiction of the United States, who shall depart from the State, District, or Territory of which he is an inhabitant, with intent to defraud his creditors; or, being absent, shall, with such intent, remain absent; or shall conceal himself to avoid the service of legal process in any action for the recovery of a debt or demand provable under this act; or shall conceal or remove any of his property to avoid its being attached, taken, or sequestered on legal process; or shall make any assignment, gift, sale, conveyance, or transfer of his estate, property, rights, or credits, either within the United States or elsewhere, with intent to delay, defraud, or hinder his creditors; or who has been arrested and held in custody under or by virtue of mesne process, issued out of any court of the United States, or of any State, District, or Territory which within such debtor resides or has property, founded upon a demand in its nature provable against a bankrupt's estate under this act, and for a sum exceeding $100, and such process is remaining in force and not discharged by payment, or in any other manner provided by the laws of the United States, or of such State, District, or Territory, applicable thereto, for a period of twenty days; or has been actually imprisoned for more than twenty days in a civil action founded on contract for the sum of $100 or upward; or who, being bankrupt or insolvent, or in contemplation of bankruptcy or insolvency, shall make any payment, gift, grant, sale, conveyance, or transfer of money or other property estate, rights, or credits, or confess judgment, or give any warrant to confess judgment, or procure his property to be taken on legal process, with intent to give a preference to one or more of his creditors, or to any person or persons who are or may be liable for him as indorsers, bail, sureties, or otherwise, or with the intent, by such disposition of his property, to defeat or delay the operation of this act; or who, being a bank, banker, broker, merchant, trader, manufacturer, or miner, has fraudulently stopped payment, or who being a bank, banker, broker, merchant, trader, manufacturer, or miner, has stopped or suspended and not resumed payment, within a period of forty days, of his commercial paper (made or passed in the course of his business as such), or who, being a bank or banker, shall fail for forty days to pay any depositor upon demand of payment lawfully made, shall be deemed to have committed an act of bankruptcy, and, subject to the conditions hereinafter prescribed, shall be adjudged a bankrupt on the petition of one or more of his creditors, who shall constitute one-fourth thereof, at least, in number, and the aggregate of whose debts provable under this act amounts to at least one-third of the debts so provable: Provided: That such petition is brought within six months after such act of bankruptcy shall have been committed. And the provisions of this section shall apply to all cases of compulsory or involuntary bankruptcy commenced since the first day of December, 1873, as well as to those commenced hereafter. And in all cases commenced since the first of December, 1873, and prior to the passage of this act, as well as those commenced hereafter, the court shall, if such allegation as to the number or amount of petitioning creditors be denied by the debtor, by a statement in writing to that effect, require him to file in court forthwith a full list of his creditors, with their places of residence and the sums due them respectively, and shall ascertain, upon reasonable notice to the creditors, whether one-fourth in number and one-third in amount thereof, as aforesaid, have petitioned that the debtor be adjudged a bankrupt. But if such debtor shall, on the filing of the petition, admit in writing that the requisite number and amount of creditors have petitioned, the court (if satisfied that the admission was made in good faith), shall so adjudge, which judgment shall be final, and the matter proceed without further steps on that subject. And if it shall appear that such number and amount have not so petitioned, the court shall grant reasonable time, not exceeding, in cases heretofore commenced, twenty days, and, in cases hereafter commenced, ten days, within which other creditors may join in such petition. And if, at the expiration of such time so limited, the number and amount shall comply with the requirements of this section, the matter of bankruptcy may proceed; but if, at the expiration of such limited time, such number and amount shall not answer the requirements of this section, the proceedings shall be dismissed, and, in cases hereafter commenced, with costs. And if such person shall be adjudged a bankrupt, the assignee may recover back the money or property so paid, conveyed, sold, assigned, or transferred contrary to this act: Provided, That the person receiving such payment or conveyance had reasonable cause to believe that the debtor was insolvent, and knew that a fraud on this act was intended; and such person, if a creditor, shall not, in cases of actual fraud on his part, be allowed to prove for more than a moiety of his debt; and this limitation on the proof of debts shall apply to cases of voluntary as well as involuntary bankruptcy. And the petition of creditors under this section may be sufficiently verified by the oaths of the first five signers thereof, if so many there be. And if any of said first five signers shall not reside in the district in which such petition is to be filed, the same may be signed and verified by the oath or oaths of the attorney or attorneys, agent or agents, of such signers. And in computing the number of creditors, as aforesaid, who shall join in such petition, creditors whose respective debts do not exceed $250 shall not be reckoned. But if there be no creditors whose debts exceed said sum of $250, or if the requisite number of creditors holding debts exceeding $250 fail to sign the petition, the creditors having debts of a less amount shall be reckoned for the purpose aforesaid.

Upon the filing of the petition authorized by the preceding section, if it appears that sufficient grounds exist therefor, the court shall direct the entry of an order requiring the debtor to appear and show cause, at a court of bankruptcy to be holden at a time to be specified in the order, not less than five days from the service thereof, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted.

SERVING OF ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

A copy of the petition and order to show cause shall be served on the debtor by delivering the same to him personally, or leaving the same at his last or usual place of abode, or if he cannot be found, and his place of residence cannot be ascertained, service shall be made by publication in such manner as the judge may direct.

On the return or adjourned day, if the notice has been served or published, or is waived by the appearance and consent of the debtor, the court shall proceed summarily to hear the allegations of the petitions and debtor.

Upon the hearing or trial of the facts set forth in the petition and found to be true, or upon default made by the debtor to appear pursuant to the order, due proof of service thereof is made the court shall adjudge the debtor to be a bankrupt, and shall forthwith issue a warrant to take possession of his estate.

TO REALIZE FROM THE ESTATE FOR CREDITORS.

Notice to creditors shall state that a warrant in bankruptcy has been issued against the estate of the debtor. Proper returns shall be made at a meeting of the creditors. An assignee shall be appointed or chosen. No preference shall be given to any creditor. Assignee shall give bond for the faithful discharge of duties.

The debtor is entitled to exemption the necessary household and kitchen furniture, and such other articles and necessities as the assignee may designate and set apart, having reference to the number of his family, condition, and circumstances of the debtor, not to exceed the sum of $500; wearing apparel of himself, wife, and children; all property as are exempted from attachment by the laws of the United States; also such property as is exempted by the laws of the State of which the debtor is a resident; the uniform, arms, and equipments of any person who has been a soldier in the service of the United States.

PROTECTION AND DISCHARGE OF BANKRUPTS.

The debtor shall at all times be subject to the order of the court until his discharge. No creditor shall be allowed to maintain any suit at law or in equity against the bankrupt. Pending the proceedings of bankruptcy the debtor cannot be arrested in any civil action, unless the debt is founded on some debt which his discharge in bankruptcy would not release him.

After the expiration of six months from the adjudication of bankruptcy, the debtor may apply for a discharge from his debts. But no discharge shall be granted if the bankrupt has wilfully sworn falsely; if he has concealed any part of his estate or effects, or any books or writings relating thereto; if he has within four months previous to the commencement of proceedings procured his lands, goods, etc., to be attached or seized on execution, or in any way destroyed, mutilated, altered, or falsified his books, etc.; or has given any fraudulent preference contrary to the provisions of this act; or if the bankrupt has been convicted of any misdemeanor.

BANKRUPTCY OF PARTNERSHIPS AND CORPORATIONS.

Where two or more are partners in trade shall be adjudged bankrupt, either on the petition of such partners or any one of them, or on the petition of any creditor of the partners, a warrant shall issue in the manner provided by this act, upon which the joint stock and property of the copartnership, and also all separate estate of each of the partners shall be taken, except such parts thereof as are hereinbefore excepted; and all the assets of the company, and the separate creditors of each partner, shall be allowed to prove their respective debts; and an assignee shall be chosen by the creditors of the company, shall also keep separate accounts of the joint stock and property of the copartnership and of the separate estate of each partner thereof; and after deducting out of the whole amount received by such assignee the whole of the expenses and disbursements, the net proceeds of the joint stock shall be appropriated to pay the creditors of the copartnership, and the net proceeds of the separate estate of each partner shall be appropriated to pay his separate creditors, and if there shall be any balance of the separate estate of any partner, after the payment of his separate debts, such balance shall be added to the joint stock for the payment of the joint creditors; and if there shall be any balance of the joint stock after payment of the joint debts, such balance shall be divided and appropriated to and among the separate estates of the several partners, according to their respective right and interest therein, as it would have been if the partnership had been dissolved without any bankruptcy; and the sum so appropriated to the separate estate of each partner shall be applied to the payment of his separate debts; and the certificate of his discharge shall be granted or refused to each partner as the same would or ought to be if the proceedings had been against him alone; in all other respects the proceedings against partners shall be conducted in the like manner as if they had been commenced and prosecuted against one person alone.

The provisions of this act shall apply to all moneyed, business, or commercial corporations and joint stock companies, and that upon the petition of any officer of any such corporation or company, duly authorized by a vote of a majority of the corporators present at any legal meeting called for the purpose, or upon the petition of any creditor or creditors of such corporation or company, made and presented in the manner heretofore provided in respect to debtors, the like proceedings shall be had and taken as are hereinafter provided in the case of debtors, and all the provisions of this act which apply to the debtor, or set forth his duties in regard to furnishing schedules and inventories, executing papers, submitting to examinations, disclosing, making over, secreting, concealing, conveying, assigning, or paying away his money or property, shall in like manner, and with like force, effect and penalties, apply to each and every officer of such corporation or company in relation to the same matters concerning the corporation or company, and the money and property thereof.

All payments, conveyances, and assignments declared fraudulent and void by this act when made by a debtor, shall, in like manner, and to the like extent, and with like remedies, be fraudulent and void when made by a corporation or company. No allowance or discharge shall be granted to any corporation or joint stock company, or to any person or officer or member thereof; provided that whenever any corporation, by proceedings under this act, shall be declared bankrupt, all its property and assets shall be distributed to the creditors of such corporation in the manner provided in this act in respect to natural persons.

FEEs AND COSTS.

In each case there shall be allowed and paid, in addition to the fees of the clerk of the court, as now established by law, or as may be established by general order, for fees in bankruptcy, the following fees, which shall be applied to the payment for the services of the registers :

For issuing every warrant, $2.

For each day in which a meeting is held, $3.

For each order for a dividend, $3.

For every order substituting an arrangement by trust deed for bankruptcy, $2.

For every bond with sureties, $2.

For every application for any meeting in any matter under this act, $1.

For every day's service while actually employed under a special order of the court, a sum not exceeding $5, to be allowed by the court.

For taking depositions, the fees now allowed by law.

For every discharge, when there is no opposition, $2.

Such fees shall have priority of payment over all other claims out of the estate, and before a warrant issues the petitioner shall deposit with the clerk $50 as security for the payment thereof; and if there are not sufficient assets for the payment of the fees, the person upon whose petition the warrant is issued shall pay the same, and the court may issue an execution against him to compel payment to the register.

Before any dividend is ordered, the assignee shall pay out of the estate of the messenger the following fees, and no more :

First.—For service of warrant, $2.

Second.—For all necessary travel, at the rate of five cents a mile each way.

Third.—For each written note to creditor named in the schedule, ten cents.

Fourth.—For custody of property, publication of notices, and other services, his actual and necessary expenses upon returning the same in specific items, and making oath that they have been actually incurred and paid by him, and are just and reasonable, the same to be taxed or adjusted by the court, and the oath of the messenger shall not be conclusive as to the necessity of said expenses.

For cause shown, and upon hearing thereon, such further allowance may be made as the court, in its discretion, may determine.

The enumeration of the foregoing fees shall not prevent the judges, who shall frame general rules and orders in accordance with the prescribing a tariff of fees for all other services of the officers of courts of bankruptcy, or from reducing the fees prescribed in classes of cases to be named in their rules and orders.

SLANDER AND LIBEL.

As a part of the right of personal security, the preservation of every person's good name from the vile arts of detraction is justly included. The laws of the ancients, no less than those of modern nations, made private reputation one of the objects of their protection. Our law considers the slander of a private person by words, in no other light than a civil injury, for which a pecuniary compensation may be obtained. The injury consists in falsely and maliciously charging another with the commission of some public offense, criminal in itself, and inditable, and subjecting the party to an infamous punishment, or involving moral turpitude, or the breach of some public trust, or with any matter in relation to his particular trade or vocation, and which, if true, would render him unworthy of employment; or, lastly, with any other matter or thing by which special injury is sustained. But if the slander be communicated by pictures, or signs, or writing, or painting, it is calculated to have a wider circulation, to make a deeper impression and to become proportionably more injurious.

Expressions which tend to render a man ridiculous, or degrade him in the esteem and opinion of the world, would be libellous if printed, though they would not be actionable if spoken.

A libel, as applicable to individuals, has been well defined to be a malicious publication, expressed either in printing or writing, or by signs or pictures, tending either to injure the memory of one dead, or the reputation of one alive, or expose him to public hatred, contempt, or ridicule. A malicious intent towards government, magistrates, or individuals, and an injurious or offensive tendency, must concur to constitute the libel. It then becomes a grievance, and the law has accordingly considered it in the light of a public as well as a private injury, and has rendered the party not only liable to a private suit at the instance of the party libelled, but answerable to the State by indictment, as guilty of an offence tending directly to a breach of the public peace.

But though the law be solicitous to protect every man in his fair fame and character, it is equally careful that the liberty of speech, and of the press, should be duly preserved. The liberal communication of sentiment, and entire freedom of discussion, in respect to the character and conduct of public men, and of candidates for public favor, is deemed essential to the judicious exercise of the right of suffrage, and of that control over their rulers, which resides in the free people of the United States. It has, accordingly, become a constitutional principle in this country, that "every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments, on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and that no law can rightfully be passed to restrain or abridge the freedom of speech or of the press."

In several States special provision has been made in favor of giving the truth in evidence, in public prosecutions for libel. In the constitutions of some of the States, it is declared, that in prosecutions for libels in respect to official conduct, the truth may be given in evidence, when the matter published is proper for public information.

But the prevailing and the better opinion is, that the truth may, in all cases, be pleaded by way of justification, in a private action for damages, arising from written or printed defamation, as well as in an action for slanderous words.

If a libel is made in order to expose to the public eye personal defects, or misfortunes, or vices, the proof of the truth of the charge would rather aggravate than lessen the baseness and evil tendency of the publication; and there is much justice and sound policy in the opinion, that in private as well as public prosecutions for libels, the inquiry should be pointed to the innocence or malice of the publisher's intentions. The truth is, therefore, admissible in evidence to explain the intent, but not in every instance to justify it. The guilt and the essential ground of action for defamation consists in the malicious intention; and when the mind is not in fault, no prosecution can be sustained. On the other hand, the truth may be printed and published maliciously, and with an evil intent, and for no good purpose, and when it would be productive only of private misery and public scandal and disgrace.

CUSTOM-HOUSE REGULATIONS.

Manifests of Ships—Foreign and American Vessels—Tonnage Duties—Coasting Trade and Fisheries—Arrivals and Clearances—Entry of Goods at Custom-house—Warehousing Goods.

1. Vessels of the United States coming from foreign ports.—No vessel from a foreign port can enter and discharge her cargo except at one of the ports of entry or delivery established by Congress.

No goods can be brought into the United States from a foreign port, in any vessel belonging in whole or in part to a citizen of the United States, unless the master of such vessel shall have on board a written manifest, signed for him, containing, 1st. The name of the place where the goods were taken on board and also that to which they are consigned; 2d. The name, description, and build of the vessel; 3d. Her tonnage and the names of the owner and master; 4th. A particular account of the goods and the names of the parties to whom they are consigned, which must correspond with the bills of lading; and, 5th. The names of the passengers and a description of their baggage, and a statement of the remaining stores, if any.

All merchandise not included in the manifest is forfeited, and may be seized by the custom officers.

The master of the vessel, on his arrival in port, must deliver a copy of the manifest to the first officer of the customs who may come on board; this officer certifies to its receipt on the original manifest, which the master must deliver to the collector of the port. If the original be shown without such certificate, the master must swear that no copy was called for by the officers. After the visit of the first officer, it is sufficient to show the original, with the endorsements, to other officers.

Any vessel from a foreign port, unloading goods within four leagues of the United States coast, or within the limits of any district of the United States, without authority from the officers of the port, the master and mate of such vessel forfeit one thousand dollars each for each offence, and the goods themselves are forfeited to the Government, and may be seized by the custom officers—except such unloading arise from accident, necessity, or stress of weather—which fact must be made known to the collector, and proved under oath by the master, mate, and one other officer or mariner.

Any master refusing to exhibit the manifest, or delivering a true copy of the same to the proper officer, or neglecting or refusing to inform such officer of the true destination of the vessel, is finable in the sum of five hundred dollars for each offence.

It is the duty of the master of every American vessel from a foreign port to have his manifest made out at the time of leaving such port. The time of lading is the most proper for making out a manifest of the cargo. The master is finable in the sum of five hundred dollars if his manifest is not ready to exhibit to any custom officer who may board his vessel within four leagues of the coast.

In case any package reported in the manifest be not found on board; in case the merchandise do not perfectly agree with the manifest; in case the master cannot prove, to the satisfaction of the collector and naval officer of the port, or, when on trial, to the satisfaction of the court, that no part of the merchandise of the vessel has been unladen since it was taken on board, except as specified in the manifest, or that the disagreement is owing to accident or mistake, he is liable to a fine of five hundred dollars.

If any part of the cargo of a vessel be unladen before entry, and received on another vessel or boat, except in case of accident, necessity, or stress of weather, which must be duly notified and proved, the person in charge of such vessel or boat, and all who aid or assist him, forfeit three times the value of the merchandise, and the boat also.

On the arrival of a vessel from a foreign port, the master is required to exhibit a certified copy of his crew-list to the first boarding officer, who must examine and compare the list with the men on board, and report to the collector, who will transmit a copy of such list to the collector of the port from which the vessel originally sailed.

The master of a vessel coming from a foreign port is also required, before the vessel can be entered, to exhibit to the collector a true account of the number of seamen employed on board since her last entry at any port of the United States, and pay the collector twenty cents per month for every seaman so employed.

In every vessel of the United States engaged in foreign trade the officers and two-thirds of the crew must be citizens of the United States, or not the subjects of any foreign power.

The master of any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from a foreign country, must at the time of delivering the manifest of his cargo, also deliver a list of all passengers taken on board the vessel at any foreign port, and this list must specify the ages, sex, and occupation of each, the part of the vessel occupied by them, the countries to which they severally belong, the country or state of which they intend to become inhabitants, and whether any and what number have died during the voyage.

Before an entry can be made the register or other document in lieu of register, and the clearance and other papers granted by the officers of customs to the vessels at the port of departure (except Mediterranean passports), must be deposited with the collector and remain in his office till a clearance is granted. He must also declare under oath whether any of his crew have been employed or detained by any foreign power.

A foreign duty of ten cents per ton of the measurement of all ships, vessels, or steamers coming into the United States from any foreign port or place, is by the Act of July 14th, 1862, collectable, and must be paid to the collector at the time of entry. It is provided, however, that this tax on tonnage duty shall be paid but once a year on any vessel or steamer having a license to trade between different districts of the United States, or to carry on the bank, whale or other fisheries, while employed therein, or on any vessel or steamer to or from any port in Mexico, the British provinces of North America, or any of the West India Islands; and also that nothing contained in this act should impair any rights and privileges which have been or might be acquired by any foreign nation under the laws and treaties of the United States relative to the duty and tonnage of vessels.

2. Foreign vessels entering United States ports.—When a foreign vessel comes into a United States port, her registry or other document in lieu thereof, together with the clearance and other papers granted by the officers of customs at her port of departure, must be produced, before entry, to the collector of the port with whom the entry is to be made, and the master of the vessel must within forty-eight hours after such entry, deposit the papers with the consul of the nation to which the vessel belongs, and deliver to the collector the certificate of the consul that the papers have been so deposited, and a failure to do so will be punished by a fine of not less than $500 to $2000. These papers cannot be returned to the master by the consul, till he brings a clearance in due form from the collector of the port. This regulation does not apply to vessels of foreign nations in whose ports United States consuls are not permitted to have the custody of papers of vessels of the United States entering the ports of such nations.

Before making entry or breaking bulk of any vessel arriving in any port of the United States, all letters on board such vessel must be delivered into the nearest post-office; and the collector and other officers of the customs are authorized to examine and search every vessel for letters which may be on board, or have been carried and transported contrary to law. The penalty for breaking bulk before due delivery of all the letters at the post-office, is a fine not exceeding $100. All letters or packages suspected of containing articles liable to duty, whether directed to the owner, consignee, or other persons, must be deposited at the custom-house in charge of an officer of the customs, and notice given to the persons to whom they are directed, to cause the same to be opened in the presence of such officer as the collector may designate for that purpose.

Any vessel which having arrived from any foreign port within the limits of any collection district of the United States shall depart or attempt to depart from the same, before making report or entry, unless to proceed to some more interior district to which she may be bound (i. e. to some district within the inlets of the adjacent country, as Albany from New York, or St. Louis from New Orleans), shall be arrested and brought back by the direction of the custom-house officers, and the master or other person in charge shall forfeit and pay the sum of $400. This seizure and fine shall not, however, be enforced if it is proven that such departure or attempt to depart was occasioned by stress of weather, pursuit, or search of enemies, or other necessity.

Within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any vessel from a foreign port within any port of the United States where an officer of the customs resides, the master must make report of his arrival to such officer, and within forty-eight hours after arrival he must make a further report, under oath, of all the particulars required to be inserted in the manifest.

Where any vessel has distilled spirits, wines, or teas on board, the master of the vessel must within forty-eight hours after his arrival at a United States port, report in writing, to the surveyor, the foreign port or place from which he last sailed, the name, burden, denomination of the vessel, and his own name, to what nation the vessel belongs, and the quantity and kinds of spirits, wines, and teas on board, the number of packages containing the same, with their marks and numbers, and the quality and kinds of spirits, wines, and teas, on board, as sea-stores, on pain of forfeiting the sum of $500, and the spirits, etc. so omitted. The master or other person in command, who neglects or omits to make said reports or either of them, and the declaration or declarations, or to take the oath above required, forfeits and must pay for each offence the sum of $1000.

War vessels and vessels employed only as mail packets, and not for the transportation of merchandise in the way of trade, are not required to report and enter on their arrival in the United States.

Vessels having a cargo which shall appear from the manifest to be destined for any foreign port or place, coming voluntarily into a United States port, are not required to pay or secure the duties upon such of the merchandise as shall be so reexported in the same vessel; but the master or person in charge of the vessel is required first to give bond to the satisfaction of the collector, with one or more sureties in a sum equal to the estimated amount of the duties on the merchandise on board, that no part of the cargo shall be landed within the United States unless the entry shall first be made and the duties paid or secured according to law.

Where merchandise brought from a foreign port is destined for several different ports or collection districts (as for instance on the Mississippi river), the vessel may proceed from district to district, in order to the landing or delivery thereof, the duties on such goods only as are landed or delivered in any district to be paid or secured in such district; but the master of the vessel must procure from the collector of each district a copy of the report and manifest, certified by said collector, to which must be annexed a certificate of the quantity and particulars of the goods landed within his district, or of the goods remaining on board upon which duties are to be paid or secured, in some other district, and failing to do this or to exhibit it to the collector of the district to which he may next proceed within forty-eight hours after his arrival, he will incur a penalty of $500.

Where a vessel from a foreign port is compelled by stress of weather or other necessity to put into a port or place other than that of her destination, and is compelled to unlade partly or wholly in consequence of injury of the vessel or the perishable character of her cargo, or any other necessity, the master or other person in charge, together with the mate, must make protest in the usual form upon oath, before the collector of the district or other person duly authorized, setting forth the causes or circumstances of such necessity, within twenty-four hours after his arrival, or if not made before such officer then to be produced to him and a copy lodged with him subsequently; and thereupon a survey being made at the collector's order by port wardens or other officers accustomed to ascertain the condition of vessels arriving in distress, or if there are no such officers, by the certificate of two reputable merchants, to be named by the collector for that purpose, the collector or naval officer will grant a permit to unlade so much of the cargo as may be necessary, and appoint an inspector to oversee the unlading and keep an account thereof, to be compared with the report of the master of the vessel; and the merchandise so unladen will be stored under the direction of the collector. Such portion of the cargo as may be of a perishable nature, or as may be necessary to defray the expenses of the vessel and her unlading, may be entered and the duties paid thereon by permission of the collector or naval officer, when there is one, and the remainder be reladen on board the vessel subject only to the charges for storage and safe keeping and the fees of the officers, as in other cases.

3. Clearance of Vessels for Foreign Ports.—Before a clearance can be granted to a vessel bound for a foreign port, the owners, shippers, or consignees of the cargo on board thereof, must deliver to the collector, under oath, manifests of the parts thereof shipped by them respectively, and that the values of the articles are truly stated according to their actual cost. The manifest must also specify the kind and qualities of the articles, and the value of the total quantity of each article. The master of such vessel before obtaining a clearance must also deliver to the collector under oath a manifest of all the cargo, and the value thereof, and must state on oath the foreign place for which the cargo is destined. He must also deliver to the collector a list containing the names, places of birth, and residence, and a description of the persons who compose his ship's company, to which list the oath or affirmation of the captain shall be annexed; and the collector must deliver to him a fair and certified copy of said list in one uniform handwriting without erasure or interlineation. He must also enter into bond with sufficient security, in the sum of $400, that he will exhibit the certified copy of his list to the first boarding officer at the first port of the United States at which he shall arrive on his return thereto, and then and there produce or account for the persons named therein, to the boarding officer.

The owners of a vessel bound on a foreign voyage, must obtain, before a clearance can be granted, from the collector of the district, a true and certified copy of the shipping articles, containing the names of the crew, written in a uniform hand without erasures or interlineations.

The master of a vessel bound to a foreign port, which departs without the delivery of its manifest to the collector and without obtaining from him a clearance, is subject to a fine of $500. Clearance of a vessel, having on board goods liable to inspection under the laws of the State, will not be granted till the master or other proper person produces the certificate of inspection and receipts for the payment of legal fees accruing on the vessel.

4. Regulations of the Coasting Trade and Fisheries.—The Acts of Congress of March 2d, 1819, and May 7th, 1822, relative to the coasting trade, divide the coast of the United States into three great coasting districts, viz.: 1. Between the eastern limits of the United States and the southern limits of Georgia; 2. Between the southern limits of Georgia and the river Perdido; 3d. Between the river Perdido and the western limits of the United States.

Vessels licensed for the coasting trade bound from one collection district to another in the same great coasting district or between a State in one and an adjoining State in another great district, having on board goods, wares, or merchandise, of the growth or product of the United States only (except distilled spirits), or distilled spirits not exceeding 500 gallons, or wine in casks not exceeding 250 gallons, or wine in bottles not exceeding 100 dozens, or sugar in casks or boxes not exceeding 3,000 lbs., or coffee in casks or bags not exceeding 1,000 lbs., or tea in chests or boxes not exceeding 500 lbs., or foreign merchandise, in packages, as imported, not exceeding in value $400, or foreign merchandise of any kind, including any or all of the articles before mentioned, the aggregate value of which does not exceed $800, the duties upon which have been paid or secured, may proceed from one place to another within the limits aforesaid, without delivering a manifest of their cargo, or obtaining a permit to depart from any officer of the customs. The master of such vessel is also exempted from making report or entry on his arrival at any port or place within the limits specified; but he may be required by any officer of the customs to exhibit the manifest signed by himself, and to give true information whence the vessel last sailed, and how long she has been in port.

The master of such vessel bound as above specified, and carrying a larger amount of foreign merchandise, or of distilled spirits, than the quantities or value above mentioned, must previous to the departure of the vessel, make out and subscribe duplicate manifests of the whole cargo on board; and if there be a collector of the customs or surveyor within five miles of the port where the vessel may be he must make oath to the truth of such manifest, and that the duties on the foreign articles have been paid or secured, according to his best knowledge and belief; and on the arrival of the vessel at its port of destination, he must within twenty-four hours, if there is a collector or surveyor within five miles of the port, and within forty-eight hours if the distance is greater, and in either event before unlading any part of his cargo, exhibit and deliver to the collector or surveyor of the district, the certified manifest above specified, or if he has no certified manifest then the duplicate manifest of his cargo, and in either case must make oath to its truth. On receiving this manifest, the collector or surveyor will grant a permit for unlading a part or the whole of the cargo as may be required; but in case a part of the cargo only is to be discharged, the collector or surveyor will endorse the articles so discharged on the manifest, and grant a permit to the master to proceed with the vessel to the place of her further destination.

If a master of a vessel employed in transporting goods coastwise, puts into a port other than that to which he is bound, he must within twenty-four hours after his arrival if he continues so long, report to the principal officer of the port his arrival, the place whence he came, and where he is bound, with an account of the lading on board his vessel.

When the certified manifest of the cargo of a coasting vessel has been lost or mislaid, the master of the vessel will be required to give bond for the payment within six months of the duties on the articles of foreign growth, or distilled spirits, as though said articles had been imported from a foreign country; but this bond may be canceled within six months by his producing a certificate from the collector or surveyor of the port from which he sailed, that such articles were legally exported in such vessel from said district.

Merchandise taken in at one port in the United States to be conveyed to another port within the same, under the provisions of the warehousing laws, as well as foreign duty-paid goods, are not to be held subject to duty by reason of the vessel having touched at a foreign port during the voyage; but the bond for the return of seamen and the crew-list are required, the same as in vessels bound on a foreign voyage.

All boats, sloops, or other vessels of the United States navigating the waters on the northern, north-eastern, and north-western frontiers of the United States are required to be enrolled and licensed, in such form as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. Synopsis of Laws regulating the Coasting Trade.—Vessels of twenty tons and upward must be enrolled and licensed; if less than twenty tons, licensed only.

The license, in every case, is granted for one year, and must be renewed within three days of its expiration; or if it expire while the vessel is absent, within three days after its arrival. The penalty for neglect is $50.

Captains are required to exhibit their papers when demanded by an officer of the revenue. The penalty for refusing is $100.

Vessels engaged in the coasting trade, without papers, are subjected to foreign tonnage duty ($1 per ton), if laden with American produce or manufactures; and to forfeiture if laden with foreign merchandise.

The name of the vessel must be painted on her stern, with white letters three inches long, on a black ground, under a penalty of $20.

Every change of master must be reported to the collector of the port, and endorsed on the license, under a penalty of $10 to the new master.

Vessels laden with foreign merchandise, or distilled spirits, must have duplicate manifests, and procure a permit before unloading; penalty, $100. Also, on arrival from any port south of Georgia, whether laden with foreign or American produce.

A vessel trading with any district, or between any two or more districts, north of the southern limits of Georgia, if laden wholly with American produce or manufactures, except distilled spirits, is not required to enter or clear; but must be provided with a manifest, under a penalty of $20; or if any part of her cargo be foreign produce, to a penalty of $40. Any refusal of a master to answer the inquiries of a revenue officer subjects him to a penalty of $100.

The enrollment and license expire whenever there is any change of owner or alteration in the rig or size; and it must be reported to the collector of the port, under the penalty of the forfeiture of the vessel.

Boats and lighters not being masted, or if masted, not decked, exclusively employed in the harbor, are not required to comply with the foregoing regulations.

6. Regulations in regard to Tonnage Duties on Foreign Vessels.—Vessels belonging to the following nations are admitted, under the provisions of law, treaties of commerce and navigation, or conventions, into the ports of the United States, on the same terms as vessels of the United States, with the produce or manufactures of their own or any other country

Argentine Confederation, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Chili, Denmark, Ecuador, Great Britain and her Possessions, Greece, New Grenada, Guatemala, Hanover, Dukedom of Oldenburg, Dukedom of Mecklenburg, Schwerin, Hanseatic Towns, Norway, Republic of Peru, Prussia, Russia, San Salvador, Sardinia and Genoa, Two Sicilies, Sweden, Tuscany, Venezuela, Bolivar, Costa Rica, Mexico, Muscat, Ottoman Empire, Uruguay, and Oriental Republic.

Vessels belonging to the following nations are admitted into ports of the United States on the same terms as vessels of the United States, only when laden with the produce of, or manufactures of the country to which the vessel belongs:

France, tonnage duty, 94 cents per ton in both countries; consuls to certify to the origin of the cargo.

French vessels from Cayenne, from St. Pierre and Miquelon, but, a French vessel bringing fish from the banks of the British Colony of Newfoundland is not exempt from tonnage duties, or a French vessel arriving in the United States with a cargo of fish from the islands Les Petites Oies, is chargeable with tonnage duties. Hawaiian Islands, Pontifical States, Portugal and Colonies, and Spanish vessels from the Canary Islands.

Vessels belonging to the following nations, having no reciprocal treaties with the United States, are subject to tonnage and discriminating duty on their cargoes as foreign vessels, whether laden with the produce or manufactures of their own or any other country:

Spain.—Vessels arriving at ports of the United States from ports of Spain, or her adjacent islands, are to pay, besides the additional or discriminating duty of ten per cent on the cargo, imposed by a section of the tariff act of 1842, a tonnage duty of five cents per ton.

Spanish vessels coming from Cuba or Porto Rico are subject to tonnage duties (from Cuba, $1.50 per ton, and from Porto Rico, 87½ cents per ton), and ten per cent additional on their cargoes; and also discriminating and clearance duties equal to those which would be exacted from a United States vessel in the ports of those islands, but vessels from those islands are exempted from tonnage duties when they arrive in United States ports, either in ballast or laden with molasses and fresh fruits from those islands as surplus stores.

Vessels belonging to the following nations pay the tonnage duties specified in the case of each:

Borneo.—Duty not exceeding one dollar per registered ton, in lieu of all other charges or duties whatsoever, and United States vessels pay the same duties.

China.—United States vessels entering either of the five ports of Kwangchin, Amoy, Fuchow, Ningpo, and Shanghai pay a tonnage duty of five mace ( $72\frac{1}{4}$  cents) per ton, and Chinese vessels will be admitted to United States ports on payment of the same duty.

A Dominican Vessel, that is, belonging to that portion of the island of Hayti, known as the Dominican Republic, is liable to a tonnage duty of one dollar per ton and no other charges, and United States vessels to Dominican ports pay the same duty. Haytien vessels pay the same duty, and the Haytien Government collects the same from United States vessels.

Japan.—United States vessels are admitted into the Japanese ports of Simoda and Hakodadi, and can be supplied with wood, water, coal, provisions, and other necessary articles, but only through officers of the Japanese Government, and at such prices as that Government may affix. There are no tonnage duties. Recently, the Japanese Government, have forbidden any foreigners entering their ports.

Loo Choo.—The Royal Government of which is Japanese, and belongs to the Prince of Satsuma, has similar regulations, except that the price of wood, at $2.58 per thousand cutties, and that of water, at 43 cents for six barrels full, each of thirty gallons.

Siam.—American vessels pay only a measurement duty of 1700 ticals for every  $6\frac{1}{4}$  feet in breadth, measured from side to side of the vessel amid-ships, and this duty is not levied when a vessel comes only for refitting, refreshments, or to inquire the state of the market.

The Swiss Confederation stands on the footing of the most favored nation, and the manufactures or products of that Confederation coming to American ports in French or American vessels are subject to no discriminating duty.

II.—ENTRY OF GOODS IMPORTED FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

Who may enter goods.—All goods must be entered in writing, with the collector of the district for which such goods are designed, by the owner or owners, consignee or consignees, or in case of his, her, or their absence or sickness, by his, her, or their known agent or factor, and such agent or factor must before making entry lodge with the collector a power of attorney duly authenticated, from the owner or owners, consignee or consignees, authorizing him to act in his, her, or their behalf, and such agent must also give bond for the due production of the owner's oath to the invoices.

Goods may be entered either for consumption or for warehousing.

Entry of goods for consumption.—The following is the form of entry for this purpose :

DATE.	MARKS AND NUM- BERS.	DESCRIP- TION OF GOODS.	QUALITY.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	TOTAL.

The different columns headed per cent are intended for the ad valorem duties which vary on different articles of merchandise, even in a single invoice, and as each column is figured by itself, there must be as many columns as there are rates per cent of duty. The entry being made out in this form, stating in full all the particulars required, must be presented together with the invoice and bill of lading at the collector's office, to the clerk or clerks charged with this duty, who will examine the entry by the invoices and bills of lading, and if found correct, will, on the entry, estimate the duties on the invoice value and quantity, certify the invoice and grant a permit in due form for the delivery. The entry and accompanying papers will then be taken to the naval officer, who will make a like examination, and if found correct, will check the entry invoice and permit. The papers must then be taken to a deputy collector, who will administer the oath, and designate the package or packages (one in every ten, and at least one from every invoice), to be sent to the appraisers' store for examination, marking the same on the entry invoice and permit. Should the importer desire to avail himself of the privilege given by the Act of May 28th, 1830, and obtain possession of his goods by giving the bond required by the fourth section of that act (giving a bond in twice the value of the goods imported, to produce the goods for examination, in case the contents of the package sent to the appraisers stores do not correspond with the invoice), he will then give such bond, pay the duties as estimated and send his permit to the vessel in which they were imported. To the entry must be attached the proper inland revenue stamp, which varies with the value of the invoice, being 25 cents for an invoice of less than $100; 50 cents for an invoice of $100 and less than $500 and $1 for invoices over $500.

By the Act of March 8d, 1863, it was enacted that after the 1st of July, 1863, in all countries this side of the Cape of Good Hope, where American consuls, vice-consuls, or commercial agents were residents, all invoices of goods, wares, and merchandise imported into the United States should be made in triplicate and signed by the person or persons owning or shipping said goods, wares, or merchandise, if the same have actually been purchased, or by the manufacturer or owner thereof, if the same have been procured otherwise than by purchase, or by the authorized agent of such purchaser, manufacturer, or owner, and these three invoices or copies of the same invoice before the shipment of the goods must be produced to the consul, vice-consul, or commercial agent of the United States nearest the place of shipment, for the use of the United States, and there must be endorsed thereon when so produced, a declaration signed by the party shipping the goods, setting forth that the invoice was in all respects true; that it contains (if the goods, wares, or merchandise are subject to duty) a true and full statement of the time when and place where, the same were purchased and the actual cost thereof, and of all charges thereon; and that no discounts, bounties, or drawbacks are contained in said invoice, but such as have actually been allowed thereon, and that the currency in which said invoice is made out is the currency which was actually paid for the goods, etc., by the purchaser. If the goods were obtained in any other manner than by purchase, their actual market value at the time and place where they were produced or manufactured, and the quantity of the goods if subject to specific duty must be stated, and it must be declared that no different invoice of these goods has been or will be furnished to any one. The party shipping the goods must also inform the consul, vice-consul, or commercial agent at what port of the United States it is intended to make entry of the goods; and the consul or other officer must thereupon endorse upon each of these triplicates a certificate under his hand and official seal, stating that said invoice has been produced to him with the date, of its production, the name of the person by whom it was produced, and the port in the United States at which it was the declared intention of the shipper to make entry of the goods. He must then deliver one copy to the shipper to forward as the invoice to the consignee or owner of the goods; a second copy is put on file in the consul's office and a third sent by him by the first opportunity to the collector of the port for which the goods are destined. All goods from ports this side the Cape of Good Hope must be thus invoiced in triplicate or they cannot be admitted to entry after July 1st, 1863, and all goods from ports beyond the Cape of Good Hope must be thus invoiced in triplicate or they will not be admitted to entry after January 1st, 1864 and the duties on the goods shall not be finally liquidated until the collector of the port shall have received his copy of the invoice from the consul, and compared it with the invoice presented by the owner or consignee, except when such invoice shall be delayed beyond eighteen minutes, but the importer may, if he chooses, withdraw the goods by giving his bond for twice their value to produce them on the receipt of said invoice, if it differs from that to which he has sworn.

The dutiable value of imports is defined as being the actual cost or market value, together with all costs and charges incurred in the country whence the goods are shipped for packing, export duties, consular certificates, etc., except insurance for the voyage, and including in every case a charge for commissions at the usual rates.

Where goods are entered for immediate consumption, and there is any ground of doubt in regard to the amount of duty to be charged, in consequence of there being specific duties on weight or measure, a deposit is required exceeding by five or ten per cent the highest duty, and the excess, after the entry has passed through the several departments, or, in some cases, has been submitted to the Treasury Department at Washington, is refunded to the importer.

Goods Entered for Warehousing.—The following is the form of entry for goods for warehousing. It must be verified by oath or affirmation as in the case of an entry for merchandise for immediate payment of duties.

Custom-house _____

Port of _____, _____, 186—

Entry of merchandise, imported on the _____ day of _____ by _____, in the _____, _____ master, from _____.

MARKS AND NUM- BERS.	PACKAGES AND CONTENTS.	QUALITY.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	PER CENT.	TOTAL.	DUTIABLE VALUE OF EACH PACK- AGE.

It often occurs that the importer on the arrival of his goods may not wish to put them on the market immediately, either from a glut in the market, the price of exchange, or some other cause. The Govern ment provides for this by storing the goods for him, subject to storage charges, etc., and on receiving from him proper security for the payment of duties, allows the goods to remain in warehouse for a period not exceeding a year,* the duties not to be paid until the goods are withdrawn. Merchandise is also frequently imported from one country for exportation to another, and being sent to the warehouse can be exported without the payment of full duties, the drawback on exportation being deducted from the duty.

In the case of warehouse goods, too, the exact amount of the duties is ascertained, examinations being made, and the invoice being received from the consul at the port whence the goods were shipped. The owner of the goods has the right of designating in which of the government warehouses he prefers to have his goods deposited.

The order of entry for warehouse is as follows: The entry being offered in the form given above, and passing through the same steps as in the entry for immediate consumption, except that no permit is given and no duties paid, the owner or consignee gives his bond in the government Form 105, for a sum fully sufficient to cover the duties, with two sureties. The collector or deputy then designates the packages for examination, which are sent to the appraisers' stores, and the remainder of the invoice to the bonded warehouse selected by the importer, and when the packages at the appraisers' store have been examined they are also sent, at the expense of the importer to the bonded warehouse. When the importer wishes to withdraw his goods, for consumption, he must present an entry in duplicate, which must be the same in all particulars with the original entry for warehousing. This entry having been examined and compared with the entry on record, is entered on the books, the warehouse bond number endorsed thereon, and the amount of duties payable entered upon it. It is then taken from the collector's office to the naval office for checking and verification. The duties having been paid, a permit is issued to the importer for the delivery of the goods. This being done the importer is entitled to have his bond canceled, if the whole of his invoice is withdrawn.

Goods may also be withdrawn either for reexportation or transportation in bond to other ports to be rewarehoused there, or entered for consumption. The processes for these purposes are of interest to but few, and require usually for their management the intervention of a custom-house broker. Indeed, in all custom-house transactions of considerable amount, the goods will be obtained more speedily and with less trouble, by the employment of a reputable custom-house broker.

PENSIONS, BOUNTIES, AND ARREARS OF PAY.

It is the object of this work to enable the soldier, as well as men in all walks of life, to perform for themselves those acts and to prepare those forms for obtaining pay, pensions, etc., for which the legal fraternity are in the habit of charging such exorbitant fees. Therefore we give in the following pages, the necessary instructions and forms to enable any man or woman of ordinary intelligence and common sense to procure their own pensions, bounties, or back-pay, without a lawyer's or claim agent's intervention.

I. PENSIONS.

Pensions are of three kinds: Invalid Pensions, grants of money to persons who become disabled in the service, either by wounds or other injuries received, or by sickness contracted in the line of duty, whereby the sufferer is rendered incapable, in whole or part, of procuring for himself and those dependent upon him a livelihood; Gratuitous Pensions, granted usually at the close of a war or term of service, as a reward for eminent services rendered, or as evidence of a nation's gratitude to its defenders and preservers. In this class of pensions belongs the half-pay, granted to the widows and orphans of those who die of wounds or sickness incurred in the service; and Land Donations, which are sometimes promised at or before the time of enlistment, as an inducement to enter the service, and in other cases are granted as gratuities after the close of a war, to surviving officers, soldiers, seamen, &c., and to the widows and orphans of such as have died. These distinctions should be kept in view by all who have occasion to make applications for pensions, under any of the acts for granting them.

Who are entitled to an Invalid Pension.

All commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the army

(including regulars, and cadets at West Point, volunteers, rangers, militia and navy, including the navy proper, sea fencibles, flotilla service, marine corps, and revenue cutters when co-operating with the navy), musicians, privates, marines, seamen, ordinary seamen, and all others, in whatsoever capacity they may have served, who were regularly enlisted or drafted, or who volunteered; and who, while in the line of duty, were disabled by wounds or sickness, from subsequently procuring a livelihood. A soldier on furlough, if disabled by disease, not his own fault, is entitled to a pension; but an officer disabled while on furlough, is not. A soldier disabled while under arrest, in confinement for offence against military law, or when absent without leave, is not entitled to a pension; nor can the family of a soldier, whose death is caused by intemperance while in the service, claim a pension.

As no invalid pensions are now likely to be granted for the first time to persons who served in the Revolutionary War, we shall not give any forms for procuring such pensions, but confine ourselves solely to the classes named above. The act of Congress of July 14, 1862, making general provision for the payment of pensions, to invalids of the present war for the Union, and also to the widows, orphans, mothers, and minor sisters of such as have died, or may die or be killed in the line of duty, is so important, that we deem it best to give it in full:

An Act to Grant Pensions.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That if any officer, non-commissioned officer, musician or private of the army, including regulars, volunteers, or militia, or any officer, warrant or petty officer, musician, seaman, ordinary seaman, flotilla-man, marine, clerk, landsman, pilot or other person in the navy or marine corps, has been, since the fourth day of March eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter be disabled by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty, he shall, upon making due proof of the fact, according to such forms and regulations as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law, be placed upon the list of invalid pensioners of the United States, and be entitled to receive, for the highest rate of disability, such pension as is hereinafter provided in such cases, and for an inferior disability an amount proportionate to the highest disability.

to commence as herein after provided, and continued during the existence of such disability. The pension for a total disability for officers, non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates employed in the military service of the United States, whether regulars, volunteers or militia, and in the marine corps, shall be as follows, viz: lieutenant-colonel and all officers of a higher rank, thirty dollars per month; major, twenty-five dollars per month; captain, twenty dollars per month; first lieutenant, seventeen dollars per month; second lieutenant, fifteen dollars per month; and non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, eight dollars per month. The pension for total disability for officers, warrant or petty officers, and others employed in the naval service of the United States, shall be as follows, viz: captain, commander, surgeon, paymaster and chief engineer, respectively, ranking with commander by law, lieutenant-commanding and master-commanding, thirty dollars per month; lieutenant, surgeon, paymaster and chief engineer, respectively, ranking with lieutenant by law, and passed assistant surgeon, twenty-five dollars per month; professor of mathematics, master, assistant surgeon, assistant paymaster and chaplain, twenty dollars per month; first assistant engineers and pilots, fifteen dollars per month; passed midshipman, midshipman, captain's and paymaster's clerk, second and third assistant engineer, master's mate and all warrant officers, ten dollars per month; all petty officers and all other persons before named employed in the naval service, eight dollars per month; and all commissioned officers, of either service, shall receive such and only such pension as is herein provided for the rank in which they hold commission.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That if any officer or other person named in the first section of this act, has died since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty, his widow, or if there be no widow, his child or children under sixteen years of age, shall be entitled to receive the same pension as the husband or father would have been entitled to, had he been totally disabled, to commence from the death of the husband or father, and to continue to the widow during her widowhood, or to the child or children until they severally attain the age of sixteen years, and no longer.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That where any officer or other person named in the first section of this act, shall have died subsequently to the fourth of March eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty, and has not left or shall not leave a widow nor legitimate child, but has left or shall leave a mother who was dependent upon him for support, in whole or in part, the mother shall be entitled to receive the same pension as such officer or other person would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled; which pension shall commence from the death of the officer or other person dying as aforesaid. Provided, however, That if such mother shall herself be in receipt of a pension as a widow, in virtue of the provisions of the second section of this act, in that case no pension or allowance shall be granted to her on account of her son, unless she gives up the other pension or allowance: And provided further, That the pension given to a mother on account of her son shall terminate on her re-marriage: And provided further, That nothing shall be so construed as to entitle the mother of an officer or other person dying, as aforesaid, to more than one pension at the same time, under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That when any officer or other person named in the first section of this act shall have died subsequently to the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty, and has not left or shall not leave a widow, nor legitimate child, nor mother, but has left or may leave an orphan sister or sisters, under sixteen years of age who were dependent upon him for support, in whole or in part, such sister or sisters shall be entitled to receive the same pension as such officer or other person would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled; which pension to said orphan shall commence from the death of the officer or other person dying as aforesaid, and shall continue to the said orphans until they severally arrive at the age of sixteen years, and no longer: Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to entitle said orphans to more than one pension at the same time under the provisions of this act: And provided further, That no moneys shall be paid to the widow or children, or any heirs of any deceased soldier on account of bounty, back pay or pension, who have in any way been engaged in, or who have aided or abetted the existing rebellion in the United States: but the right of such disloyal widow or children, heir or heirs of such soldier, shall be vested in the loyal heir or heirs of the deceased, if any there be.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That pensions which may be granted, in pursuance of the provisions of this act, to persons who may have been, or shall be, employed in the military or naval service of the United States, shall commence on the day of the discharge of such persons in all cases in which the application for such pensions is filed within one year after the date of said discharge; and in cases in which the application is not filed during said year, pensions granted to persons as aforesaid shall commence on the day of the filing of the application.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That the fees of agents and attorneys, for making out and causing to be executed the papers necessary to establish a claim for a pension, bounty and other allowance, before the Pension Office under this act, shall not exceed the following rates: For making out and causing to be duly executed a declaration by the applicant, with the necessary affidavits, and forwarding the same to the Pension Office, with the requisite correspondence, five dollars. In cases wherein additional testimony is required by the Commissioner of Pensions, for each affidavit so required and executed and forwarded (except the affidavit of surgeons, for which such agents and attorneys shall not be entitled to any fees), one dollar and fifty cents.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That any agent or attorney who shall, directly or indirectly, demand or receive any greater compensation for his services under this act than is prescribed in the preceding section of this act, or who shall contract or agree to prosecute any claim for a pension, bounty or other allowance under this act, on the condition that he shall receive a per centum upon, or any portion of the amount of such claim, or who shall wrongfully withhold from a pensioner or other claimant the whole or any part of the pension or claim allowed and due to such pensioner and claimant, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for every such offence, be fined not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding two years, or both, according to the circumstances and aggravations of the offence.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Pensions be, and he is hereby empowered to appoint, at his discretion, civil surgeons to make the biennial examinations of pensioners which are or may be required to be made by law, and to examine applicants for invalid pensions, when he shall deem an examination by a surgeon to be appointed by him necessary, and the fees for each of such examinations, and the requisite certificate thereof, shall be one dollar and fifty cents, which fees shall be paid to the surgeon by the person examined, for which he shall take a receipt, and forward the same to the Pension Office; and upon the allowance of the claim of the person examined, the Commissioner of Pensions shall furnish to such person an order on the Pension Agent of his State for the amount of the surgeon's fees.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Pensions, on application made to him in person or by letter by any claimants or applicants for pension, bounty or other allowance required by law to be adjusted and paid by the Pension Office, shall furnish such claimants, free of all expense or charge to them, all such printed instructions and forms as may be necessary in establishing and obtaining such claim; and in case such claim is prosecuted by an agent or attorney of such claimant or applicant, on the issue of a certificate of pension or the granting of a bounty or allowance, the Commissioner of Pensions shall forthwith notify the applicant or claimant that such certificate has been issued or allowance made, and the amount thereof.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That the pilots, engineers, sailors and crews upon the gunboats and war vessels of the United States who have not been regularly mustered into the service of the United States, shall be entitled to the same bounty allowed to persons of corresponding rank in the naval service, provided they continue in service to the close of the present war; and all persons serving as aforesaid, who have been or may be wounded or incapacitated for service, shall be entitled to receive for such disability the pension allowed by the provisions of this act, to those of like rank, and each and every such person shall receive pay according to corresponding rank in the naval service: Provided, That no person receiving pension or bounty under the provisions of this act shall receive either pension or bounty for any other service in the present war.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the widows and heirs of all persons described in the last preceding section who have been or may be employed as aforesaid, or who have been or may be killed in battle, or of those who have died or shall die of wounds received while so employed, shall be paid the bounty and pension allowed by the provisions of this act, according to rank, as provided in the last preceding section.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Interior be and he is hereby authorized to appoint a special agent for the Pension Office, to assist in the detection of frauds against the pension laws, to cause persons committing such frauds to be prosecuted, and to discharge such other duties as said Secretary may require him to perform; which said agent shall receive for his services an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars, and his actual travelling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties shall be paid by the Government.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That all acts and parts or acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

REGULATIONS AND FORMS FOR OBTAINING PENSIONS FOR INVALIDS, REGULARS, VOLUNTEERS, OR MILITIA.

1. Regulations.

All persons applying for pensions by reason of disability incurred in the line of duty while in the military service of the United States, must make a declaration, under oath (or affirmation), before some court of record, or before a judge or clerk of such court, setting forth the age and residence of the claimant; the service in which he was engaged; the time, place, and manner of incurring the disability alleged, with its precise character; and the date of his discharge; together with a statement of his residence and occupation since leaving the service.

In support of the averments of such declaration, the following rules must be observed in presenting the testimony:

1. The claimant's identity must be proved by two witnesses, certified by a judicial officer to be respectable and credible, who are present and witness the signature of the declaration, and who state upon oath (or affirmation) their belief, either from personal acquaintance or for other reasons given, that he is the identical person he represents himself to be.

2. The applicant must, if in his power, produce the certificate of the captain, or of some other commissioned officer, under whom he served, distinctly stating the time and place of the said applicant's having been wounded, or otherwise disabled, and the nature of the disability; and that the disability arose while he was in the service of the United States, and in the line of his duty.

3. If it be impracticable to obtain such certificate, by reason of the death or removal of said officers, it must be so stated in the declaration of the applicant, and his averment of the fact proved by persons of known respectability, who must state particularly all the knowledge they may possess in relation to such death or removal. Then secondary evidence can be received. In such case the applicant must produce the testimony of at least two credible witnesses (who were in a condition to know the facts about which they testify) whose good character must be vouched for by a judicial officer, or by some one known to the Department. These witnesses must give a minute narrative of the facts in relation to the matter, and must show how they obtained a knowledge of the facts to which they testify.

4. The surgeon's certificate of discharge should show the character and degree of the claimant's disability, but when that is wanting, and when the certificate of an army surgeon is not attainable, the certificate of two respectable civil surgeons will be received, in accordance with the form F. These surgeons must give, in their certificate, a particular description of the wound, injury, or disease, and specify how and in what manner his present condition and disability are connected therewith. The degree of disability must also be stated.

5. The habits of the applicant, and his occupation since he left the service, must be shown by at least two credible witnesses.

6. All evidence should be verified by oath, before a judge of the United States Court, or some judge or justice of the peace, or other officer of a State having authority to administer oaths for general purposes; and if verified before an officer of any State, his official character must be duly authenticated; and such officer must, in all cases, certify that he is not interested in the prosecution of the claim.

7. Attorneys for claimants must in all cases have proper authority from those in whose behalf they appear. Powers of attorney must be signed in the presence of two witnesses, and acknowledged before a duly qualified officer whose official character must be properly shown.

The subjoined forms will guide applicants for pensions of the army branch, and must be exactly followed in every instance. No attorney or applicant will be regarded as having filed the necessary declaration and affidavit unless the forms as well as the foregoing instructions are strictly complied with.

Act of July 4 1864

Various Supplementary Acts have been passed by the Act of July 14, 1862, modifying in some particulars the provisions of previous legislation.

By the Act of July 4, 1864, it is provided that biennial examinations will hereafter be made by one surgeon only, if he is regularly appointed, or holds a surgeon's commission in the army. Examinations by unappointed civil surgeons will not be accepted unless it can be shown that an examination by a commissioned or duly appointed surgeon is impracticable.

INCREASED PENSIONS IN CERTAIN CASES.—A pension of twenty-five dollars per month is granted to those having lost both hands or both eyes in the military service of the United States, in the line of duty, and twenty dollars per month to those who under the same conditions shall have lost both feet, if such parties were entitled to a lower rate of pension under the Act of 1862. This higher pension will date only from the 4th day of July, 1864, in case of pensioners already enrolled, or of applicants discharged prior to that date.

EVIDENCE OF MUSTER-IN.—In accordance with the 11th Section of the Act of July 4, 1864, evidence of the muster-in of the soldier will not be required in any case, but there must be positive record evidence of service. Evidence of muster in the case of commissioned officers is still required.

Act of June 6, 1866.

The supplementary pension act, approved June six, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, provides increased rates of pensions over those granted by the act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, in the following cases, viz:

1. Twenty-five dollars per month to all those invalids entitled, under the act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, to a lower rate of pension, on account of service rendered since March four, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, "who shall have lost the sight of both eyes, or who shall have lost both hands, or been permanently and totally disabled in the same, or otherwise so permanently and totally disabled as to render them utterly helpless, or so nearly so as to require the constant personal aid and attendance of another person."

2. Twenty dollars per month to those invalids who, being entitled under like conditions to a lower rate of pension, "shall have lost both feet, or one hand and one foot, or been totally and permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, but not so much so as to require constant personal aid and attention."

3. Fifteen dollars per month to those invalids who, under like conditions, "shall have lost one hand or one foot, or been totally and permanently disabled in the same, or otherwise so disabled as to render their inability to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or a foot."

In order to obtain the benefits of the foregoing provisions, pensioners already enrolled will file an application in accordance with form F, appended hereto. Proof in addition to that on file with the previous application need not be forwarded except as shall be specially required in each case, after the application is received. The applicant need only be examined by a pension surgeon when expressly required, on due notice from this office. Applicants not already pensioned, who believe themselves entitled to the benefit of the foregoing provisions, will specifically set forth such claim in their declarations, carefully stating the nature of the disability on account of which such higher rate of pension is claimed. The declaration must be made before some officer of a court of record, or before a pension notary designated by this office, as provided by the third section of the act of July four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four.

The above specified increased rates of pension will be allowed only to those disabled since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, and will date only from the sixth day of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

TEAMSTERS, ARTIFICERS, AND OTHER ENLISTED MEN, not embraced in the terms of the act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, or of acts supplementary thereto, are, by the tenth section of the act of June six, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, included, in the administration of the pension laws, in the class of non-commissioned officers and privates.

MINOR CHILDREN TO BE PENSIONED, IN CERTAIN CASES, INSTEAD OF THE WIDOW.—The eleventh section provides that when any widow, entitled to a pension under previous acts, has abandoned the care of a child or children of her deceased husband, under sixteen years of age, "or is an unsuitable person, by reason of immoral conduct, to have the custody of the same," the pension shall be paid to the duly authorized guardian of such child or children, while under the age of sixteen years, and not to the widow. The proper proof in such case, as provided by this section, is the certificate of the judge of any court having probate jurisdiction "that satisfactory evidence has been produced before such court" to the effect above indicated. In presenting an application under this section, the guardians of the minor child or children will make a declaration in accordance with the appended form G.

PENSIONS GRANTED TO DEPENDENT FATHERS AND TO DEPENDENT ORPHAN BROTHERS.—By the twelfth section the provisions of the act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, are extended so as to include the dependant brother or brothers of a deceased officer, soldier, or seaman, and the dependant father of such deceased persons, under like limitations as apply in the case of dependent sisters and mothers; but not more than one pension is granted on account of the same person, or to more than one of said classes. The forms prescribed for the latter cases may be used, with obvious variations, in applications made by dependent fathers or on behalf of dependent brothers.

LIMITATIONS AS TO NUMBER AND DATE OF PENSIONS.—The thirteenth section declares that but one pension shall be granted to any person at the same time; and that when application is not made within three years after the death or discharge of the party on whose account a pension is claimed, such pension, if allowed, "shall commence from the date of filing the last paper in said case by the party prosecuting the same." This limitation applies to all classes of pensions.

EVIDENCE OF MARRIAGE OF COLORED APPLICANTS.—The fourteenth section provides that habitual recognition of the marriage relation between colored parties—that is, in the absence of the usually required proof—when shown by "proof satisfactory to the Commissioner of Pensions," shall be accepted as evidence of marriage, and the children of such parties shall be regarded as if born in lawful wedlock. When the usual proof of marriage can be furnished, it will be required as heretofore. When only evidence of cohabitation and mutual recognition can be adduced, as provided in this section, the testimony of two credible and disinterested witnesses will be required, who must state how long they have been personally acquainted with the parties, and for how long a period the latter are known to have recognized each other as man and wife. If such acquaintance is deemed to be of too recent date to warrant the acceptance of this testimony, or if there is reason to doubt, in any instance, that the marriage relation existed in good faith, more specific instructions will be issued, adapted to the circumstances of the particular case.

Act of July 25, 1866.

PROVOST MARSHALS, ENROLLING OFFICERS AND OTHERS ENTITLED TO THE BENEFITS OF THE PENSION LAWS.—The first section of the act of July twenty-five, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, extends the benefits conferred by the pension laws to provost marshals, deputy provost marshals, and enrolling officers disabled in the line of their official duty as such, and to the widows or dependents of such officers in like manner.

Declarations will be made in accordance with the instructions issued under the pension act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and supplementary acts. The grade of such officers, for the purpose of determining the rates of pensions under this section, is fixed as follows: Provost marshals will rank as captains; their deputies as first lieutenants; and enrolling officers as second lieutenants.

INCREASED PENSIONS TO WIDOWS, AND ORPHAN CHILDREN UNDER SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE.—The second section of this act allows to those who are or shall be pensioned as widows of soldiers or sailors two dollars per month additional pension for each child (under sixteen years of age) of the deceased soldier or sailor by the widow thus pensioned.

On the death or remarriage of such widow, or on the denial of a pension to her, in accordance with the provisions of section eleven of the act of June six, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, the same amount to which she would otherwise be entitled, under this and previous provisions, is allowed to the minor children. The number and names of the children, with their ages, must be proved by the affidavits of two credible and disinterested witnesses. The provisions of this section only include the children of the widow, and not those of her deceased husband by a previous marriage. The widows of minor children of officers are not entitled to this increase. Declarations for an increase under this section, if for the widow, will be made in accordance with form H, appended hereto; and if for minor children, according to form I. The pension certificate must be sent with all applications filed subsequently to September four, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

INCREASE OF PENSIONS UNDER ACTS PRIOR TO JULY 4, 1862.—All pensioners under acts approved prior to July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, are, by the third section of the present act, granted the same rights as those pensioned under acts approved at or since that date, so far as said acts may be applicable, with the exception of soldiers of the Revolution or their widows. This section applies only to pensioners who were such at the date of the approval of this act.

Declarations of claimants under this section will be made in accordance with the forms previously issued under act of July fourteen, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and subsequent pension acts, with the necessary modifications, and the pension certificates will be returned.

INVALID PENSIONS OF CLAIMANTS DYING WHILE THEIR APPLICATIONS ARE PENDING, THE EVIDENCE BEING COMPLETED.—The fourth section of this act is construed in connection with the tenth section of the act of July four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and the sixth section of the act of June six, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, to which it is supplementary. If an applicant for invalid pension dies while his claim is pending, the evidence having been completed, the pension, under the provisions of this section and of those sections of previous acts above referred to, is disposed of as follows:

1. If he left a widow, or minor child or children under sixteen years of age, or other dependent relatives, and died of wounds received or of disease contracted in the service or in the line of duty, no invalid pension certificate will issue, but such widow or dependent relatives will receive a pension, in their own right, taking precedence in the order prescribed by law in other cases.*

2. If the claimant left a widow or dependent relatives, but did not die of wounds received or disease contracted in the service and in the line of duty, so that neither widow nor dependent relatives would be entitled to a pension on his account, then the certificate will be issued in his name, and the pension paid to the widow or to the dependent relatives, as the case may be, in the same order in which they would have been pensioned, if entitled, as set forth in the preceding paragraph.

3. If the claimant left no widow or dependent relatives, the certificate will issue in his name, and the pension will be drawn by his executor or administrator.

CERTAIN ACCRUED RIGHTS RESERVED UNDER REPEALED ENACTMENTS.—The fifth section reserves all rights that may have accrued under the fifth section of the pension act of July four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and the third section of the pension act of March three, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, though repealed by the first section of the act of June six, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

WIDOWS REMARRYING WHILE THEIR CLAIMS ARE PENDING are entitled, under the sixth section, if their claims are otherwise valid, to receive pensions to the date of remarriage, if the deceased officer, soldier, or sailor on whose account they claim left no legitimate child under sixteen years of age.

JOSEPH H. BARRETT,

Commissioner of Pensions

PENSION OFFICE, August 4, 1866.

GRATUITOUS PENSIONS

I. To Widows and Orphans of Officers, Soldiers, etc.

As there are very few, if any, cases where a pension is yet to be granted to the widows or orphan children of revolutionary oldiers, we do not deem it necessary to give any forms or instructions for these.

By the acts of Congress of April 16, 1816, July 21, 1848, February 22, 1849, June 8, 1858, and the joint resolution of September 28, 1850, provision is made for the widows and orphans of soldiers of the regular army, and to some extent to those of volunteers and militia prior to the war of 1861, and the acts of April 10, 1812, March 8, 1817, April 20, 1818, March 19, 1836, February 3, 1853, and August 5, 1854, supply all deficiencies, and place the widows and orphans of volunteers and militia on the same footing as those of regulars.

The following are in substance the regulations of the Pension Office for obtaining pensions for widows and orphans of soldiers in wars since the revolution, and for all claimants prior to the passage of the act of July 14, 1862:

1. The declaration of the widow, or of the guardian duly appointed and qualified, in the case of a minor child or children, must be made, under oath or affirmation, before a court of record (or before a judge or clerk of such court, unless satisfactory reason is shown for making such affidavit before some other magistrate having authority to administer oaths), according to the forms which follow these instructions. In all cases, the official character of the magistrate must be duly certified by the proper officer, under his seal of office.

2. If the applicant be a widow, she must prove the legality of her marriage, the death of her husband, and that she is still a widow. She must also furnish the names and ages of her children under sixteen years of age at her husband's decease, and the place of their residence. On a subsequent marriage her pension will cease, and the minor child or children of the deceased officer or soldier, if any be living, under the age of sixteen years, will be entitled to the same from the date of such marriage. By the act of August 5, 1854, widows of deceased officers and soldiers who had married again are not precluded from claiming a pension, provided they are widows (the second husband having died) at the time of making the claim.

3. If application be made in behalf of a minor child of the deceased officer or soldier, the marriage of his parents must be proved, the death of his father, the death or re-marriage of his mother, and that he is still a minor under sixteen years of age.

4. If the deceased officer or soldier was a pensioner, that fact should be stated, as well as the act under which he was pensioned, and the agency at which he was paid. In such case a reference to the evidence filed in his application will be sufficient to prove the service.

5. Proof of the service of the deceased officer or soldier must be had from the muster rolls or other documentary evidence in custody of the executive departments (which the claimant is not required to produce) or else from the testimony of commissioned officers, or the affidavits of persons of known respectability. It must also be clearly shown in what company and regiment or corps the deceased served, and in what grade.

6. Applicants must furnish the best proof the nature of the case will allow, not only as to the place and time of the death of the deceased officer or soldier, but also as to the complaint of which he died, and the supposed cause of his disease.

7. The legality of the marriage may be ascertained by the certificate of the clergyman who joined them in wedlock, or by the testimony of respectable persons having knowledge of the fact, in default of record evidence. The ages and number of children may be ascertained by the deposition of the mother, accompanied by the testimony of respectable persons having knowledge of them, or by transcript from the parish registers, duly authenticated. The widows must show at the time of receiving each and every payment of her pension that she has not again married. This may be done by the affidavits of respectable persons having knowledge of the case.

9. Under the provisions of the 1st section of the act of February 3, 1853, all widows and orphans who were granted and allowed five years' half-pay by the provisions of the act of July

4, 1836, extended by the act of July 21, 1848, and further extended by the act of February 22, 1849, are entitled to a continuance of said half-pay for a further period of five years, to commence at the expiration of the half-pay provided for by the aforesaid acts, under the restrictions and limitations specified therein.

9. Under the last proviso of the first section of the act of February 3, 1853, the widows of officers, non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates of the regulars, militia and volunteers, of the war of 1812, and also in the various Indian wars since 1790, who remained to the date of their death in the service of the United States, or who, having received an honorable discharge, and having died since their return to their usual place of residence of wounds received, or from disease contracted while in the line of their duty, are entitled to receive half the monthly pay to which the deceased was entitled at the time of his death, or at the time of receiving such wounds, or contracting such disease, for and during the term of five years, to commence at the time of completing the evidence in said case.

10. Agents must in all cases have proper authority from the claimants on whose behalf they appear. No power of attorney will be recognized as sufficient unless signed in the presence of two witnesses, and acknowledged before a duly qualified officer, whose authority is certified under seal.

An authenticated copy of the letters of guardianship must accompany this declaration, together with proof of marriage, of death, of the children being those of the deceased officer or soldier, etc., as in applications by widows. We have already given the forms for preparing this proof. If the deceased officer or soldier had himself received an invalid's pension, or if his widow had received a widow's pension, it will be sufficient to refer to the proofs already on file in the Pension Office, in regard to his service or death.

II. Pensions to Widows and Orphans under Pension Act of July 14, 1862.

No pensions are granted to widows or orphans by this act except to those who were connected with deceased officers or soldiers, or naval officers, sailors, or marines of the war of 1861.

The proofs of the legality of the marriage of the widow, and of the fact that she is still a widow, are requisite precisely as in the former cases of widows' pensions. Her pension ceases on her re-marriage, or if there be children of the deceased officer or soldier under sixteen years of age, reverts to them.

The proofs of marriage of parents, of the age of claimants and of guardianship, are also required in the case of minor children as in the pensions under preceding acts.

Applicants of either of these classes, who have in any manner aided or abetted the rebellion against the United States government, are not entitled to the benefits of this act.

PENSIONS FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS IN NAVY CASES.

I. CLAIMS PRIOR TO 1861.

Regulations for obtaining Pensions for Widows and Orphans in Navy Cases.

In all claims for widows' pensions, or a renewal thereof, it must be shown by evidence, accompanying the application, or already on file, that the husband lost his life while in the naval service, by reason of wounds or injuries received, casualty incurred, or disease contracted in the line of duty. In cases of a date subsequent to that of the general order, such evidence may generally be found here; but if of prior date must, if practicable, be furnished by the certificate of medical or other commissioned officers of the navy, cognizant of the facts. If, after using due diligence, such certificates cannot be obtained, the applicant can then present such other testimony as would be taken in a court of justice.

The usual legal proof of marriage must be produced, accompanied by a statement of the names and ages of all children of the parties, whether the fruit of their own or of former marriage. This last is to be desired, not only as a security to the government, but as facilitating any future claim on the part of the children.

The widowhood and identity of the applicant should be stated in the memorial, and certified by the officiating magistrate or established by the affidavit of credible witnesses; and all evidence (excepting the certificates of naval officers), must be given by affidavit before a magistrate, whose official character must be certified by the clerk of the county in which he acts, under his seal of office. Applications for orphans' navy pension may be made in the following cases:

1. Death of mother before the father.
2. Death of mother since the father, but without having received the benefit of the pension laws.
3. Death or intermarriage of their mother, since having received such benefit.

In the first and second cases, the same testimony would be required as in widows' applications, together with legal proof of the names and ages of the children.

In the third case, the latter only.

Orphans' applications can be made by the legally-appointed guardian, in any form embracing a statement of facts. Claims of arrearages of pension may be paid to the orphans themselves, if adults, or to an administrator, for the sole and exclusive use and benefit of the children of the deceased parties.

Form of Application for Widow's Navy Pension.

Accompanying this declaration must be the following proof:

1. Proof of service and the cause of the death of the husband. Where the husband was a pensioner while living, proof of service need not be made. If record evidence of the service and cause of death of the husband is in the archives of the Government, the facts of the service and death may be stated in brief in the declaration, and reference be made to the place where such record evidence may be found. The character of the proof necessary (whenever required) may be learned by consulting the regulations which precede the foregoing declaration.

2. Proof of the marriage. This must be made by one of the methods mentioned under "WIDOWS AND ORPHANS—REVOLUTIONARY WAR"; or, "WIDOWS AND ORPHANS—VOLUNTEERS AND MILITIA"; or "WIDOWS AND ORPHANS—REGULARS."

5. Proof of present widowhood.

6. Proof of the date of subsequent marriage, and the death of last husband, when required by facts.

III. GRATUITOUS PENSIONS TO MOTHERS AND SISTERS OF DECEASED SOLDIERS OR SAILORS IN THE NAVAL SERVICE.

These have never been granted previous to the law of July 14th, 1862. The following are the regulations of the Pension Office in respect to them:

1. If the claimant be the mother of the deceased soldier, it will be necessary to prove that he was disabled, or killed, or died of disease contracted in the service, and in the line of his duty. If he received an invalid pension, or his death appeared on the government rolls, reference to these will be sufficient.

2. It will further be necessary to prove that the deceased left no wife nor children; that the claimant was legally married and the mother of the deceased, and was and remains a widow; that she was partially or totally dependent upon him for support, and that she has not in any manner aided or abetted the rebellion in the United States.

3. In the case of orphan minor sisters, claiming a pension, it will be necessary to prove the death of the deceased brother, in the same way as above stated, and also, the marriage of the parents of the claimant or claimants; the death or marriage of the mother of the deceased; the relationship between the claimant or claimants and the deceased; the names and ages of the sisters under sixteen years of age, who were dependent on the deceased in whole or in part, for support; that the deceased left neither widow nor children; and that the claimant or claimants had not in any way aided or abetted the rebellion against the United States.

Affidavits in proof of these several facts may be made before a justice or other officer authorized to administer oaths generally; but his official character must be certified by the clerk of the proper court under its seal. The ages of the minor claimants should be given where possible, by an abstract from the parish register, duly authenticated.

ARREARS OF PENSIONS.

Under the provisions of the acts of 2d March, 1829, and 29th June, 1840, in case of the death of any pensioner, the arrears of pension, due to him at the time of his death, must be paid:

1. To the widow of the deceased pensioner, or to her attorney; proving herself to be such before a court of record.

2. If there be no widow, then to the executor or administrator on the estate of such pensioner, for the sole and exclusive benefit of the children, to be by him distributed among them in equal shares; and the law of 1840 declares that the arrears of pension "shall not be considered a part of the assets of said estate, nor liable to be applied to the payments of the debts of said estate in any case whatever."

3. In case of the death of any pensioner, who is a widow, leaving children, the amount of pension due at the time of her death must be paid to the executor or administrator for the benefit of her children, as directed in the foregoing paragraph.

4. In case of the death of any pensioner, whether male or female, leaving children, the amount of pension may be paid to any one or each of them as they may prefer, without the intervention of an administrator.

If one of the children is selected to receive the amount due, he or she must produce a power of attorney from the others, for that purpose, duly authenticated.

5. If there be no widow, child, nor children, then the amount due such pensioner, at the time of his death, must be paid to the legal representative of the deceased.

6. When an executor or administrator shall apply for the pension due to a deceased person, he must deposit a certificate of the clerk of the court, judge of probate, register of wills, ordinary or surrogate (as the case may be), stating that he is duly authorized to act in that capacity on the estate of the deceased pensioner, and, if a male, that it has been proved to his satisfaction that there is no widow of the said pensioner living.

7. In all cases of payment being made of moneys due a deceased pensioner, the original pension certificate must be surrendered, as evidence of the identity of the person to whom the pension claimed was due, or other substantial evidence of such identity must be produced in case such certificate cannot be obtained for surrender, and that due search and inquiry have been made for said certificate, and that it cannot be found. The date of said pensioner's death must be proved before a court of record.

8. A certificate of the facts proved must be obtained from the clerk of the court.

The allegations made in the applicant's declaration must be sustained by the testimony of two credible and disinterested witnesses, to be certified as such by the officer before whom the testimony is taken.

The applicant must also take and subscribe the oath prescribed in the recent amnesty proclamation of the President of the United States, filing such oath with the application for a new pension certificate, in the following terms:

I, — —, do solemnly swear [or affirm] in the presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Union of the States then under; that I will, in like manner, abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have made during the existing rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves: So help me God.

If the applicant be an invalid pensioner, he must be examined by an army surgeon, or by a surgeon duly appointed by this office, as to the continuance of his disability. If a widow, she must prove, by two credible witnesses, her continued widowhood. If the guardian of a minor child, newly appointed, he must file evidence of his appointment as such.

Approved July twenty-seven, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That so much of any money in the treasury, known as the "commutation fund," as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby, appropriated for the payment to loyal persons claiming service or labor from colored volunteers or drafted men, the amounts heretofore or hereafter to be awarded them under the provisions of section twenty-fourth of the act entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,'" approved February twenty-fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, for each person so claimed to be held to service or labor who has enlisted or been drafted into the military service of the United States; but such payment shall in no case be made to any person except upon satisfactory proof that the claimant has firmly and faithfully maintained his or her adherence and allegiance to the Government of the United States by defending its cause against the government of the so-called Confederate States of America in all suitable and practicable ways, and according to his or her ability and opportunity; Provided, That no money shall be paid under the foregoing provision until the final report of the commissioners under the act aforesaid shall have been made on all the claims embraced in the twenty-fourth section of said act.

[By the terms of section twenty-four, act approved February twenty-four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, it is provided that the Secretary of War shall appoint a commission in each of the slave States represented in Congress, charged to award to each loyal person to whom a colored volunteer may owe service a just compensation, not exceeding three hundred dollars. Claims arising under this law are to be submitted to the War Department.]

Equalization Bounty Bill.

Approved July twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and sixty six.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That each and every soldier who enlisted in the army of the United States after the nineteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, for a period of not less than three years, and having served the term of his enlistment, has been honorably discharged, and who has received, or who is entitled to receive, from the United States, under existing laws, a bounty of one hundred dollars, and no more; and any such soldier enlisted for not less than three years, who has been honorably discharged on account of wounds received in the line of duty, and the widow, minor children, or parents in the order named, of any such soldier who died in the service of the United States, or of disease or wounds contracted while in the service, and in the line of duty, shall be paid the additional bounty of one hundred dollars hereby authorized.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That to each and every soldier who enlisted into the army of the United States after the nineteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, for a period of not less than two years, and who is not included in the foregoing section, and has been honorably discharged after serving two years, and who has received or is entitled to receive from the United States, under existing laws, a bounty of one hundred dollars, and no more, shall be paid an additional bounty of fifty dollars; and, any such soldier enlisted for not less than two years, who has been honorably discharged on account of wounds received in the line of duty, and the widow, minor children, or parents in the order named, of any such soldier who died in the service of the United States, or of disease or wounds contracted while in the service, and in the line of duty, shall be paid the additional bounty of fifty dollars hereby authorized.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That any soldier who shall have bartered, sold, assigned, transferred, loaned, exchanged, or given away his final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other act of Congress, shall not be entitled to receive any additional bounty whatever; and when application is made by any soldier for said bounty, he shall be required, under the pains and penalties of perjury, to make oath, or affirmation of his identity, and that he has not so bartered, sold, assigned, transferred, exchanged, loaned, or given away either his discharge papers or any interest in any bounty as aforesaid. And no claim for such bounty shall be entertained by the Paymaster General or other accounting or disbursing officer, except upon the receipt of the claimant's discharge papers, accompanied by the statement, under oath, as by this section provided.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That in the payment of the additional bounty herein provided for, it shall be the duty of the Paymaster General, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, to cause to be examined the accounts of each and every soldier who makes application therefor, and if found entitled thereto, shall pay said bounties.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That in the reception, examination, settlement, and payment of claims for said additional bounty due the widows or heirs of deceased soldiers, the accounting officers of the Treasury, shall be governed by the restrictions prescribed for the Paymaster General by the Secretary of War, and the payment shall be made in like manner under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

[This law creates a large number of claims, and in their examination and adjustment the accounting officer will require that the provisions of the third section of the law be strictly observed. All claims arising under this law in favor of the heirs of deceased soldiers, and all claims arising from the service of colored troops will be presented to the Second Auditor of the Treasury; all by discharged soldiers will be presented to the Paymaster General.]

Rules and Regulations.

The following rules and regulations for the payment of bounties under the act to equalize bounties, approved July twenty eight, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, have been made by the War Department:

1. All applications shall be filed within a period of six months from the first day of October, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and before any payments are made shall be classified by regiments, battalions, or other separate organizations; and no application filed after that period shall be settled until the former shall have been paid.

2. No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the act, and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive, from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the act of July twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, more than one hundred dollars bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.

3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required, and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.

4. As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization, shall have been properly acted upon, the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.

5. A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's Office and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the laws, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments, &c. If the claims be allowed, the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected, the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated.

6. In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules, the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as therein stated.

7. Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes, as State militia, home guards, &c., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the act.

8. Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war," who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this act.

9. The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage. Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it shall be paid to the mother. Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claims of heirs who would otherwise legally inherit.

The provisions of the act exclude from its benefits the following classes:

1. Those who, after serving the full period of their enlistment were dishonorably discharged at its expiration.

2. Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.

3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received "in the line of duty," who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge.

4. Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment.

5. The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty.

6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than one hundred dollars from the United States.

7. The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged, or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other act of Congress.

8. The act of the twenty-eight of July, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this act.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING CLAIMS FOR BOUNTY MONEY.

The following instructions and forms are extracted from a circular of the Second Auditor of the Treasury, relating to claims for pay and bounty:

OF BOUNTY.—The act, approved July 11, 1862, provides "that said bounty shall be paid to the following persons, and in the order following, and to no other person, to wit: First, to the widow of such deceased soldier, if there be one. Second, if there be no widow, then to the children of such deceased soldier, share and share alike. Third, if such soldier left neither widow, nor child, nor children, then, and in that case, such bounty shall be paid to the following persons, provided they be residents of the United States, to wit: First, to his father, or if he shall not be living, or has abandoned the support of his family, then to the mother of such soldier; and if there be no father nor mother, as aforesaid, then such bounty shall be paid to the brothers and sisters of the deceased soldier, resident as aforesaid."

By the same act, the bounty of one hundred dollars to widows, etc., of volunteers, is also given to the widows, etc., of those persons who have enlisted in the regular forces since the first day of July, 1861, or shall enlist in the regular forces during 1862, to be paid to the heirs named in this act. Widows of commissioned officers, and of soldiers dying after being discharged, are not entitled to bounty, nor are the widows of deceased three-months volunteers.

DISLOYALTY.—In section four of "an act to grant pensions," approved July 24, 1862, it is provided, "that no moneys shall be paid to the widow, or children, or any heirs of any deceased soldier, on account of bounty, back pay, or pension, who have in any way been engaged in, or who have aided or abetted the existing rebellion in the United States; but the right of such disloyal widow, or children, heir or heirs, of such soldier, shall be vested in the loyal heir or heirs of the deceased, if any there be."

Information in regard to such cases will receive the attention of the accounting officers.

APPLICATION.—The claimant or claimants must make a written application, under oath, and over his, her, or their own signature, stating his, her, or their name, age, residence, connection to the deceased, with the letter or name of the Captain of the company, and regiment to which he belonged; time of his death and the nature of the pay claim—whether "arrear of pay," etc.; and the "$100 bounty," under act of July 22, 1861.

An application by the guardian should give the name and age of the ward or wards, and should be accompanied by letters of guardianship, or an authenticated copy thereof. In the application of a mother claiming bounty, her husband being alive, the facts upon which the claim is made should be clearly stated and proved. If the soldier died unmarried, leaving no child, it must be stated by the applicant, and also by the disinterested witnesses.

PROOF.—To satisfy the accounting officers that the person or persons thus claiming is or are entitled to the money in the character he, she or they, may claim, the depositions of two credible witnesses will be required, stating that they are acquainted with the claimant or claimants, the connection held to the deceased, and that they (the deponents) are disinterested. Proof of marriage (record evidence if possible) must always accompany the applications of those claiming to be widows. If the soldier died unmarried it must be so stated by the applicant and also by the disinterested witnesses.

AUTHENTICATION.—The application and depositions, above required, to be subscribed and sworn to before a judge, commissioner, notary public, or Justice of the Peace, duly authorized to administer oaths, accompanied by a certificate and seal of a court of record as to the fact of the said judge, etc., being duly commissioned and acting in his official capacity at the time of the execution of the foregoing papers.

BOUNTY.—No discharged soldier can, under any circumstances, receive the bounty provided by the act of July 22, 1864, unless "he shall have served for a period of two years, or during the war, if sooner ended;" but, "the widow, if there be one, and if not, the legal heirs of such as die, or may be killed in the service, in addition to all arrears of pay and allowances, shall receive the sum of one hundred dollars."

MODE OF PRESENTING CLAIMS.—All claims for arrears of pay and bounty money may be sent directly to this office. When received they are entered upon the register; as soon as practicable they will be examined, and if found correct in form, they are placed upon the files for settlement, and their receipt acknowledged. If incorrect, the party sending it is immediately notified. No "special cases" will be made at the solicitation of attorneys, but when evidence can be obtained, cases will be audited in the order in which they are received. The only exception to this rule is when in settling a case in its order, evidence is found upon the same rolls by which to settle other claims of soldiers deceased in the same company. Letters of inquiry in relation to a claim should specify the name of the deceased, and the company, regiment, and State to which he belonged, and in all cases, to secure an answer, the name, post-office and State of the writer should be distinctly written.

FORMS.—The form accompanying this circular is intended only as a guide, and must be varied to suit special cases. No claim is rejected on account of the form in which it is presented, if it substantially complies with the instructions.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Letters of inquiry relating to the pay of soldiers in hospital or on furlough, should be addressed to the Paymaster-General. Inquiries relating to the pay of deceased teamsters or other employees of the quartermaster's department, or for the pay of horses killed or lost in the service, to the Third Auditor; and relating to the pay and bounty of persons in the marine or naval service, to the Fourth Auditor.

POSTAGE.—The Government pays all postages on such busi-

FORMS AND REGULATIONS RELATING TO PAY AND ALLOWANCES FOR SERVICES IN THE ARMY.

Claims for pay, extra pay, allowances and bounties, for services in the army, during the war of 1812, should be presented to the Third Auditor; for services rendered since that time to the Second Auditor; and for services in the navy or marine corps, whether in the war of 1812 or since that time, to the Fourth Auditor of the Treasury. A volunteer or soldier should receive, at the time of his discharge, a regular discharge, and two duplicate pay certificates.

With these papers he can be paid by any paymaster of the army on their presentation. If the discharged volunteer or soldier has failed to obtain such certificates, and the regiment to which he has belonged is disbanded or beyond his reach, or if he has obtained such certificates, and payment has for any reason been refused upon their presentation to a paymaster of the army, he should make a declaration over his signature according to the Form of Application for Arrears of Pay and Bounty, and forward such declaration, together with his pay certificates and discharge [if he has them, if not, their absence must be accounted for in said declaration] to the Second Auditor of the Treasury Department, at Washington. Such claim will be audited by the Department, and the result communicated to claimant or his attorney.

Soldiers not entitled to Pay.

The 1,638th section of the United States Army Regulations provides as follows: "In case any individual shall be discharged within three months after entering the service, for a disability which existed at that time, he shall receive neither pay nor allowances, except subsistence and transportation to his home.

Soldiers not Discharged.

A volunteer or soldier at home on a furlough, or for any other cause absent from his regiment on pay day, should send power of attorney to some member of his regiment: [captain preferred], authorizing such person to draw his pay.

Official Instructions of the Second Auditor of the Treasury Department in Preparing Claims for Soldiers' Pay and Bounty.

To enable those who may have claims upon the United States, for money due deceased officers and soldiers, on account of services rendered, whether in the regular or volunteer service, to obtain the same, with the least delay, the following information is furnished.

Order of Payment :

ORDER FIRST.—If the deceased was married, payment will be made: first, to the widow; second, if no widow, to his child or children (if minors, to the guardian).

ORDER SECOND.—If he died unmarried: first, to the father; second, if the father is dead, to the mother; third, if both parents are dead, to the brothers and sisters collectively; lastly, to the heirs general (to be distributed in accordance with the laws of the State in which the deceased had his domicile).

Application, Proof, and Authentication :

APPLICATION.—The claimant or claimants must make a written application, under oath, and over his, her, or their own signature, stating his, her, or their name, age, residence, connection to the deceased, with the letter or name of the captain of the company and regiment to which he belonged; time of his death and the nature of the pay claimed—whether “arrears of pay,” etc., and the “$100 bounty,” under the act of July 22, 1861.

An application by a guardian should give the name and age of the ward or wards, and should be accompanied by letters of guardianship, or an authenticated copy thereof. In the application of a mother, claiming bounty, her husband being alive, the facts upon which the claim is made should be clearly stated and proved. If the soldier die unmarried, leaving no child, it must be stated by the applicant, and also by the disinterested witnesses.

PROOF.—To satisfy the accounting officers that the person or persons thus claiming is or are entitled to the money in the character he, she, or they may claim, the depositions of two credible witnesses will be required, stating that they are acquainted with the claimant or claimants, the connection held to the deceased, and that they (the deponents) are disinterested.

AUTHENTICATION.—The application and depositions above required to be subscribed and sworn to before a judge, commissioner, notary public, or justice of the peace, duly authorized to administer oaths, accompanied by the certificate and seal of a court of record as to the fact of the said judge, etc., being duly commissioned and acting in his official capacity at the time of the execution of the foregoing papers.

If the soldier died unmarried, it must be so stated in the application of those claiming to be his father, mother, brothers or sisters, as well as by the witnesses.

Proof of marriage (record evidence) if possible, must always accompany the applications of those claiming to be widows.

ADMINISTRATION.—As the taking out of "letters of administration" is attended with considerable expense (often unnecessary), it is suggested that it be done only when required by the Auditor.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.—When a soldier or volunteer is discharged, he is (or should be) furnished with a regular "discharge," and two (duplicate) "pay certificates," and one or more disability certificates if discharged on account of disability. Upon these papers he can be paid by a paymaster of the army upon their presentation. Should he fail to present them for payment to a paymaster, or, having presented them, and payment refused, and they are sent to this office, the applicant must state the reasons for such refusal, accompanied by proof of identity and authentication, as in the case of deceased soldiers. In no case should the "oath of identity," on the back of the "discharge" be filled up, as the "discharge" is returned to the soldier after his claim has been acted upon. Where "pay certificates" and certificates of disability have been withheld, he must send all other papers given to him at the time of his discharge, together with the certificate of his captain that no such certificates were given to him, and the reasons for withholding them. In case the certificates are claimed to have been lost, an affidavit of such loss must be furnished, stating the circumstances under which it occurred; that he has diligently searched for them without success, and that he has not received payment thereon, nor assigned them to any person

MODE OF PAYMENT.—Payments will be made by an order from the accounting officers on any paymaster of the army. Such order will require the signature of the claimant on its face before it will be paid.

MODE OF PRESENTING CLAIMS.—All claims of arrears of pay and bounty may be sent directly to this office. When received they are entered upon the register; as soon as practicable they will be examined, and if found correct in form, they are placed upon the files for settlement, and their receipt acknowledged. If incorrect, the party sending it is immediately notified. No "special cases" will be made at the solicitation of attorneys, but when evidence can be obtained, cases will be audited in the order in which they are received. The only exception to this rule is when, in settling a case in its order, evidence is found upon the same rolls by which to settle other claims of soldiers deceased in the same company. Letters of inquiry in relation to a claim, should specify the name of the deceased, and the company, regiment, and State to which he belonged; and in all cases, to secure an answer, the name, post-office, and State of the writer should be distinctly written.

FORMS.—The form accompanying this circular is intended only as a guide, and must be varied to suit special cases. No claim is rejected on account of the form in which it is presented, if it substantially complies with the instructions.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Letters of inquiry, relating to the pay of soldiers in hospital or on furlough, should be addressed to the Paymaster General. Inquiries relating to the pay of deceased teamsters or other employees of the Quartermaster's Department or for horses killed in the service, to the Third Auditor: and relating to the pay and bounty of persons in the marine or naval service, to the Fourth Auditor.

General Order for Payment of Prisoners of War.

Payment will be made to persons presenting a written authority from a prisoner to draw his pay; or, without such authority, to his wife, the guardian of his minor children, or his widowed mother in the order named. Application for such payment to be made to the senior paymaster of the district in which the prisoner is serving, and must be accompanied by the certificate of a judge of a court of the United States, or of some other party, under the seal of a court of record of the State in which the applicant is a resident, setting forth that the applicant is the wife of the prisoner, the guardian of his children, or his widowed mother; and, if occupying either of the last two relationships towards him, that there is no one in existence who is more nearly related to him, according to the above classification.

Payments will be made to parties thus authorized and identified, or their receipts made out in a manner that would be recognized by the prisoner himself, at least one month's pay being in all cases retained by the United States. The officer making the payment, will see that it is entered on the last previous muster-roll for the payment of the prisoner's company, or will report it, if those rolls are not in his possession, to the senior paymaster of the district, who will either attend to the entry or give notice of the payment to the Paymaster-General, if the rolls have been forwarded to his office.

Rules Observed at the Office of the Fourth Auditor in the Settlement of Claims to Balances Due to Deceased Seamen or Marines at the time of their Death.

1. Payment of balances due deceased seamen or marines will not be made except to administrators, who are heirs, or appointed with the consent of heirs, or to creditors to the amount of their respective claims. But no payment shall be made to a creditor until the balance due the deceased person shall have remained in the Treasury, uncalled for by an administrator appointed as aforesaid, for six weeks after information of the death of such person shall have been received at the Department; and where the balance exceeds the sum of twenty dollars, no claim of a creditor will be paid, until an advertisement shall have been inserted for three successive days, in the newspaper employed to publish the laws in the city of Washington, calling upon other claimants to present their claims at the office of the Fourth Auditor within two months; at the end of which term, if the balance shall not have been demanded by an administrator appointed as aforesaid, the claims which shall have been presented and proved before the accounting officers will be paid in equal proportion, the expense of the advertisement having been first defrayed out of the sum due to the deceased person at the time of his death.

2. Payment of arrearages claimed under a will, will only be made after satisfactory proof of the will is adduced to the accounting officers. Wills of persons in actual service must be in writing, and attested by an officer, if the testator were not himself an officer. The executor will be required to produce the original will, or a copy duly authenticated.

3. Heirship, or consent of heirs, may be shown by the fact being inserted in the letters of administration, or must be proved by the affidavit of two disinterested persons, taken before an officer empowered to administer oaths.

4. Payment may be made immediately to the heirs of the deceased, when it shall be shown that the cost of obtaining administration at the proper place would exceed one-third part of the balance due.

5. The penalty of the administration bond should be shown by the certificate of administration, or otherwise.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SEC. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.

No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New-Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New-Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SEC. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SEC. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day

SEC. 5. Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide.

Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the members of either House on any question shall, at the desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office.

SEC. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States: If he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both Houses shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House, respectively

If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him: or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

THE GREAT SEAL OF THE UNITED STATES.

Is one of peculiar interest, and therefore we feel warranted in giving more details of its design and history than can be allotted to the Seals of the several States. Soon after the declaration of independence, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Thomas Jefferson were appointed a committee to prepare a great seal for the infant republic; and they employed a French West Indian, named Du Simitiere, not only to furnish designs, but also to sketch such devices as were suggested by themselves. In one of his designs, the artist displayed on a shield the armorial ensigns of the several nations from whence America had been peopled—embracing those of England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Germany, and Holland. On one side was placed Liberty with her cap, and on the other was a rifleman in uniform, with his rifle in one hand and a tomahawk in the other—the dress and weapons being peculiar to America.

Franklin proposed, for the device, Moses lifting his wand, and dividing the Red Sea, and Pharaoh and his hosts overwhelmed with the waters. For a motto, the words of Cromwell, "Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to God."

Adams proposed the Choice of Hercules; the hero resting on a club, Virtue pointing to her rugged mountain on one hand, and persuading him to ascend; and Sloth, glancing at her flowery paths of pleasure, wantonly reclining on the ground, displaying the charms, both of her eloquence and person, to seduce him into vice.

Jefferson proposed the Children of Israel in the Wilderness, led by a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night; and, on the reverse, Hengist and Horsa, the Saxon chiefs, from whom we claim the honor of being descended and whose political principles and form of government we have assumed.

Franklin and Adams then requested Jefferson to combine their ideas in a compact description of the proposed great seal, which he did, and that paper, in his handwriting, is now in the office of the Secretary of State at Washington. This design consisted of a shield with six quarterings, parti one, coupi two, in heraldic phrase. The first gold, and an enameled rose, red and white, for England; the second white, with a thistle, in its proper colors, for Scotland; the third green, with a harp of gold, for Ireland; the fourth blue, with a golden lily-flower, for France; the fifth gold, with the imperial black eagle for Germany; and the sixth gold, with the Belgic crowned red lion, for Holland. These denoted the countries from which America had been peopled. He proposed to place the shield within a red border, on which there should be thirteen white escutcheons, linked together by a gold chain, each bearing appropriate initials, in black, of the confederated States. Supporters, the Goddess of Liberty on the right side, in a corselet of armor, in allusion to the then state of war, and holding the spear and cap in her right hand, while her left supported the shield. On the left the Goddess of Justice, leaning on a sword in her right hand, and in her left a balance. The crest, the eye of Providence in a radiant triangle, whose glory should extend over the shield and beyond the figures. Motto: E Pluribus Unum—"Many in one." Around the whole, "SEAL OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, MDCCLXXVI." For the reverse, he proposed the device of Pharaoh sitting in an open chariot, a crown on his head and a sword in his hand, passing through the divided waters of the Red Sea in pursuit of the Israelites. Rays from a pillar of fire in a cloud, expressive of the Divine presence and command, beaming on Moses, who stands on the shore, and, extending his hand over the sea, causes it to overwhelm Pharaoh and his followers. Motto: "Rebellion to tyrants is obedience to God."

Jefferson's device was highly approved by his coadjutors, and the committee reported on the 10th of August, 1776; but, for some unaccountable reason, their report was neglected, not having been even placed on record; and the affair was allowed to slumber until the 24th of March, 1779, when Messrs. Lovell, of Massachusetts, Scott, of Virginia, and Houston, of Georgia, were appointed a committee to make another device.

On the 10th of May following they reported in favor of a seal four inches in diameter, one side of which should be composed of a shield with thirteen diagonal stripes, alternate red and white. Supporters, a warrior, holding a sword on one side, and on the other the figure of Peace, bearing an olive branch. The crest, a radiant constellation of thirteen stars. Motto: Bello vel Pace—"For War or Peace," and the legend, "Seal of the United States." On the reverse, the figure of Liberty, seated in a chair, holding the staff and cap. Motto: Semper—"Forever"—and underneath, MDCCLXXVI. This report was re-committed, and again submitted with some slight modifications (substituting the figure of an Indian with bow and arrows in his right hand for that of a warrior) just a year afterward; but it was not accepted, and the matter rested until April, 1782, when Henry Middleton, Elias Boudinot and Edward Rutledge were appointed a third committee to prepare a seal. They reported on the 9th of May following, substantially the same as the committee of 1779 and 1780; but, this not being satisfactory to Congress, on the 13th of June the whole matter was referred to Charles Thomson, its secretary.

He in turn procured several devices, among which was one by William Barton, of Philadelphia, consisting of an escutcheon, with a blue border, spangled with thirteen stars, and divided in the centre, perpendicularly, by a gold bar. On each side of this division, within the blue border, thirteen bars or stripes, alternate red and white, like the American flag adopted on the 14th of June, 1777. Over the gold bar an eye surrounded with a glory, and in the gold bar a Doric column resting on the base of the escutcheon, having a displayed eagle on its summit. The crest, a helmet of burnished gold, damasked, grated with six bars, and surmounted by a red cap of dignity, such as dukes wear, with a black lining, and a cock armed with gaffs. Supporters, on one side the Genius of America, with loose Auburn tresses, having on her head a radiant crown of gold, encircled with a sky-blue fillet, spangled with silver stars, and clothed in a long, loose, white garment, bordered with green. From the right shoulder to the left side, a blue scarf with stars, the cinctures being the same as in the border. Around her waist a purple girdle, fringed with gold, and the word VIRTUE embroidered in white. Her interior hand rested on the escutcheon, and the other held the American standard, on the top of which a white dove was perched. The supporter on the other side was a man in complete armor; his sword-belt blue, fringed with gold; his helmet encircled with a wreath of laurel, and crested with one white and two blue plumes; his left hand supporting the escutcheon, and his right holding a lance with a bloody point. Upon an unfurled green banner was a golden harp with silver strings, a brilliant star, and two lily-flowers, with two crossed swords below. The two figures stood upon a scroll, on which was the motto Deo Favente—"With God's Favor"—in allusion to the eye of Providence in the arms. On the crest, in a scroll, was the motto Virtus sola Invicta—"Virtue alone is Invincible."

After vainly striving to perfect a seal which should meet the approval of Congress, Thomson finally received from John Adams, then in London, an exceedingly simple and appropriate device, suggested by Sir John Prestwich, a baronet of the West of England, who was a warm friend of America, and an accomplished antiquarian. It consisted of an escutcheon bearing thirteen perpendicular stripes, white and red, with the chief blue, and spangled with thirteen stars; and, to give it greater consequence, he proposed to place it on the breast of an American eagle, displayed, without supporters, as emblematic of self-reliance. It met with general approbation, in and out of Congress, and was adopted in June, 1782: so it is manifest, although the fact is not extensively known, that we are indebted for our national arms to a titled aristocrat of the country with which we were then at war. Eschewing all heraldic technicalities, it may be thus described in plain English: Thirteen perpendicular pieces, white and red; a blue field; the escutcheon on the breast of the American eagle displayed, proper, holding in his right talon an olive-branch, and in his left a bundle of thirteen arrows, all proper, and in his beak a scroll, inscribed with the motto E Pluribus Unum. For the crest, over the head of the eagle, which appears above the escutcheon, a golden glory breaking through a cloud, proper, and surrounding thirteen stars, forming a constellation of white stars on a blue field.

Reverse.—A pyramid unfinished. In the zenith, an eye in a triangle, surrounded with a glory, proper. Over the eye, the words Annuat Cœptis—"God has favored the undertaking." On the base of the pyramid, are the numeral Roman letters MDCCLXXVI.; and underneath the motto, Novus Ordo Seclorum—"A new Series of Ages"—denoting that a new order of things had commenced in the Western hemisphere. Thus, after many fruitless efforts, for nearly six years, a very simple seal was adopted, and yet remains the arms of the United States.

ARRANGED IN CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER.

SETTLED BY THE ENGLISH, 1607.

ON a white or silver field the Goddess of Virtue, the genius of the commonwealth is represented, dressed like an Amazon resting on a spear with one hand, and holding a sword in the other. She is in the act of trampling on Tyranny, represented by a man prostrate, a crown fallen from his head, a broken chain in his left hand, and a scourge in his right. On a label above the figure is the word "Virginia;" and beneath them is the motto, Sic semper tyrannis—"Thus we serve tyrants."

ward and higher. Around the border of the seal, between two plain lines, is the inscription, in Roman capitals, "The Great Seal of the State of New-York."

A shield, or escutcheon, on which is represented the rising sun, with a range of hills and water in the foreground. Above the shield, for the crest, is a wreath surmounted by a half globe, on which rests a startled eagle, with wings outstretched. For the supporters of the shield, on the right is represented the figure of Justice, with the sword in one hand and the scales in the other; and on the left the Goddess of Liberty, with the wand and cap in her left hand, and the olive branch of peace in her right. Below the shield is the motto, Excelsior—"More elevated"—denoting that the course of the State is on-

MASSACHUSETTS.

SETTLED BY THE PURITANS, 1630

On the blue ground of an irregularly-formed shield an Indian is represented, dressed with belted hunting-shirt and moccasins. In his right hand is a golden bow, and in his left an arrow with the point downward. A silver star on the right denotes one of the United States of America. A wreath forms the crest of the escutcheon, from which extends a right arm, clothed and ruffed, the hand grasping a broadsword, the pommel and hilt of which are of gold. Around the escutcheon, on a waving band or label, are the words, Ense petit placidam sub libertate quietem—"By the sword she seeks peace under liberty"

A circular field, surrounded by a laurel wreath, encompassed by the words, in Roman capitals, "Sigillum Reipublice N<sup>ov</sup> Hantoniensis." "The Seal of the State of New-Hampshire," with the date, 1784, indicating the time of the adoption of the State Constitution. Land and water are represented in the foreground, with the trunk of a tree on which the hardy woodman is yet engaged, embracing a scene of busy life, significant of the industrious habits of the people; and a ship on the stocks, just ready for launching, with the American banner displayed, is figurative of readiness to embark on the sea of political existence. The sun, just emerging above the horizon, symbolizes the rising destiny of the State.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

SETTLED BY THE PURITANS, 1634.

A white shield, or escutcheon, bearing three ploughs, indicating that the chief reliance of the people is upon agriculture. The crest is a horse's head, supported by a full-face, six-barred helmet, resting on a vase—the latter resting on the top of the escutcheon. The supporters are the Goddess of Liberty on the right, with her wand and cap, her left arm resting on the escutcheon; and Ceres on the left her right hand resting on the escutcheon and her left supporting a cornucopia, filled with fruits and flowers. Around the border of the sea are the words, in Roman capitals, "The Great Seal of the State of New Jersey," and at the base the date of its adoption, in numeral letters, MDCCLXXVI., (1776.)

An azure shield, or escutcheon, divided into two equal parts by a white band or girdle. A cow is represented in the lower part of the shield, and in the upper part are two symbols, designed probably to represent the agricultural productions of the State—grain and tobacco. The crest (a wreath) supports a ship under full sail, displaying the American banner. On a white field around the escutcheon were formerly wreaths of flowers, branches of the olive, and other symbols, but these have been displaced for two figures, representing a mariner and a hunter. At the bottom of the seal, in numeral letters, is the date of its adoption, MDC<sup>C</sup>XCIII. (1793), and around the border, in Roman capitals, are the words "Great Seal of the State of Delaware."

SETTLED BY THE PURITANS, 1635.

The original seal is of an oval form, without any ornamental devices, and on the field are delineated three grape-vines, each winding around and sustained by an upright support, the whole representing the three settlements (Hartford, Windsor, and Wethersfield) which formed the early colony. On a label waving around the lower vine is the motto Qui Transtulit Sustinet—"He who planteth still sustains." Around the margin of the field are the words, "Sigillum Reipublicae Connecticutensis:" "The Seal of the State of Connecticut." [The Colonial seal had fifteen grape-vines, with a hand protruding from the clouds on the right above them, grasping the label and motto, which was waving in the air: but that seal has been broken, and the present seal used in its stead.]

RHODE ISLAND.

SETTLED BY ROGER WILLIAMS, 1636.

A white or silver shield, on which is an anchor with two flukes, and a cable attached. Above the shield, in Roman capitals, is the word HOPE, and from each upper corner of the shield is suspended an unlettered label. The device symbolizes those principles of civil and religious liberty which led to the founding of this colony, and in which the faith of the citizens of the State is still deeply anchored. The motto, HOPE, above the shield, directs the mind to the uncertain future, anticipating the growing prosperity of the State, and the perpetuity of its free institutions; while the unlettered label denotes that events are still progressing in the march of Time, and await the completion of History, before the destiny of the State shall be recorded thereon

In the original seal, which differs somewhat from the margin, on a white or silver field are represented the Goddess of Liberty on the right, and Ceres, the Goddess of corn and of harvests, on the left. In the right hand of the former is a scroll, representing the Declaration of Independence, and the left supports her wand, surmounted by the cap of liberty. Ceres has in her right hand three heads or ears of wheat, and in her left the cornucopia or horn of plenty, filled with the products of the earth. In the background is a marine view, indicative of the commercial resources of the State. Around the outer circle, starting from a star on the top, are the words, in Roman capitals "Great Seal of the State of North Carolina."

In the centre of the white or silver field is the device of a palmetto-tree (a species of the date), with its topmost branches denoting a vigorous growth, emblematical of the prosperous progress of the State. Near the base of the tree are two cross-pieces; composed of bundles of spears, at the crossing of which is attached a scroll or label, with the motto, Animis opibusque parati—"Ready [to defend it] with our lives and property," which motto, by the way, is more generally put around the lower half of the outer circle, with the words "South Carolina" occupying the upper half, preceded by a single star.

At the lower part, on a green ground, are three golden sheaves of wheat, denoting that agriculture as well as commerce, is one of the primary reliances of the State. On the right of the shield is a stalk of maize, and on the left an olive branch. For the crest, on a wreath of olive flowers, is perched a bald eagle, with wings extended, holding in its beak a label, with the motto, "Virtue, Liberty, and Independence." In the centre of a circular white or silver field are three pillars, supporting an arch, around which are emblazoned the word "Constitution." Beneath a cloudless firmament, the Green Mountains are seen towering in the distance, and in the foreground are sheaves of wheat and a cow, indicative of an agricultural and grazing country, affording the true sources of thrift and independence for an industrious population. Although the seal of this State is apparently and really among the most simple in its design, yet it embodies a significance which should commend itself to the serious consideration of all who are disposed to place a slight value upon the union of the States. In the centre of a circular white or silver field, two friends are seen grasping one hand of each other in a firm and cordial embrace, while the other is extended to each other's back, significant of encouragement and support. Underneath these emblems, extending across the entire middle of the field, is the word "Agriculture," denoting that the first reliance of the State should be upon the productions of the soil. The lower half is occupied by a loaded barge, with the word "Commerce" below the water, indicating that the prosperity of all may be promoted through this means. The central portion represents a cultivated country, with the emblem of agriculture (a wheat-sheaf) on the right, and on the left a bundle of seventeen arrows, indicating the number of States then constituting the Union. In the distance is a range of mountains, the base skirted by a tract of woodland. The rising sun, which is just becoming visible above the mountains, betokens the rising glory of the State. In the lower portico of a circular field is represented a scene of prairie and woodland, with the surface gently undulating—descriptive of the predominant features of the State. In the foreground is a buffalo, an animal once abounding in great numbers in this region, apparently startled by the axe of the woodman or pioneer, who is seen on the left, felling the trees of the forest, denoting the march of civilization westward. In the right talon of the eagle is a bundle of four arrows, significant of power to sustain the principles of government, and to repel the assaults of an enemy; while an olive branch in the left betokens a disposition to maintain peace. Nearly the entire of a circular field is occupied with the representation of a map, embracing the names and localities of the principal rivers and towns, as they existed at the time when the territorial government was established, 1817. Above the shield is the North Star, beneath which is the motto, Dirige—"I direct;" and under the shield is the name of the State, in Roman capitals; while sea and land compose the foreground. and below, the ground is represented as covered with the prickly pear, a fruit common to the country, and for which an appropriate motto would be, "Let us live."

Occupying the lower part of a circle is a shield, near the base of which is a white star on a blue field, representing the State. In the middle portion is a bee-hive, signifying industry, and a plough, denoting agriculture; while a steamboat, emblematic of commerce, tills the upper part. For the crest, the goddess of liberty is represented with her wand and cap in one hand, and a wreath of laurel in the other, surrounded by a constellation of stars, indicating the States. On an escutcheon in the centre of a white field is the representation of a peninsula extending into a lake, a man with his gun, and the rising sun. On the upper part is the word Tuebor—"I will defend it;" and on a label extending across the lower part is the motto, Si quæris peninsulam amaram circumspice—"If you seek a delightful country (peninsula), behold it." The supporters are a common deer on the right, and a moose on the left, both abounding in the forests of Michigan. For the crest, is the American eagle; above which, on a label waving above all, is the motto, E Pluribus Unum.

The seal which was originally used for the territory of Florida, although not formally adopted as that of the State, has been continued ever since, and of course retains all its legal force. In the centre of a circular white or silver field is represented the American eagle, "the bird of liberty," grasping the emblem of peace, an olive branch, in its left talon; and in its right a bundle of three arrows, significant of the three principal reliances of good government—the executive, the legislative, and the judicial. Above are arranged in a semi-circle thirteen stars, emblematic of the thirteen original states, Texas is the only State which enjoyed a literally independent or isolated existence previous to its admission into the Union. During its struggle with Mexico, it adopted as an official seal a white or silver star of five points on an azure field, encircled by branches of the live oak and olive. Around the outer circle were the words, "Republic of Texas" in Roman capital letters. With the exception of the words around the margin, which is now blank, except the word "Texas" in the upper half-circle, the former seal has been adopted since by the State. The live oak (quercus virens), which abounds in the forests of Texas, is a strong and durable timber, much used in ship-building, and forming an important article of export.

The new seal of Iowa has in the foreground a citizen upholding with one hand the national flag with the cap of liberty at the top of the staff, while he holds in the other hand his trusty rifle. Behind him, and at his right side, are the implements of agriculture, the plough, the cradle, etc. In the middle ground are a sheaf of wheat, with the broad wheatfield extending far to the rear, and on the left is a pile of timber, indicative of the forest wealth of the State, and a plain but commodious dwelling showing the rectitude of its settlement. In the background, beyond the wide prairie, a large steamboat is plying upon the river. The legend extending above and around the whole is "Our Liberties we prize, and our Rights we will maintain."

A large portion of the field is occupied by land and water scenery, denoting the agricultural, commercial, and mining interests of the State. In the foreground is a man ploughing with a span of horses; in the middle is a pile of lead in bars, a barrel, a rake, a sheaf of wheat, an anchor, and a cornucopia. Lakes Michigan and Superior are represented, with a sloop on the former, and a steamboat on the latter, towards which an Indian on the shore is pointing. In the distance is a level prairie, skirted by a range of woodland—a light-house and school-house on the left, and the State-house in the centre. In a semi-circle above are the words, Civilitas successit Barbarum—"Civilization has succeeded Barbarism." At the bottom is the date when a territorial government was formed, "Fourth of July, 1836;" and around the whole are the words "The Great Seal of the Territory of Wisconsin which has not yet been changed."

The seal of this State represents the peculiar circumstances under which it was originally settled, when the white man first undertook to convert its comparative deserts into productive agricultural fields. In the distance, an Indian is seen mounted on a swift steed, retreating from the haunts where he had long been accustomed to enjoy unmolested the sports of the chase, and to roam uninterrupted amidst his native forests. In the foreground is seen the new settler, preparing for his future subsistence by turning up the furrow, preparatory to sowing seed for the harvest. His gun

The emblems on the shield in the centre of the circular ground, are indicative of the advantages to be derived from a wild and mountainous country, through the medium of commerce, which are symbolized by the range of mountains depicted in the lower, and by the ship occupying the upper portion of the escutcheon. The right supporter is a representative of that unfortunate race who once entirely possessed the country, but who have been compelled to yield their heritage in part to the power of that enterprising people whose emblem is the eagle, here used as the left supporter. The motto is Ad Astra per Aspera, Through rough ways to the Stars.

The simple device adopted for this territory is sufficiently expressive, and requires no lengthened explanation of what it is intended to symbolize. The beehive, in all ages, has been regarded as the emblem of industry, and the position in which it is here represented, as resting on a substantial foundation, implies that it is the certain harbinger of success in every important undertaking. The representations of vegetation in the background, imply that these productions of the soil are to be obtained by well-applied skill and industry, and upon these are the people to rely for a prosperous future. Perhaps, if we take into consideration the social condition of the original settlers of this territory, the beehive may be regarded as significant of the unity of interests at that time predominant. The dates at the top and bottom indicate the first formation of a territorial government.

UTAH.

This seal displays the characteristics of the settlers who have adopted this territory as their future home. Representatives of the two principal classes of people (agricultural and mechanical) are seen in the act of upholding the Constitution, over which the American flag is gathered, in token of its care and protection. The steamboat, seen in the distance on the right, indicates that the State possesses many resources for extensive commerce, which may be materially aided by rail roads and other internal improvements, which are shadowed out on the left. The plow and the anvil are emblems of the immense agricultural and mineral advantages which abound in every direction, and whose development is certain to secure for this territory an eminent degree of wealth and prosperity. The motto, "Popular Sovereignty," expresses the will of the people to govern themselves, and is only the embodiment of a sentiment almost universally prevalent.

NEBRASKA

The seal of West Virginia has in the foreground two muskets crossed, with the cap of liberty lying upon them at the point of crossing. In the centre is a shield bearing the inscription June 20, 1863 (the date of the admission of the State). The shield is supported on the right, by a miner with his pick on his shoulder indicative of the mineral wealth of the State, and on the left by an agriculturist, who is a woodsman as well; he has his axe resting on one arm, while the other hand grasps the plow. A stalk of maize, and a grape-vine, indicate the staple productions of the State, and on the right a blacksmith's anvil and hammer, and some hogsheads and bales, show its devotion to the mechanic arts and to commerce. A circlet surrounding the seal bears the legend, "STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA," and between two stars is the motto, Montani semper liberi, Mountaineers are always freemen.
